RAISE $50,000,000 FOR WORLD TRADE

TO FLOAT SECURITIES HERE

F. A. Vanderlip, Otto H. Kahn, A. H. Wiggin, and C. H. Sabin Are Among the Projectors.

SEE A BIG FIELD IN RUSSIA

Expect to Create Profitable Market for the Capital and Manufactures of This Country.

Announcement will be made today by the National City Bank of the formation of a $50,000,000 company to develop the foreign trade of the United States. The new company has not been incorporated as yet. It has not even been named, but it was referred to yesterday as the International Finance and Development Corporation. Back of it are the most powerful banking interests of this country, and the leaders in other lines who have been described as "Captains of industry." The sale of the full amount of capital stock has already been assured at par. There have been no promotion fees, and there will be no underwriting profits.

Frank A. Vanderlip, Presidetn of the National City Bank, organized the new company, and he has associated with it men who have made a success in foreign fields. Mr. Vanderlip would say nothing about the project yesterday, but it was learned that among others who are to be Directors are Charles A. Stone of Stone & Webster of Boston; A. H. Wiggin, Presidetn of the Chase National Bank; Otto H. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, and Willard D. Straight, until lately associated with J. P. Morgan & Co. The Morgan firm will be interested in the new company, but will probably not be represented by any of the partners on the board.

No Stock for the Public.

Mr. Stone, whose firm has been back of a great many electric light and traction developments, which it has financed and built with almost unvarying success, will be President of the corporation, and Mr. Straight will be associated with him as Vice President. It was reported yesterday that other principals were James J. Hill, James Stillman, J. P. Morgan, George F. Baker, James H. Perkins, Percy A. Rockefeller, Charles A. Coffin, J. B. Forgan, Cyrus H. McCormick, and J. Ogden Armour.

The new venture was described yesterday as by far the most ambitious attempt that has ever been made to put the United States among the ranking nations in world commerce and finance. Its purpose will be to carry American capital into foreign fields, and to open the markets of the world to American mining and electrical machinery, harvesters, clothing, and foodstuffs. It is an outgrowth, in a way, of the European conflict, which means the withdrawal of capital that has been supplied by Great Britain, Germany, and France. An earlier attempt along somewhat similar lines was made when it was planned to have the United States participate in the six power loan to China, which failed when Secretary Bryan issued his statement on dollar diplomacy.

The new corporation will be financed primarily through the National City Company, the investment subsidiary of the National City Bank. It is understood that $25,000,000 of the stock will be offered to shareholders of the bank, and that the remainder will be taken by individuals. All of the stock, except that reserved for subscription by stockholders of the bank, has been placed privately, so that there will be no public offering.

May Begin in South America.

In making plans for the new company effective the National City Bank's branches recently established in South America, and the sixteen foreign branches of the International Banking Corporation, control of which was recently obtained by the National City Company, will play an important part. Other banking branches will be opened abroad, one of the first in Russia.

The success of the idea back of the new project will depend entirely, according to one of the organizers, upon the education of American investors to take foreign securities. The field for development is almost unlimited, and it is believed that there is an abundance of investment money in this country now to absorb many foreign issues.

It is believed by some of the promoters of the company that a start will be made in South America, where the war has greatly embarrassed many projects which had counted on European capital. Securities of some of these companies may be acquired from the present holders and brought here from Paris and London.

The greatest field for the new company is looked for in Russia. The great natural resources of that country have hardly been touched, and, with the exhaustion due to the war, it is not thought likely that Russian capital will be found to open the mines and build the railroads that are needed. It is planned to get concessions under agreement to spend large sums in development work and to finance these in the United States. In this way a great market will be opened for machinery and mill products.

Need Investors' Support.

Mr. Straight, who became associated with J. P. Morgan & Co. when that firm was acting in this country for the six-power loan, has had valuable experience in the Far East, and he was largely instrumental in organizing India House and

CANADIAN CORDITE STORES BLOWN UP

PARRY SOUND, Ontario, Nov. 22.—An explosion, which is generally attributed by officials to alien enemies, occurred tonight in the plant of the Canadian Explosives Company, Limited, which occupies nearly three square miles at Nobel, seven miles north of here.

Five one-story buildings used for the storage of cordite, which the company has been manufacturing in large quantities, were destroyed.

Fifteen hundred men are employed in the plant, but so far as is known there was no loss of life, the employes having quit work before the explosion. The magazines were situated a mile and a half from the manufacturing plant, and, with the exception of the night watchman, who, it is thought, is uninjured, no one was in the vicinity.

The fact that explosions occurred simultaneously gave rise to the theory that they were not the result of accident. The force of the explosion created some loss here, the Canadian Northern Station being partly wrecked.

Major Storey, in charge of the overseas contingent in training here, dispatched 150 men of his command, and a strong guard was placed around the works tonight.

Word came from Toronto that a detachment of troops was being held there, ready to be sent here if required.

BRITISH BALTIC FLEET OF SUBMARINES BIGGER

Copenhagen Reports That from 10 to 25 Recently Passed the Straits.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22, (via London.)—The passage of a large flotilla of British submarines, variously estimated at from ten to twenty-five, into the Baltic is given here as an explanation of the recent naval activity in the Cattegat, where both German and British destroyer flotillas have been reported as sighted.

According to current reports, a powerful British squadron convoyed the submarines to the entrance of the Cattegat at the Skaw, the northernmost point of the Jutland coast. The large ships stopped there, while the destroyers convoyed the submarines as far as Elsinore, at the narrowest part of the sound, whence the submarines alone proceeded into the Baltic.

MELOY MAY EXPOSE VON RINTELEN'S ACTS

Alleged Passport Plotter Has Conference With Marshall on German Propaganda.

Joseph N. Proskauer of 111 Broadway, attorney for Andrew D. Meloy, who is awaiting trial for alleged conspiracy in the fraudulent procurement of American passports, said yesterday that Meloy had a long conference with United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall last week, and that in the course of that conference Meloy told the Federal prosecutor all he knew concerning German activities in this country.

Meloy is a friend of Franz von Rintelen, the Kaiser's friend, who is now in the Tower of London, and crossed to Europe on the same steamer that took Rintelen over.

Rintelen, who was trying to get back to Germany under a false American passport, was arrested at Falmouth by the British authorities. He is said to have been one of the principal men in the German conspiracy hatched to stop the shipment of war munitions from this country to the Allies.

"On my advice," said Mr. Proskauer, "Meloy has gone to District Attorney Marshall and has told him all that he knows regarding the German propoganda. He knows nothing about bomb plots and fire plots."

"Was the name of von Rintelen mentioned by Meloy in the course of his talk with Mr. Marshall?" Mr. Proskauer was asked.

"Yes, that name was mentioned, and Meloy told all that he knew about him," replied Mr. Proskauer.

Mr. Proskauer admitted that the case was still a matter of negotiation between himself and Mr. Marshall.

OBJECTS TO PUBLICITY OF GERARD'S REPORT

Washington Feels That His Views on German Prison Camps Should Be Kept Secret by England.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—If it develops that the British Government gave out for publication the contents of a report made by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin regarding the alleged cruel treatment of British war prisoners in German prison camps, the United States may determine that such publication is embarrassing, and make representations to prevent the publication of any similar report.

The State Department feels that a report of such a nature, made by an American diplomat acting for Great Britain, should not be given out for publication.

Officials pointed out today that the making public of such reports, obviously of a more or less confidential character, tended to embarrass American diplomatic representatives, and might seriously hamper them in their work. They recalled the recent publication in London of reports from the American Legation at Brussels regarding the execution of Miss Edith Cavell.

Tonight the State Department had not received a copy of the report said to have been made by Ambassador Gerard, nor was it known officially that the British Government had given out the published excerpts.

GUARDS IN TUNNEL AT WASHINGTON

SUSPECT MUNITIONS PLOT

DANGER FROM EXPLOSION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—For the last twenty-four hours an unceasing watch has been kept on the railway tunnel under Capitol Hill leading to Washington's eighteen-million-dollar Union Station, used by railways entering and leaving the national capital, and the watch is to be maintained for an indefinite period. Special guards are refusing to permit any person to enter the tunnel unless employed by the Washington Terminal Company or the railways. It is reported also that railroad bridges between New York and Washington are being guarded.

The tunnel is being guarded as a precaution against bomb plotters. This much was admitted by the terminal officials. A. M. Keppel, General Superintendent of the Terminal Company, which manages the station for the roads owning and using its facilities, insisted tonight that the guards were not searching for bombs and had not been stationed in the tunnel on definite information that the tunnel was in danger, but out of "extra precaution" so as "to be on the safe side." He regretted that the facts had become known that the tunnel was being guarded.

It is reported that a letter supposed to have been written by a German was received by officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Company in Baltimore and that the contents of this communication were made known to the officials of the Washington Terminal Company here yesterday. The Terminal officials would not deny or confirm this report.

Skirts Federal Buildings.

The tunnel is ten city blocks long and skirts the foundations of three important Federal buildings—the Library of Congress, the Senate Office Building, and the House Office Building. It passes under First Street East, a block from the Capitol. While an explosion in the tunnel might damage one of these Government buildings, it is believed that the stationing of guards is primarily intended to protect the tunnel and maintain communication for the railways.

All the roads from the South send their trains through this tunnel into Washington. This is true of the Norfolk & Western, the Southern Railway, the Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Air Line, and the Chesapeake & Ohio. An obstruction in the tunnel would cut the vital link of connection between South and North for these lines. It would seriously interfere with movements of freight from south of the Potomac River to Baltimore, Philadelphia, Jersey City, and New York and force the routing of freight to these export points by round-about or inconvenient channels.

Superintendent Keppel said that he had heard of no threats to destroy the tunnel, but that, in view of rumors affecting the safety of the railway bridges across the Delaware River at Trenton, it was considered wise to take extra precautions to protect the tunnel. Mr. Keppel said his attention had been attracted to a special dispatch in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday morning, under a Trenton date line, saying the Delaware bridges had been guarded through fear of a plot to blow up munition routes, and it was this publication which had led him to take the precautions.

Extra Guards Employed.

It was learned that six extra men had been employed to guard the tunnel, and that in addition all the uniformed force of the Terminal Company's police squad had been sent into the tunnel on guard duty. William E. Viett, Chief of the Terminal Police, who was formerly Sheriff of Montgomery County, Maryland, has his entire force of policemen on duty in the tunnel. These men were hustled into the tunnel early yesterday. The guard was maintained all last night, and was continued today.

The tunnel runs from the new Union Station at First and F Streets southward and southwestward to Delaware Avenue and E Street, where it emerges upon a steel viaduct, which also is being guarded. This viaduct connects the tunnel with the steel railway bridge across the Potomac, which likewise is being guarded. It is believed tonight that the guarding of the Delaware River bridges and the tunnel at Washington can be interpreted as meaning that all important bridges between Washington and New York are being similarly guarded against bomb plotters.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 22.—While extra precautions are being taken by the various railroads whose bridges cross the Delaware River near this city, the local police say they have no knowledge of the presence of spies in this city or its vicinity, and the railroad officials also deny any such knowledge. The bridge over the river to Yardley, Penn., operated by the Philadelphia & Reading, is guarded day and night, and there are guards in the yards at Yardley, three miles above here. The Pennsylvania bridge just below this city is also guarded.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 22.—A Baltimore & Ohio Railroad official said tonight that no communication had been received concerning any threat to damage B. & O. bridges or tunnels. No extra guards, he said, had been placed on duty. Another official of the same company made a similar denial.

SUSPECT PLOT AT CLEVELAND.

Mysterious Building Erected, Possibly for Anti-British Explosives.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Nov. 22.—Information purporting to reveal a plot involving the storage of explosives and other war supplies in Cleveland, possibly in preparation for an attack upon Canada by enemies of the Allies, is being investigated by British secret service agents. H. F. Gresham, Vice Consul for Great Britain here, admitted tonight. Charles De Woody, local agent of the Department of Justice, refused to dis-

Vorwaerts Wants Reichstag to Discuss Peace; Says It Is Time to Make Clear Germany's Aims

From a Staff Correspondent.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The opening of the Reichstag on Dec. 13 is looked forward to with keen interest, not only by the radical Socialists but also by the masses of the German people. In well-informed quarters it is believed that it will be a historic session, possibly the most important since the outbreak of the war.

It is practically certain that Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg will deliver an elaborate speech at the opening, and it is not impossible that he may say something more specific about Germany's war aims than has been yet officially put forward. In any event, it is believed he will answer the peace talk of Lord Loreburn and of Lord Courtney in the House of Lords.

The Chancellor will be in a particularly good position to speak out, as the National Committees of all the political parties have held a meeting and agreed as to the general war aims and peace conditions that they will stand for. Not the least interesting portion of the Chancellor's expected speech will be that dealing with the food question, defending the Government's emergency measures and outlining the general trend of the Government policy in controlling distribution and regulating prices.

In his last great speech, it will be recalled the Chancellor referred to practically all the other neutral countries, but did not mention America. It is not unlikely that he may now have something to say about the agreement reached with the United States on the submarine war and on America's note to England.

The Radical Socialists will make a determined effort to force a discussion of the aims of the war and the conditions of peace when the Reichstag reassembles, to judge from an important editorial published in the Vorwärts.

After summarizing the recent references to peace in the House of Lords and the House of Commons, the Vorwärts says:

"Without direct contradiction by the Government, English politicians have set up as positive peace conditions the giving up by Germany of Belgium, the North of France, and Alsace-Lorraine, with no war indemnity from the English. This list, though wholly unofficial, is worthy of most serious attention, which should not be confined to mere mention in the press, but should lead to discussion in the place where free speech still has its home—the German Reichstag.

"If the British speeches are not to remain 'voices in the wilderness,' Parliament must make use of its prerogative to speak, so long as the Government prohibits the discussion of the war aims in the press. A wide-open discussion would also be the best means to destroy certain illusions, which Germany's enemies harbor, as to the possibility and prospects of war attrition.

"The more openly and to the point all sides are allowed to talk, the easier it will be to avoid the dangers of war attrition, which is equally great for all the warring countries.

"In this case, too, phrases like 'destroying German militarism' must lose their value. These phrases have a certain vogue in France and England, only because those countries do not quite know what to put forward as concrete war aims and still cling to certain self-deceptions as to the real feeling prevalent in Germany.

"The moment they know what goals German policy seeks and what it does not, their own discussions about what they can and can not achieve will have a firm basis, and sooner or later the mutual bluffing must give way to realization and discussion of the facts.

"The peace terms formulated in England in recent weeks can very well serve as a starting point for a free discussion.

"If our Government does not make up its mind to say the first word, it should not let public opinion do so, but if the Government does feel that it can remove the curb on public meetings and the press, let the Reichstag make a beginning. There we must make it plainly understood what we think about Alsace-Lorraine, Belgium, and north of France, the freedom of the seas, and a few other things.

"It does not suffice to keep on saying 'hold out.' If we demand of others what they understand by the phrase 'destroying German militarism,' the others have a right to know for what we are 'holding out.'

"When once clarity has been brought into these two questions, we shall have taken a great forward step. Let the Reichstag have the floor."

WIDENER'S ESTATE INTACT FOR 70 YEARS

PUBLIC MAY GET ART WORKS

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—The huge estate of Peter A. B. Widener, estimated to be worth $50,000,000, is bequeathed completely to the family of the traction magnate and financier, who died on Nov. 6. Furthermore, the document stipulates that the public shall not know the extent of the Widener fortune.

New York, Washington, and Philadelphia have each the possibility of becoming one of the beneficiaries under the will, for the Widener art collection, valued at several millions, is left in absolute control of the decedent's only living son, Joseph E. Widener, who has authority to dispose of it as he desires, with permission to give it to any museum, now or hereafter established, in any one of the three cities.

The will furthermore allows the son, in case he decides to present the collection to Philadelphia, to take a sufficient amount from the residuary estate to erect a museum suitable to form a permanent home for it.

The will, which does not contain any provision for the Widener Home for Crippled Children or any other charitable institution, leaves the bulk of the estate in trust to Joseph E. Widener, and is framed so that the present generation of heirs will derive only an income from it, but at the expiration of a period of twenty-one years after the death of all the descendants now living the estate is to be divided in proportionate shares among the heirs.

This means that it will probably be seventy or eighty years before it is ultimately distributed. At present, besides the testator's son, Joseph E. Widener, the list of heirs includes the latter's two children, P. A. B. Widener, 2d, and Josephine Pancoast Widener and the two children of George D. Widener, who are Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon and George D. Widener, Jr. The four grandchildren are all under 30 years of age.

To a grandson, P. A. B. Widener, 2d, is left all of the decedent's jewelry. The jewelry of Mrs. Widener, who died more than ten years ago, is left to a granddaughter, Josephine P. Widener.

The will was executed July 13, 1912, three months after the sinking of the Titanic, on which George D. Widener, Mr. Widener's elder son, and Harry Elkins Widener, Mr. Widener's grandson, perished. The executors named in the document are Joseph E. Widener and George D. Widener, Jr., the latter a son of George D. Widener.

The sum of $100,000 is left outright to Joseph E. Widener.

Lynnewood Hall, the beautiful country estate of Mr. Widener at Elkins Park, is to be kept open for the use of all his children and grandchildren, and they are to be permitted to make it their home and use the horses, carriages and motor cars as they may see fit.

No appraisal of the value of the estate accompanied the probating of the will at Norristown. In this connection the decedent stated that he did not wish that any appraisement of the estate should be filed, but that the valuation of the property should be made only for the benefit of the heirs.

Only one reference is made in the will to the widow of George D. Widener, (Eleanor Elkins Widener,) who was married last Summer to Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, the explorer. She has no financial interest in the estate. She was amply provided for in the will of her husband, who left her one-third of his estate, which ran well into the millions. In the passage of the will relating to Lynnewood Hall the testator said:

"I make this provision in order that the old home may be kept up as heretofore, to be under the charge of the oldest living male descendant of mine for the time being. Knowing the deep affection that exists between my daughter, Eleanore Elkins Widener, and my son Joseph, it is my sincere hope that the joint family life may continue as it has done so happily for so many years."

Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon is permitted to occupy the house which she now has on the Widener estate as long as she desires to do so. The will empowers the executors to build on the estate suitable residences for the other descendants of Mr. Widener. These homes are to be charged against the heirs as part of their share of the estate in the final distribution.

PROTEST LIKELY OVER THE GENESEE

But Washington Awaits a Report on Britain's Seizure of the Ship.

LUSITANIA NEGOTIATIONS ON

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—No State Department action will be taken as to the seizure by a British cruiser of the American Transatlantic Company's steamship Genesee until a full report of the incident has been received. Nevertheless, a high official of the department said today that the seizure of the vessel, which was carrying coal from Norfolk to Montevideo, probably would be made the subject of an earnest protest to Great Britain.

Another steamer belonging to the American Transatlantic Company, the Winneconne, is now lying at her dock in New York, half loaded with a cargo put on board under British inspection.

The fundamental trouble in the matter of defending against seizures such as that of the Hocking and the Genesee seems to arise from official requirements as to the ship's bill of sale. In putting into effect the Ship Purchase bill of Aug. 18, 1914, the Department of Commerce prepared regulations, the most important of which requires that the original bill of sale shall be placed on file in the office of the Commissioner of Navigation. In the Hocking case, as always occurs in prize court cases, the first demand was for the bill of sale. The owners could show only a certified copy, but that was not accepted as the best evidence available. The owners of the Hocking asked to be allowed to give bond and bail the ship, so that it could proceed on its voyage, for which a contract had been executed over a month ago, but the request was refused, and the ship was held.

The American Transatlantic Company was organized by R. H. Wagner of Milwaukee, and later of New York, and Wisconsin capital is largely behind it. Mr. Wagner told the Department of Commerce officials that he was induced to invest in the project by a relative in Copenhagen named Jensen, who said he was making very large profits out of his ships. As Jensen is a coal dealer and has relations with Hugo Stinnis of Germany, who is a big coal operator, the charge was made by British officials, and taken up here by the Commissioner of Navigation, that the ships bought by Wagner were really owned by Stinnis.

The Zealandia Case.

It was learned today that the Government had taken the position that no violation of American rights on the high seas, under generally recognized principles of international law, could be excused on the ground that the commander of the belligerent vessel had made a mistake. The contention of the State Department in all such cases is that Governments are responsible for the mistakes of their military and naval commanders, and where such mistakes contravene American rights under international law the United States will insist on reparation and disavowal.

In its consideration of the facts in the case of the alleged forcible searching of the American steamer Zealandia at Progreso, Yucatan, by a party from a British cruiser, it is not the purpose of the United States to take any other position than that the British Government is responsible for any mistake made by the British officers who searched the ship.

This Government now appears to be satisfied that the Zealandia was searched within the three-mile limit. Reports both from American naval officers on the battleship Kentucky, which was sent to Progreso to investigate, and from the American Consul at that port, say that the officers from a British cruiser searched the Zealandia at a point which was 2.66 miles from shore. The reports to the British Embassy from the officer of the British cruiser said the search was made 3.25 miles from shore.

However, the Zealandia incident is not

Mine Sinks a New German Dreadnought in the Baltic and 33 Men Are Drowned

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 22, (Dispatch to The London Daily Mail.)—I learn from a very good source that one of Germany's newest dreadnoughts ran on a mine in the Baltic three days ago.

All the crew were saved except thirty-three, who were drowned. It is not known whether the mine was German or British.

Great efforts were made to save the warship, but my informant says that she slowly foundered.

Six German dreadnoughts are known to have been completed since the war began, four of the Kronprinz class—the Grosser Kurfürst, Koenig, Markgraf, and the Kronprinz—and two of the Ersatz K. Friedrich III. class—the Erzatz Worth and the "T." The last three named have been completed in the present year.

The first class mentioned includes ships of 25,575 tons displacement, with length and beam of 580 feet and 96 feet, respectively, and a complement of 1,100 men. Their armament is 10 12-inch, 14 6-inch, and 12 24-pounders.

Germany had previously lost in capital ships in the present war: The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, a battleship, Nov. 20, 1914; the Pommern, a battleship, July 2, 1915, and the Moltke, a battle cruiser, Aug. 21, 1915.

GREEK MINISTER BITTER TO BRITISH

BLUNDERING, NOT FIGHTING

Want Us to Help, He Declares, When No British Blood Has Been Shed for Serbia.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—A correspondent of The Daily Mail, J. M. Jefferies, who left Athens Thursday on a steamer for Messina, sends a long dispatch from the latter port, describing conditions in Greece and stating that "the Government, at least temporarily, has decided to take an attitude more in conformity with the desires of the Allies."

He goes on:

"I was received Thursday by M. Rhallis, Minister of Justice and the guiding spirit of the Skouloudis Cabinet. He informed me that in the event of Serbian, French, or English troops being forced across the Greek frontier no attempt would be made to disarm them.

"When I put the question, 'Will the Greek troops disarm or attempt to disarm the retreating armies?' M. Rhallis leaped to his feet, and, shaking his hands in the air, replied:

"'It is mad, it is senseless, to imagine that we could do such a thing. We will even go to the extent of establishing a cordon of troops to safeguard their retreat.'

"'Is that categoric?' I asked. 'Will no German menace alter that resolution?'

"'Speaking with great excitement and gesticulating, M. Rhallis replied again: 'It is mad, it is senseless, to imagine it, when you could have the guns of your fleet leveled on our cities.'

"'But suppose the allied troops do not wish to retire into the interior of the country?'

"'Well,' answered M. Rhallis, 'they can dig trenches. They can defend themselves as in Flanders.'

"'Do you intend to be spectators? Do you intend to demobilize?' I asked.

"'We will demobilize in twenty-four hours if you leave Saloniki,' Rhallis replied.

"I could not get a more definite and appropriate reply than this, which does not touch the obvious contingency of our remaining at Saloniki and conducting operations.

"Then in a heightened tone of anger, and leaning toward me, Rhallis said:

"'The British Government and the British press are taking up a disgraceful attitude toward us. You are wicked. The thing we want is peace, and you force us to make war. You are starving us. Two more wheat vessels have been stopped by you today.

"'Do you imagine I began that wish'"—

"'I will tell you,' broke in M. Rhallis, 'the wish of the country is to wait, wait, and he hurriedly left the room. He came back in a minute with an old number of the French paper L'Illustration, and opening it on the table he pointed to it, striking with his fingers repeatedly the centre page, where was shown a picture of headless and mutilated Greek corpses and sacked villages after a Bulgarian raid. He continued:

"That is what we wish to avoid. You want us to endure it again; you want us to succor you when no English soldiers have shed their blood in Serbia, when scarcely an English rifle has been fired.

"'Your Government, having piled fault on fault and delay on delay, now, when you have only a few thousand troops to help us, want to force us to step in. And we do not wish to be another Belgium or another Serbia. We love Serbia; but when father or wife or brother or some one who is dear to you is drowning, you would like to jump in yourself, but first you must be sure that the depths are not too great for Cologne and Constantinople Report a Strong Movement Begun Against the Turks.

BOMBS AND GUNS ARE USED

London and Paris Tell of Several Mining Operations, but in Another Region.

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 22.—The Cologne Gazette reports that a great offensive movement has been initiated at the Dar[illegible] Nov. 22.—Violent fighting in the vicinity of Sedd-el Bahr, on the tip of Gallipoli Peninsula, is reported by the Turkish War Office, according to a dispatch from Constantinople, which gives the official bulletin as follows:

Artillery duels are in progress on the Dardanelles front. Violent fighting with bombs is taking place near Sedd-el-Bahr.

An official report from British Headquarters at the Dardanelles, issued yesterday, says nothing of any fighting at Sedd-el Bahr, but tells of success in mine operations to the northward in the Anzac region. It reads:

Two British aeroplanes successfully attacked the railway station at Ferejik, near Enos, on Nov. 19. One machine unfortunately was brought down by the enemy's fire, but the pilot managed to land safely in the marshes on the opposite side of the river, where he burned his machine. Meanwhile the pilot of the second aeroplane, who was alone, seeing his friend's mishap, landed beside him and succeeded in bringing him away just in time to escape capture by the enemy, who was running toward him.

At Russel's Top, in the Anzac zone, (on the western side of Gallipoli Peninsula,) where the Turks recently fired a mine, we succeeded in occupying on Nov. 20 part of the enemy's underground workings. A fight occurred underground, in which two Turks were shot by an officer. Several others were killed with bombs.

A bulletin issued by the French War Office has nothing to say of very recent operations except to chronicle mine attacks. It says:

During the week of Nov. 15-22 the underground warfare continued on both sides. We successfully exploded several camouflets, (small mines.)

On November 15 a local action on the front of a British division permitted the capture of a trench and a bomb depot. The fire of our batteries and of a French armored cruiser supported the action. The gain thus realized was consolidated on the morning of the 16th, notwithstanding violent counterattacks carried out by the enemy, who was everywhere repulsed.

An official statement issued by the Turkish War Office which has been received here reports artillery combats on the Dardanelles front with minor engagements near Anafarta, and adds:

"Our artillery fire drove off enemy transport vessels which attempted to approach the coast near Ari Burnu and on the morning of the 21st an enemy torpedo boat which tried to enter the Straits."

Ferejik, in Southern Bulgaria, near the Turkish border and across the Gulf of Saros from Gallipoli Peninsula, is the junction of the Adrianople-Dedeaghatch and the Dedeaghatch-Saloniki railroads. The aeroplane attack was apparently made by aviators from the peninsula to interrupt railway communications of the Bulgarians.

Allies Continue to Pour Troops and Guns Into Saloniki—Germany Presses Rumania.

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—No definite news has been received here of Greece's reply to the Entente Allies demands for guarantees for the safety of the Anglo-French forces landed at Saloniki or for that of the Serbians who might be forced over the Greek frontier. One dispatch from Athens, however, says the Greek Cabinet is disposed to accept the conditions laid down by the Entente powers, except that condition requiring Greece to participate in the war, and that a solution of the whole difficulty may be expected immediately.

Meantime the blockade of Greek commerce has commenced, and Italy, it is reported, is participating in the measures of restraint decided upon.

According to dispatches published in the London morning papers, the Serbian War Minister has arrived at Saloniki to consult with the allied staff, and Denys Cochin, member of the French Cabinet, who has been in Athens for several days in conference with the Greek Ministers, is returning from that city owing to the difficult situation.

Serb Victory Called Decisive.

The news that the Serbians have won an important victory over the Bulgarians near Leskovac, on the Nish-Saloniki Railroad, twenty-five miles south of Nish, is corroborated in a dispatch received in Paris from the Serbian Minister at Athens. The message says that after a battle of several days, in which the Bulgarians suffered enormous losses, the remnants of their army fled in disorder to the eastern bank of the Morava River. The victory is regarded as a definite one, the message says, securing that part of the line from further attack for some time.

Other news from the seat of war is that the Bulgarians have delayed their march on Monastir and that the Austro-Germans are laboring under difficulties as a result of the wintry weather. This has created a more hopeful feeling in the capitals of the Entente Allies. The British and French forces daily are being strengthened by men and guns landed at Saloniki, and part of the reinforcements are being sent to Monastir, where the Serbians also are reported to be concentrating and threatening the Bulgarians at Prilep.

Apropos of the situation at Monastir, The Times Vodena, Greece, correspondent, telegraphing last Thursday, says:

"The Bulgarian forces, halting six miles east of Prilep, are reported to have been taken in the rear by Serbians advancing from Katchanik, and reinforced by troops from the Albanian frontier. The pause in the Bulgarian advance on Monastir would be explained by such a Serbian success. Another report current is that the German staff has forbidden a Bulgarian occupation of Monastir, this operation being reserved for the Austro-German Army.

"An American Sanitary Commission, which passed through here yesterday on the way to Saloniki, says the Serbians, although they are outnumbered and not so well equipped with guns, are playing a delaying movement against the Bulgarians between Prilep and Monastir with admirable courage, being determined to inflict the greatest possible losses on the enemy and to retard his advance as long as possible."

Rumania finds herself in much the same position as Greece, with both the Entente Allies and the central powers bringing pressure to bear upon her. The Germans, it is said, are asking Rumania to give assurances of her continued neutrality, and also are offering her concessions if she intervenes in the war on the side of the Teutonic allies. With a big Russian army in Bessarabia, however, it is believed in military circles here hardly likely that Rumania will accept the second alternative. On the whole, it is expected that the firm attitude of the Entente powers toward Greece will clear the Balkan situation before very long.

Official Reports of Operations.

Near Secanica, in the Ibar Valley, Serbian rearguards were repulsed.

An entrance to the Lab Valley on both sides of Padujevo has been forced.

More than 2,600 prisoners were taken. Five cannon, four machine guns, and a quantity of war material were captured. In the arsenal at Novi Bazar fifty large mortars and eight cannon of an old pattern fell into our hands.

The Austro-Hungarian forces fighting in the district of Cajnike ejected the Montenegrins from positions on the northern slopes of the Goles Mountain. East of Gorazde fighting continues. Austro-Hungarian detachments from Novi Varosh are approaching Priepolje.

In Novi Bazar the army of General Koevess captured fifty mortars, eight field guns, 4,000,000 rounds of cartridges, and much war material. The enemy who still remained east of the town were driven off by the German troops, who captured 300 prisoners.

The Austro-Hungarian column advancing in the Ibar Valley yesterday captured north of Mitrovitza three Serbian positions, one lying behind the other. When night fell a fourth position was taken by surprise. Here we captured 200 men, 6 guns, 4 machine guns, 1 ammunition column, and numerous horses. In successful fighting the army of General von Gallwitz south of the Prepolac Ridge captured 1,800 Serbians.

In the east and southeast the attack of the first Bulgarian army, in spite of most tenacious Serbian resistance, is steadily gaining ground.

The Bulgarian General Staff yesterday issued the following from Sofia:

> After bitter fighting our troops have approached Pristina from the north and east. We captured 1,800 men and half a squadron of cavalry.

An official communication issued by the Montenegrin Army Headquarters was given out in Paris yesterday by the Montenegrin Consulate as follows:

> Our Sanjak Army was attacked Nov. 20 along the entire front, more energetically on the Drina and Lim Rivers. Everywhere the enemy was repulsed. Our Sanjak troops continue to install themselves in their new positions.
> On the other fronts there were artillery battles.

The French War Office last night issued the following statement:

> On Nov. 19 a Bulgarian attack near Mrzen, on the left bank of the Cerna, was repulsed. The action was renewed on the 20th on the Rajek, an affluent of the Cerna. Calm prevails in the direction of Strumitsa.

FRENCH JUST TOO LATE.

Were Within Ten Miles of Babuna Pass When Serbs Had to Retire.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SALONIKI, Nov. 22.—The only troops of the allied forces in the Balkans which so far have been in action are the French. The engagements in which they have fought and the positions they at present occupy bear witness to the energy which General Sarrail showed in grappling with the eleventh hour situation. They are evidence, too, of the determination with which his subordinate Generals boldly attacked the enemy in greater numbers, in most difficult country, and under special handicaps.

Without waiting for the whole of their force to be transported up country, and as each detachment arrived at the railhead, General Sarrail immediately took the offensive. The principal aim in this was to bring help to the Serbians by forcing a way through to them where they were holding on to the Babuna Pass before the Serbian Army was thrust back by sheer weight of numbers and out of reach of the French.

At one moment this junction was within ten miles of being made. It just failed, and responsibility for the failure rests upon neither the Serbians nor the French, but rather upon the whole chain of circumstances which led to our forces not arriving in the Balkans till the Serbian Army was already overwhelmed.

EVERY SERB BATTLE WAGED HAND TO HAND

Austrians Report Encountering the Bitterest Opposition of the Entire Campaign.

AUSTRIAN HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 22, (via London.)—With the occupation of Novi Bazar by the Germans the Sanjak has been almost entirely wrested from the Serbians, and the fighting turns more and more toward the ancient Kossovo battlefield and around its principal city, Pristina.

The troops of the central powers are encountering the bitterest opposition of the entire Serbian campaign, and every battle before it is won becomes a hand-to-hand conflict. The Serbians apparently are planning on a final stand on the Kossovo plain.

As the Austro-Germans press forward into territory where the population is more friendly they are daily able to improve the conditions for caring for the wounded, as well as to strengthen their lines of communication, establish order, and bring about a degree of comfort for troops and animals.

The Austrians and Germans estimate the Serbian Army still numbers between 130,000 and 150,000, but that it is diminishing by 5,000 men daily.

The Bulgarian War Ministry publishes the names of twelve Bulgarian officers now serving with the Russian Army who are branded as deserters. The list includes General Radko Dimitrieff, former Ambassador to Russia; Major Gen. Srafow, Captain Luzkanooj, and First Lieutenant Torkof, who challenged Pierre Loti, the French author, to a duel following the Balkan War because of Loti's attacks on the Bulgarian Army.

BERLIN, Nov. 22, (by Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—"Despite desperate resistance by the Serbians," says the Overseas News Agency today, "Austro-German and Bulgarian troops are pressing forward for an entrance into the famous Kossovo Plain.

"Large sections of the Serbian Army are now totally demoralized. In several cases Serbian artillery has shelled the Serbian lines from the rear when they began to yield under the relentless pressure of the allied troops."

NEW LOAN TO BULGARIA.

Finance Minister Arranges for Advance from German Banks.

BERLIN, Nov. 22, (by Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The Bulgarian Finance Minister, M. Toncheff, who has been in Berlin for several weeks, has made arrangements for an advance to Bulgaria by a syndicate of German banks headed by the Disconto Gesellschaft. This advance will be converted later into a Government loan.

On leaving Germany M. Toncheff will visit Belgium. He is quoted by the Lokal-Anzeiger as saying Bulgaria intended to retain the territory captured from Serbia, and also that Greece was now fully convinced that Bulgaria would not attempt to encroach upon her territory.

BERLIN, Nov. 22, (via London.)—M. Toncheff, the Bulgarian Finance Minister, who has been in Berlin seeking a loan, said today that the portions of Serbia which would be kept permanently by Bulgaria include Nish and Monastir.

The Minister added that the effort of the Entente powers to interrupt the communication of the central powers with Constantinople was foredoomed to failure. Greece, he said, would persist in her policy of neutrality, as also would Rumania.

LADY PAGET AGAINST SERBS?

German Assertion That She Has Denounced Their Barbarism.

BERLIN, Nov. 22, (by Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The Overseas News Agency says:

"Lady Paget, wife of Sir Ralph Paget, British Permanent Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has applied to the Bulgarian Red Cross for admission. Lady Paget conducted a Red Cross hospital at Uskub, Serbia, and remained there after the Bulgarians captured the city.

"In her letter requesting admission to the Bulgarian Red Cross she states she has witnessed wholesale looting and ill-treatment of Bulgarian prisoners by Serbians, whose barbarism is abhorrent to her. She has sent a letter to London expressing regret that Great Britain is allied with Serbia."

KITCHENER PLEASED WITH VISIT TO KING

Heard Constantine's Assurances of Friendship and Then Made Flat Proposal to Premier.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Nov. 21, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—Lord Kitchener has come and gone, and the result of his visit and of his audience with the King and interview with the Premier is that the political situation seems easier, although the tension is not entirely relaxed.

While the Government has not made any official communication on the subject, it is certain that an accord can be reached between Greece and the Entente powers. The British War Minister had certain defensive proposals which he presented in the businesslike yet courteous way which befits the man of action. I learn that Lord Kitchener was impressed and gratified by the royal audience.

In a cordial way the two soldiers discussed topics of military interest. King Constantine has a profound admiration for Kitchener. Presently the conversation turned on the burning topic of Greece's attitude to the Balkan problem. In this I am able to say that the King affirmed strongly the wish of his country and himself to continue their attitude of benevolent neutrality toward the allied powers.

He pointed out the very grave difficulties which beset his efforts to carry out what he conscientiously believed to be his duty. He added that error and misapprehension had unhappily arisen. There had been busy attempts to estrange Greece and the allied powers. Greece, however, was not to be blamed. Her attitude would continue to be correct.

Later this military envoy of Britain discussed with the Premier more intimate political hearings of the situation. Here there were fresh emphatic protestations of friendship, but Lord Kitchener, I understand, politely asked for something more tangible than that. He formulated certain suggestions and outlined a plan of action which if accepted would serve to guarantee Greek solidarity and the security of the allied troops in the Balkans.

The Premier replied that Greece was prepared to go to the utmost possible lengths to give satisfaction to the legitimate demands of the Allies, and to prove that he ardently desired peace, not war. "Benevolent neutrality we have offered, and continue to offer," added M. Skouloudis. On this basis an accord will probably be framed.

The Government press is cautious in discussing the visit and its probable results, but the opposition of the Venizelist papers is more outspoken and even jubilant. Concerning the visit, they declare that Greece can hardly decline in the main the Kitchener proposals and must agree at least to partial demobilization and to other essential guarantees asked by the Allies.

The visit of the war envoy of Britain made a profound political impression in Athens, whose citizens have demonstrated enthusiastically in honor of the great soldier-statesman of the Western islands.

TURK TRANSPORT IS SUNK.

Hits a Mine and Most of the 500 Aboard Drown.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Sinking of a Turkish transport which was carrying 500 soldiers across the Sea of Marmora is reported in a message from Zurich, forwarded from Amsterdam by the Central News.

The message says the transport struck a mine and that nearly all on board were drowned.

Sofia-Budapest Trains Soon.

SOFIA, Nov. 22, (via London.)—Premier Radoslavoff in an interview today announced that express trains would be running from Sofia to Budapest in a few days—as soon as the work of repair on the Sofia-Belgrade stretch of the line was completed.

NEW ALLIED DRIVE AT GALLIPOLI LINE

luctance to have German armies enter Turkish territory for operations against Egypt or elsewhere were expressed by Halil Bey, President of the Turkish Parliament, who, with Enver Pasha and Talaat Bey, forms the triumvirate reputed to be in supreme control of Ottoman affairs, in an outspoken interview granted by him to Emil Ludwig, special correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt. It appears on the first page in that newspaper's issue of Oct. 23, just received here. Halil Bey's statements, says Ludwig, corroborate what Enver Pasha and Talaat Bey had already told him some months ago.

"I believe in the friendship between Turkey and Germany," Halil Bey is quoted as saying, "but the Germans must understand that they must not come here as conquerors, but as collaborators. Germany's policy, we know, has always been friendly to us, and we hope it will be even more so after the war. Distrust of the great European powers is deeply implanted in Turkey, and can be rooted out only gradually.

"Is it to be wondered at? For centuries our land has been badly treated and could not afford to trust Europe, whose great powers sought to cheat it. You will have to excuse Turkey for its attitude. In order to create complete trust, Germany, which has never maltreated us, must raise our credit without demanding special privileges, such as all the others have demanded.

"This is possible on account of geographical and economic conditions, and it is possible only in the case of Germany. We are primarily an agricultural country, while Germany is primarily industrial. Even in the case of Austria-Hungary, the situation is otherwise. We fill our needs by barter. We seem poor, and we need money, but we are rich. Over there in Asia are our treasures. German capitalists, who will come here after the war, must profit by investment. But—no special privileges any more! That is all over. Remember what an extraordinary situation there has been here. In other countries a foreigner comes after a native in the matter of [illegible], in Turkey, it was the reverse."

"How about an attack on Egypt?" inquired the correspondent.

"We have enough men for it," replied Halil Bey.

To the inquiry whether Egypt was a war goal of Turkish military policy Halil Bey replied:

"We hope to secure something for ourselves if there is to be acquisition of territory. But the goal of the war assuredly is the strengthening of Turkey at home. And the Germans ought to help us in that."

The correspondent also touched upon the Armenian question, which he calls the "thin ice of Turkey, which one avoids as dangerous." Halil Bey said on this subject that the Armenians had been guilty of treason and conspiracies with the Russian and other anti-Turkish activites. He declared that the Mohammedan population of Armenia had become so enraged at the Russophile elements that they had finally resorted to violent acts. The Turkish Government, he added, despite its own wishes, had been powerless to check these outbursts because the land was without policemen, who had been turned into soldiers and transported to the front.

TURKS EXECUTE REBEL CONSPIRATORS

Said to Have Planned an Arabian Revolt from Headquarters in Egypt.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A statement was given out by the Turkish Embassy tonight to the effect that the Ottoman Government had discovered the existence of a secret society in Egypt conducting a movement for the creation of an independent Arabian State under the protectorate of Great Britain. The movement is described in the embassy announcement as a "conspiracy," and it is alleged that it was "instigated" by a hostile power, inferentially Great Britain, with a view to the dismemberment of Turkey. The text of the Turkish Embassy statement is as follows:

"The Ottoman Government, having been informed of the existence in Egypt, with branches in Syria and Irak, [the district including Bagdad,] of a secret society whose aim is the creation of an independent Arabian State under Great Britain's protectorate, ordered a most searching inquiry to be made. The purpose of this was to discover who were the promoters of this society, the object of which, under the instigation of a hostile power, was the dismemberment of Turkey, notwithstanding the strong ties which bind all Arabs to the mother country.

"The inquiry, conducted with the utmost care and earnest desire of finding out the truth, brought out the most undeniable proofs of the existence of this society. The aim of the conspiracy was to create disturbances in the country by committing criminal acts, such as the assassination of high dignitaries as well as a great number of prominent people, and thus attain its unlawful ends.

"The unearthing of important documents having been the means of discovering the promoters of the conspiracy, several arrests took place, and the matter was brought before the court-martial at Beirut. The case was tried with all due precaution. The culpability of the accused having been established, some of the traitors, most of them by default, were sentenced to death in virtue of Article 54 of the Ottoman Criminal Code.

"Out of thirteen culprits sentenced, and who were actually arrested, eleven were executed in Beirut, and two were pardoned by the Sultan on account of their age.

"The Government has already published in Syria a part of the compromising documents in its possession, and it intends shortly to publish, in their entirety, the photographic reproduction of the whole discovered correspondence."

MORE ITALIAN GAINS ON ISONZO FRONT

Says Oslavia Positions Were Retaken, and All But One Trench on the Carso.

ROME, Nov. 21, (via Paris, Nov. 22.)—Italian troops have made an important advance on the Isonzo front, especially on the heights northwest of Gorizia, according to an official statement issued today at the headquarters of the General Staff. The ground gained was retained, it is asserted, in spite of vigorous Austrian counterattacks. The text of the communication follows:

> Yesterday was marked by an important success for our arms along the Isonzo front, especially on the heights northwest of Gorizia. We began the action at night by making, with great bravery, numerous breaches in very extensive barbed wire entanglements defending remarkably strong enemy intrenchments. At dawn our infantry, adequately supported by artillery, attacked the village of Oslavia and the heights to the northeast and southwest of the country lying across the route from San Floriano to Gorizia.

Italians Carry Two More Trenches.

> The enemy offered an extremely obstinate resistance, but finally was driven back by the impetuosity of our attacks. He fled, leaving his trenches full of dead. We took 459 prisoners, many of whom were officers. Successive violent attacks by the Austrians advancing with shouts of "Savoia," for the purpose of deceiving our troops, all were repulsed with irresistible energy. On the heights of Podgora and Calvario, south of Oslavia, thanks to an admirable effort carried out under a formidable artillery fire, our troops took by main force two more lines of trenches and occupied almost the entire length of the summit.
> On the Carso plateau we continued our advance along the northern slopes of Monte San Michele and southwest of San Martino, where we dislodged the enemy from trench after trench, making numerous prisoners.
> Enemy aeroplanes threw bombs yesterday on Schio (fifteen miles northwest of Vincenza,) wounding eight soldiers slightly. One of our air squadrons, under highly unfavorable atmospheric conditions caused by high winds, renewed the raid on the enemy aviation camp at Assevizza, on which more than 100 hand grenades were dropped. Our aeroplanes returned undamaged.

Vienna Tells of Trenches Retaken.

VIENNA, Nov. 22, via London, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—The War Office tonight issued the following report on the Italian operations:

> The Italians continued their attacks against the entire bridgehead of Gorizia obstinately, but unsuccessfully. There was especially bitter fighting in the District of Oslavia, where our tried Dalmatian Landwehr, assisted by the brave Carniola Seventeenth Regiment of Infantry completely recaptured the portion of our position which fell into the enemy's hands.
> The southern portion of Podgora was attacked five times. The desperate Italian attacks collapsed before our fire in hand grenade fighting.
> On the sector of the plateau of Doberdo the efforts of the enemy were especially directed against San Martino. After heavy artillery preparation the Italians succeeded in penetrating our position, but by a night counterattack we recaptured the lost portion of the trench with the exception of a small salient.
> North of the bridgehead of Gorizia weak enemy forces crossed the Isonzo south of Zagora. In the evening the left bank of the river again was cleared of the enemy.

MANY ENGAGEMENTS ON THE GALICIAN FRONT

PETROGRAD, Nov. 22, via London, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—The following official communication was issued today:

> In the region of the village of Poulkarn, southeast of Riga, we drove back the enemy and demolished a portion of his shelter trenches.
> On the remainder of the front, from the Gulf of Riga to the Pripet River, the situation is unchanged.
> On the left bank of the Styr, before the crossings in the sector of Rafalowka-Czartorysk, some engagements have occurred, but without affecting the general situation.
> In Galicia, on the eastern bank of the Stripa, there also have been encounters with the enemy's advance guards, who crossed the river. The enemy elements, which assumed the offensive from Benlavy to the southern extremity of Lake Ichkouv, were received with a vigorous fire and repulsed. West of the village of Khmielevka fighting continues. Northeast of Boutchache we dislodged the enemy from the village of Petlikovtse. Further south the enemy occupied the village of Yanovka.
> On the Baltic Sea on Nov. 20, after a short fight, our torpedo boats near Windau sank a German patrol steamer. One officer and nineteen sailors were taken prisoners. We suffered no losses.

BERLIN, Nov. 22, (via London.)—Little activity on the Russian front is reported by German Army Headquarters in today's official statement. It is announced that the Russians were driven back when they made an advance near Illukst, in the Dvinsk region. The text of the statement follows:

> In the eastern war theatre, a weak Russian attack against the churchyard at Illukst, northwest of Dvinsk, was repulsed. Otherwise the situation is unchanged.

Discussing the general situation, Jeffries says:

"Every day spent in Greece has made it clearer that the whole situation might be summed up in a single word—fear. If in my first sentence I say that Greece has temporarily decided in our favor, it is because I know the decision is imposed upon her, as any decision of any kind in Greece now must be imposed, and because I know that there is always danger of some sudden contrary turn, some act by the King, such as men make in moments of panic.

The correspondent goes on to say that he thinks M. Rhallis's attitude reflects that of most Greeks, who, from ragged boatman to King, get up in the morning with the prayer, "Let there be no war today."

"The King in his present condition of nervousness is liable to do and change anything. The King agreed, under the influence of Venizelos's reasoning, to the original disembarkation of 150,000 allied troops at Saloniki. Twenty minutes after Venizelos left the royal presence the King repented and sent his Aide de Camp post haste after the Premier, but he had gone instantly to the British Minister and informed him of the King's decision. It was too late to withdraw.

"It is unjust to describe the King as pro-German. He is decidedly under the influence of the Queen, and his intimate daily councilor, the man he first called after the fall of the Zaimis Government, is M. Streit, a thoroughgoing Germanophile who was formerly Minister in Vienna.

The correspondent further says that King Constantine does not love Germany. He adds:

"He offered to join the Allies last April on condition that the Dardanelles project be abandoned and an advance be made through Thrace. Since then the King has gained implicit belief in German prowess.

"'They cannot beat Germany; they will never beat her,' the King said the other day, and quite recently he exposed his whole thought in a most significant sentence.

"'They tell me,' he said, 'that I am between the devil and the deep sea, and that I may as well throw in my lot with the Allies, whose pressure can be immediate. That is all very well, but France and England, whatever happens, will never be too severe with my country, and Germany will be implacable. Germany will be implacable,' he repeated, 'and my duty is to save my country from the horrors of Belgium.'

"The King is furthermore generally reported to have said that the spectre of Belgium continually hovers before his eyes.

"That sums up the situation. He thinks it safer to be the enemy of gentlemen than of brigands."

Greeks Also Fear Famine.

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—"The Entente powers need to take strong measures to cope with the moral effect of the loss of Monastir," says a Daily Mail dispatch from Messina. "The future action of Greece will be decided by the power that can exert the strongest continuous pressure to bear. The Greek King is not as much afraid of the guns of the fleet as of its blockading power. Greece has only a food supply for a fortnight. It lives with famine in sight.

"The chief card of the Germans is the presence of submarines in the Mediterranean. The British, however, are zealously hunting them. Five have been sunk, leaving eight probably still at large."

ALLIES IN WEST BEGIN HEAVY FIRE

ARTOIS SCENE OF ACTIVITY

Sir John French Speaks of Shelling as "Organized"—Guns Busy in Champagne, Too.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Artillery of the Allies has become more active in Flanders and Champagne, and some observers think that this will prove to be, as it has previously, the signal for an offensive movement.

Field Marshal Sir John French, in a report issued tonight, describes an "organized bombardment" by the British guns of the German lines, and refers again to the fighting in October around Loos, reiterating his assertions concerning the heavy German losses there and asserting that the German denial refers to only a part of the battlefield. His report reads:

> Our artillery has during the past four days carried out an organized bombardment of many portions of the hostile lines with great effect. The enemy's artillery has been active north of Loos, east of Armentières, and east of Ypres.
> A German aeroplane landed within our lines southwest of Ypres on Nov. 19. The pilot and observer, who stated that they had lost their way, were captured. The machine was not damaged.
> Statements in the German report of the 21st regarding our front are incorrect in every particular. The report states that a large mine was successfully exploded in our position on the Ypres-Zonnebeke Railway. The mine in question exploded well in front of our trenches. It caused no damage and no casualties, and we have occupied the ground on either side of the crater.
> The enemy made air raids on Poperinghe on Nov. 18 and 20. No damage whatever was done to the railway or any building in the first raid. Two soldiers were wounded and four cows were killed. In the second raid one bomb caused casualties to eight men. None of the others had any effect.
> With regard to the enemy's denial of my estimate of his loss in killed on Oct. 8, he is apparently attempting to deceive by referring to only one small portion of the battlefield, while my report referred to the whole attack on the 8th of October. The enemy attacked not only to the southwest of Loos, but also southeast and northeast of that place. All further information obtained, including this report of the casualties southwest of Loos, confirms my original estimate.

This bulletin was issued tonight by the French War Office:

> In Artois and in Champagne continuous activity has characterized the two artillery forces.
> In the Argonne the mine fighting continues to our advantage.
> In Alsace a somewhat violent cannonade has occurred at Hartmanns-Weilerkopf and on the plateau of Ufholz.

The afternoon report from the French War Office says:

> Nothing of importance occurred, with the exception of fighting with grenades in the Artois district and engagements between patrols in Lorraine.

The German War Office issued this bulletin:

> There have been no events of importance. The enemy artillery has shown a lively activity in the Champagne, between the Meuse and the Moselle and also east of Lunéville.

SEES GERMAN SHORTAGE.

London Paper Thinks German Officer's Statement Significant.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 23.—The Daily News says this morning:

"The first indirect confession by a German military expert that the foe is feeling the pinch of war, so far as the supply of men and munitions is concerned, appears in an article in the Vorwärts by ex-Colonel Gaedke. He discusses the probability of a big offensive on the western as well as on the eastern front, holding that it will be almost unavoidable owing to a variety of causes.

"'It is necessary,' he says, 'to fill up the gaps in the ranks. Above all it will be necessary to replace the expended ammunition and accumulate new stocks for future battles, immediately behind the lines.'"

BRITISH CASUALTIES AMONG OFFICERS 19,668

6,033 Dead—474 Killed in the Fortnight Ending October 25—Three Generals on List.

LONDON, Nov. 12, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Officers' casualty lists for the fortnight ended Oct. 25 show that the British Army, in all theatres of the war, last 474 officers killed, 837 wounded, and 147 missing—a total of 1,458, which brings the casualties since the beginning of the war to 19,668. Of these, 6,033 have been killed or died of wounds, 11,952 wounded, and 1,683 recorded as missing.

The largest losses for the fortnight were incurred by the Yorkshire Regiment, with 20 killed, 35 wounded, 2 missing; Scots Fusiliers, 24 killed, 35 wounded, 6 missing; Cameronians, 31 killed, 28 wounded, 4 missing; Gordon Highlanders, 16 killed, 17 wounded, 8 missing; Kent regiments, 12 killed, 37 wounded, 15 missing; Indians, 18 killed, 32 wounded, 3 missing; Northumberlands, 11 killed, 26 wounded, 4 missing; Royal Engineers, 11 killed, 34 wounded, 2 missing; Field Artillery, 14 killed, 27 wounded, 2 missing; Surreys, 7 killed, 19 wounded, 13 missing.

Losses have again been heavy among officers of high rank, Major Gen. Frederick D. V. Wing and Brig. Gen. Wormald having been killed and Brig. Gen. Bruce being missing. Five other Brigadier Generals are wounded, while the names of four Colonels and ten Lieutenant Colonels are among the killed.

EXPLOSION ALARMS PARIS.

Mysterious Shock at First Aroused Fears of a Zeppelin Raid.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Residents of western and northwest suburbs of Paris were alarmed yesterday morning by a violent explosion. The shock rattled windows at places forty miles apart. The authorities thus far have been unable to ascertain the point at which the explosion occurred. It was at first attributed to the blowing up of a powder factory or to a Zeppelin raid. These theories were disproved, and it is now suggested the noise may have been due to the bursting of a meteor.

TWO BRITISH SHIPS SUNK.

The Hallamshire and the Merganser Lost in the War Zone.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The British steamships Hallamshire, 4,420 tons gross, and Merganser, 1,905 tons, have been sunk. Their crews were saved.

The Hallamshire, 385 feet long, was built and owned in Glasgow. She was last reported as having sailed Oct. 19 from Eastham, England, for Barry, Wales. The Merganser was 290 feet long and was owned in Cork.

KAMERUN VICTORY FOR FRENCH FORCES

They Surprise the Germans, and, with the British, Occupy Tibati.

HEMMING THE ENEMY IN

But the Germans Are Still in Strong Force and Formidably Intrenched at Jaunde.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Official announcement was made today of the capture by French and British forces of the town of Tibati, in the German colony of Kamerun, Western Africa, as the result of a surprise attack. The statement follows:

"A French column operating in Kamerun, commanded by Lieut. Col. Brisset, surprised the Germans forces on Nov. 3. The Germans, who were intrenched on the heights in the region of Tibati, were defeated and retreated in great disorder.

"The Germans were expecting an attack from the north, whereas the French, by a rapid detour, made an attack from the south.

"On the next day a British column, commanded by Colonel Webb, joined with the French in the occupation of Tibati, the great native city, whose Sultan and population welcomed the Franco-British force saving them from oppressive German rule."

Advices received here from Cape Town show that with the opening of the dry season there has been a renewal of activity on the part of the forces operating against the Germans in Kamerun. Great difficulties have been encountered during the wet season, although it is reported the Germans are being hemmed in gradually from all sides. The German headquarters are at Jaunde, where the Governor General has a strong force with abundant artillery and formidable intrenchments.

The northern area of Kamerun has been cleared of the Germans, with the exception of Mora. From the east the French, under General Cunliffe, have been pursuing a vigorous offensive. From the west important British movements are recorded from the Nigerian border. The international army under General Dobell also is advancing eastward in the direction of Jaunde.

As the Germans have fallen back they have virtually cleared the country of supplies. It is reported large numbers of natives are destitute, and that some areas have been almost depopulated. The aim of the allied forces has been to occupy the important road centres and thus cut off the German retreat.

PUSHING ANCONA INQUIRY.

NAPLES, Nov. 22.—Lieut. Commander John P. Jackson, Assistant Naval Attaché of the American Embassy at Rome, came to Naples today as the representative of Ambassador Page to co-operate with Jay White, American Consul at Naples, in investigating the sinking of the steamship Ancona.

He is attempting to get in touch with American survivors to obtain information on certain aspects of the case desired by the United States Government.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Despite rumors to the contrary, the State Department has no information warranting a change in the conclusion that the Italian liner Ancona, sunk in the Mediterranean, with a loss of over 200 lives, was destroyed by an Austrian and not by a German submarine. A report was current today that Secretary Lansing had received a message from Ambassador Page, at Rome, transmitting a statement from the "Captain of the Ancona" saying a German submarine sank the Ancona.

NEW PLAN TO INDUCE SAVING IN ENGLAND

War Loan Bonds of £1 Offered, Working People Not Liking the Loan Vouchers.

AN ORGY OF EXTRAVAGANCE

Reckless Habits Caused by Inflated Wages and High Separation Allowances to Soldiers' Families.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—For the purpose of attracting a larger part of the savings of the working classes the Government purposes to issue war loan bonds of the value of £1 ($5) or multiples thereof, bearing 3 per cent. interest.

In making this announcement today in the House of Commons, Reginald McKenna, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, said subscriptions to war loan vouchers—the plan previously adopted to attract small subscriptions—had proved disappointing. These subscriptions aggregated only £5,000,000. The working classes, he said, evidently preferred 2½ per cent. from the savings bank to investment in a loan which was liable to fluctuate.

The Chancellor emphasized strongly the urgent necessity, in the interest both of themselves and of the State, that persons now enjoying exceptional wages should save.

"Extravagant expenditure in any class cannot be tolerated," he continued. "At this moment economy in expenditure is vitally necessary, and the nation must be made to understand that a suitable instrument must be devised by means whereof we may avail ourselves of the nation's earnings."

Mr. McKenna said it was on this account that the Government intended to issue bonds of small denomination which would be convertible into cash at face value on demand. He said a strong committee would be appointed to popularize these bonds among the workers.

Wooden spills in the place of matches, penny wooden penholders instead of the quills so dear to British officialdom, and a few envelopes and odd sheets of notepaper instead of unlimited supplies gave a surprise today to members of Parliament who are accustomed to utilize the Houses of Parliament as a club.

In reply to angry protests the attendants explained that this was a first step in the direction of national economy demanded so urgently in recent speeches in the House of Commons.

LONDON, Nov. 12. (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The campaign for economy in living as a vital necessity for financing a war which is costing Great Britain nearly $25,000,000 a day continues to be pressed. Imports are exceeding exports by nearly $5,000,000 a day, and consequently depreciating foreign exchange, so that England really pays about 5 per cent. more than the nominal prices for commodities bought in America. Restriction of imports is urged as one of the most obvious practical methods of economy.

That Government expenses must be decreased and the gap between exports and imports narrowed is agreed upon by all. Various and often conflicting remedies are proposed. A revival of the party of Protection is a noticeable symptom. Some Protectionist papers, notably The Morning Post, demand a high tariff on imports, and one so framed that the colonies will have preference, diverting business from the United States to them. Thus the British Empire might live on its own resources so far as foodstuffs are concerned, The Post contends, and spend its money among its own people, as Germany is doing.

Lord Devonport, who has had long experience as a successful business man, told the House of Lords that the import of nonessential things through the Port of London alone reached $125,000,000 a year. He proposed total prohibition of the import of luxuries. But Lord Crewe replied that such a step would be impracticable, as many of the commodities came from allied nations already suffering commercial depression, while increases of the goods taxed by tariff would involve an addition to the customs establishment more expensive than the value of the taxes collected.

Several statesmen have proclaimed the necessity of keeping up Great Britain's general manufacturing as the best method of trying to balance the foreign trade account. The military expert of The London Times opposes this theory strongly. "The German principle is to rope in every man who can fight," he says, "and to subordinate the requirements of trade to those of victory, certain that if victory can be achieved everything else will come with it." He considers that thirty new divisions should be added to the army by next August, and inquires what it would profit to say that export trade was flourishing, but that the armies were defeated.

The Daily News replies that the military situation cannot be treated as though it were a kind of vacuum. "What is the use of victory in the field if the army which wins it cannot be kept in being for lack of money to maintain it?" the paper inquires. "Of what avail is our naval supremacy if we have no longer the funds or the credit to buy the food of which the navy assures the safe passage?"

E. T. Good, a writer on economics, claims that the actual earnings in many factories are 100 per cent. more than usual, and declares that a large proportion of the abnormal earnings are being spent in a way that increases the adverse trade balance.

The Economist discusses Premier Asquith's statement of the financial position with a word of warning on the same line. It says:

"It is possible for the country to carry on the war on this scale and to assist its allies on this scale, and perhaps even to recruit on this scale. It is not possible for it to go on warring and recruiting and spending £5,000,000 a day, and at the same time to go on increasing its drink bill at the rate of £16,000,000 a year and indulging its fancy in grand pianos, cheap jewelry, and more or less cheap motor cars."

The Statist discusses the matter in the same vein. It says:

"Hitherto the British people have financed this great war in the same way as they would have financed a new Government building, a new county jail, or a new Post Office. They have assumed that expenditures for such a purpose would be met after they had supplied themselves with their necessaries, comforts, and luxuries. The greatest reserve which the country possesses is still untouched—the power to reduce its expenditure upon comforts and luxuries, and by so doing to set free the additional money needed by the nation for war purposes."

That there is widespread and enormous extravagance caused by the necessity of giving great contracts without time for careful investigation and through the reckless habits of living made possible by inflated wages to workmen and high separation allowances to soldiers' families, every one recognizes. The growth of the movement against extravagance is visible daily, but no crystallized plan has yet been proposed by the Government—only hints of increased taxation.

NO CONSCRIPTION UNTIL AFTER DEC. 11

Lord Derby Says Results of Recruiting Will Be Known Then—Satisfied So Far.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—In an interview with a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent today, the Earl of Derby, the "Generalissimo" of recruiting, stated that not until Dec. 11, when the results of the canvass would be known, would he feel disposed to express a definite opinion as to whether the necessity for conscription would be over.

Lord Derby appeared to be entirely satisfied with the recruiting work done since he took hold, but he refused to attempt any prophesy as to the future.

"The response to the recruiting appeals throughout the British Isles has been great," he said. "The time limit for recruiting expires on Dec. 11, and not until then can any one say that we are beyond conscription. One thing may be said, however—that Great Britain is intent on putting the war through, and that it will not stop until our aim has been accomplished. The whole of Britain is awake now to the seriousness of the war. Britain will push it to the end with resolute purpose. Britain is determined to carry the war to the end."

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Lord Derby, in an interview today, said it would be a great achievement if the nation carried the war to a successful end without compulsory military service. He attributed the previous failure of many to come forward largely to the fact that the necessities of the case had not been realized.

The fact that Great Britain was primarily a naval power, with the largest navy in the world, and that the navy was doing all that had been expected of it, had also, Lord Derby thought, had its effect on recruiting. He attached very little importance to the few persons trying to discourage enlistment, and he repeated with emphasis his conclusion that the spirit of the people is sound.

considered serious, except as a matter of principle, as the Zealandia has been allowed to depart from Progreso in continuation of its voyage; the British cruiser which made the search has also gone away from Progreso, and no serious damage was occasioned by the search.

Lusitania Negotiations.

Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, have entered into an agreement that neither will discuss outside the conference room the important business which has brought the Ambassador to the State Department on several occasions recently; indicating that these conferences were of such a nature that absolute secrecy was essential to their success. State Department officials today said that reports that difficulties had developed between Mr. Lansing and Count von Bernstorff, in the course of their negotiations over the latter's proposal that the United States should accept as indemnity $5,000 for every American citizen lost in the Lusitania, and all other reports affecting the conferences, should be regarded as false.

Richard G. Wagner, President of the American Transatlantic Company at 17 Battery Place, said last night that the Winneconne had not yet left her pier and would not leave this port until there was a decision in the case of the Hocking or the Genesee.

CALL LLOYD GEORGE HARMSWORTH'S MAN

PREMIERSHIP THE STAKE

Special Correspondence of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—David Lloyd George has been very much out of the limelight in the recent scenes of the drama which Great Britain is helping to enact on the world's stage. Until a month or six weeks ago his "exits and his entrances" had been numerous and striking and had compelled the closest attention by all sections of the "House," from the stalls to the gallery. There came a time when his "appearances" before the public practically ceased. He "devilled" for the Prime Minister in the House of Commons, answering questions on Mr. Asquith's behalf when the latter was away, and he has been in daily attendance at the Ministry of Munitions in Whitehall Gardens, a building which, when he first entered it, contained two chairs, one table, and a typewriter, and is now a busy hive of war industry, with several hundred workers.

Though occasionally people were heard to ask what had become of Mr. George, it has been generally assumed during these past weeks of his absence from the front of the stage that he has been hard at work behind the scenes, devoting his remarkable energy to the particular task which he took in hand when he became Minister of Munitions. There is, as a matter of fact, ample evidence of the amount of work Mr. George has accomplished in this direction in the figures that have been published concerning the increase in England's output of munitions.

By general consent Mr. George is regarded as one of the indispensable members of the "Inner Cabinet," which is o thave the immediate direction of Britain's end of the war. Mr. George's inclusion in this council could not, on the face of it, be regarded as anything but a tribute to his qualifications and an indication of the personal and official relations that exist between the Minister of Munitions and the Prime Minister.

Suspect a Plot.

Nevertheless, there are some persons here who believe, or affect to believe, that Lloyd George's recent "absence from the limelight" is by no means entirely or chiefly due to the fact that his work behind the scenes was more important for the country than an appearance before the footlights could have been, but was designed to mask other work "behind the scenes" which was more likely to contribute to Mr. George's personal satisfaction than to his country's good. These persons have smelt out a deep-laid plot in which the chief conspirators are supposed to be Mr. George and Lord Northcliffe.

Readers of THE NEW YORK TIMES are familiar with the statements made in the English press concerning the efforts Lord Northcliffe is said to have been making to overthrow the Coalition Cabinet and put Lloyd George in the place of Mr. Asquith as Prime Minister. According to some of the detectors of this conspiracy, there are new developments which, in the words of one of them, put "the national cause, involving as it does the very existence of this country as an independent nation, in grave peril."

Put in their brightest form, these "new developments" are as follows: Lloyd George will be one of the Inner Cabinet, to have chief direction of the war. Lloyd George is "Northcliffe's man," and in every case where he is outvoted by Asquith and Balfour "a vehement protest may be expected from the papers controlled by the "Harmsworth Trust." Those papers, according to the theory held by the detectors of the conspiracy, are powerful enough to wreck any scheme which Asquith and Balfour might support in opposition to Lloyd George ,and "from the wreckage will, ti may be presumed, emerge an administration such as Northcliffe, acting through George, may believe himself to be able to control—and perhaps to join."

Such are the latest developments of the "conspiracy" and their future possibilities, as seen by Cecil Chesterton, whose remarks, quoted in the previous paragraph, are taken from an article in The New Witness. Mr. Chesterton assumes that Mr. Asquith is well aware of Lloyd George's ambitions, but thinks that he and Mr. Balfour together will be more than a match for Mr. George.

"Presumably," writes Mr. Chesterton, "the idea is that inclusion in the inner Cabinet will placate George and that, when once included, he can be managed." Mr. Chesterton is afraid the Prime Minister is miscalculating the danger he runs and the peril to which he is putting the country. "The more he surrenders to George, the more Harmsworth" (Mr. Chesterton rarely gives Lord Northcliffe his present title) "will push George forward, to his (Asquith's) extrusion and to the furtherance of personal aims in the accomplishment of which George is merely a tool."

Two conclusions may be reproduced from Mr. Chesterton's arguments: First, that he has little faith in Asquith's or Lloyd George's ability to detect Lord Northcliffe's "game," and second, that he believes Lord Northcliffe and his papers to be the greatest power in the country. There can be no question as to the influence which the Northcliffe press has exercised upon a section of public opinion in this country and abroad, (the Guildhall speeches of Mr. Asquith and Mr. Balfour last Tuesday prove that,) but the British press would not generally admit Lord Northcliffe's pre-eminence of power.

Chesterton's Persistent Attacks.

Mr. Chesterton's attacks on Lloyd George have been as consistent as they have been bitter. They began with what came to be known as the "Marconi Scandal," to which Mr. Chesterton was largely instrumental in giving the publicity it received. They have continued week by week. Mr. Chesterton has taunted Mr. George with "incorrigible incompetence, sloth, and neglect of duty, which left the national finances in a chaos which gravely embarrassed his successor." He has accused him of "open subservience to the plutocracy" which has made him "not only thoroughly distructed but cordially detested by the working classes." His culminating reproach is that Lloyd George is "Harmsworth's man."

Mr. Chesterton does not make it clear why or how the Minister of Munitions has surrendered his own liberty of action into the hands of Lord Northcliffe; the utmost he has done in this respect is to suggest that Lord Northcliffe has obtained a hold over Lloyd George by some means which, in Mr. Chesterton's view, must necessarily be open to suspicion.

The country generally remains in ignorance of the particular "nigger in the woodpile" which Mr. Chesterton has discovered. The New Witness, costing sixpence, has not as extensive a circulation as Lord Northcliffe's halfpenny Daily Mail and Evening News and penny Times; but even if the British people should be made aware of the danger that threatens from "Harmsworth's man," it is probable they would sleep soundly in full confidence that Messrs. Asquith, Balfour, Bonar Law, and Reginald McKenna would prove competent to counter all the machinations of the "conspirators."

Most students of British politics would be willing to risk a small wager with Mr. Chesterton that if and when for one reason or another Mr. Asquith resigns the post he has occupied for some ten years past, his successor is much more likely to be Mr. Bonar Law or Mr. McKenna or Sir John Simon than David Lloyd George.

PROTEST AGAINST "HYPHEN."

Loyal American League's Circular Sent All Over Country.

The Loyal American League, 68 William Street, founded by William Lustgarten and others of German descent as a protest against hyphenation, has started the circulation throughout the country of a protest against acts by American citizens which "subordinate loyalty to the United States to allegiance to any foreign Prince or power." The league favors appropriate action to suppress the acts which it condemns. Each copy of the protest has room on it for a score of signatures.

Dr. John Edward Hausmann, Secretary of the Conference Committee on National Preparedness, in an address at 597 Fifth Avenue to members of the Special Relief Society and the American Defense Society yesterday said:

"Our first line of defense, as with nearly every other country, is the navy. Our navy has been allowed to deteriorate until finally we are the fifth naval power, rather than the second."

One hundred prominent citizens of New Rochelle have been invited to meet at the home of the New Rochelle Association tonight to form a branch of the National Security League. Among those invited to attend the meeting are Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keogh, Supreme Court Justice-elect J. Addison Young, Adrian Iselin, Adrian Iselin, 2d, Captain Walter P. Blackman, Colonel Robert Temple Emmet, Harold T. Bernie, Marc Klaw, William M. Harding, Harry R. Childs, William E. Iselin, the Rev. William E. Stevens, Louis Iselin, Frederick H. Waldorf, Commodore George W. Keir, Captain Henry M. Lloyd, and Captain A. Calhoun.

STIRRED BY LANSING CHARGE

London Urges Prompt Reply to Intimation of Trade Grabbing.

Special Correspondence of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—It is learned that although it may be several weeks before a formal reply can be made to Secretary Lansing's note of Oct. 21, one charge in it is receiving attention which promises an immediate reply, if, indeed, only the assertion that the charge has already been answered.

Certain English papers and publicists are urging the British Government to reply without delay to paragraph 13, which, it is said, creates a suspicion of bad faith, of dishonesty, and duplicity, and puts the British Government in bad light in America.

It had been charged by the enemies of England in the United States that American goods condemned in the British Prize Court had been sold to neutrals through British firms, so that Englishmen and not Americans made profits, and that one of the objects of the blockade and Orders in Council was to secure the control of the trade which the war had placed in the hands of the Americans. Mr. Lansing wrote in regard to preventing American importations to the northern neutral nations of Europe:

"American trade would suffer to the extent that British trade benefited by the increase. Great Britain cannot expect the United States to submit the rights of its citizens to be seriously impaired."

It is asserted here that the implied charge has already been answered in a note of Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, to Ambassador Page, dated Aug. 13 last, unless, indeed, Mr. Lansing's charge be based on subsequent data. After presenting comparative tables showing the differences of trade for corresponding periods of 1914 and 1915 between the United States and Scandinavia and Great Britain and Scandinavia, Sir Edward wrote:

"Everything in the statistics I have quoted tends to show that the mercantile community of the United States has made profits proportionally equal to our greater than those of the mercantile community of Great Britain, in respect to all those demands which have inevitably arisen in Scandinavia and the Netherlands as a consequence of the closing of German ports. The total volume of the trade of the United States with these countries has increased 300 per cent., as your Excellency will see from the accompanying table, taken from the United States official 'monthly summary of foreign commerce,' which shows the comparative value of the total exports of the United States to Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands during the first five months of 1914 and 1915. The value of the total increase in these exports during this period amounted to $145,658,000."

WAR AIDING DEMOCRACY.

View of Dr. Stanton Coit, Editor of The Ethical Review.

Dr. Stanton Coit, editor of The Ethical Review and President of the Ethical Society of England, who was one of the founders of the University Settlement on the east side and an assistant to Dr. Felix Adler, arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Lapland to lecture in New York, Chicago, and other cities on England's side of the war.

"One of the results of this war," Dr. Coit said, "will be the democratization of England. In fighting this war England is battling for the democracy of Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, and the whole world, because the triumph of Germany would mean the overthrow of democracy. There is as much real democracy in England today as there is in the United States. The war will be waged by the people of all classes until victory is won."

Dr. Coit said he expected to remain in America about six weeks and then return to England. He was born in this country and became a naturalized British subject in 1904.

Another passenger on the Lapland was the Rev. T. S. Wynkoop, who was a missionary in India for many years, having started his work there in 1868, later becoming the agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society. He said that the unrest in Lahore and other large cities in northwestern India was purely local and had been caused by the return of disaffected Indians from British Columbia.

"There is always unrest in India," Dr. Wynkoop said. "It is part of the leaven of the education of the people. The Indians, as a people, are not disaffected, and are loyal to the Government."

Dr. Wynkopp was at one time pastor of a Presbyterian church in Washington, and resigned in 1892 to return to India.

PREDICTS TORPEDOING OF HOSPITAL SHIPS

British Admiralty Sees Sinister Purpose in Charges That They Carry Troops and Munitions.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Categorical denial was given by the British Admiralty tonight to German statements that British hospital ships were being used for other than hospital purposes. The announcement says there are forty-two, and not seventy, hospital ships plying to and from the Mediterranean, and that they carry only sick or wounded soldiers, nurses, and members of the Medical Staff, besides medical stores.

All the ships, the Admiralty says, are ballasted to secure safety, but are not deeply laden. They are painted, it is declared, as required by the Geneva Convention. The announcement concludes:

"Previous experience suggests this series of falsehoods foreshadows attacks on British hospital ships by German submarines."

This is the second denial by the British Admiralty of the report that British hospital ships were being used for conveying troops, munitions, and other war material. The report which was sent out from Berlin on Nov. 12 by the Overseas News Agency said:

"According to news from Spain, the number of English hospital ships en route for the Mediterranean shows a strange increase lately. It is also noticed that many of the hospital ships are deeply laden. Apparently they are carrying ammunition, war material, and troops."

A statement issued by the British Admiralty on Nov. 14 characterized the Berlin report as "absolutely false," and added:

"British hospital ships always have and always will be used under the conditions prescribed by the Geneva and The Hague Conventions."

Automatic Sprinklers Will Reduce Tenants Insurance Premiums 70% to 90%

Thompson & Warren get insurance for 15c.

(Thompson & Warren is not the real name)

Grinnell Sprinklers were being installed in an old building on Madison Avenue last Spring. A sign outside informed the public that the Grinnell Sprinklers would make the tenants' insurance cost 70% to 90% less than in unsprinklered property.

Along came the store manager and the president of Thompson & Warren looking for an uptown location. Within half an hour they had closed for 6500 square feet of space, because they found to their amazement and delight that on the combination of their rent-plus-insurance they could save something like $1,600 by reason of the low insurance under the Grinnell Sprinklers.

Progressive landlords are putting in Grinnell Sprinklers so as to offer a low insurance rate to tenants. Tenants are learning to lump their insurance with their rent and compare totals in various locations.

"Grinnells" can easily pay for themselves the first year if they bring one extra tenant.

When you see a Grinnell System you know that the owner has not recklessly purchased from the lowest bidder, but has bought for quality. It is a fair inference that that landlord does other things the same way.

Keep your going business going. Make it conflagration-proof by putting it under Grinnell Sprinklers. Make your goods as immune from fire as cement floors and brick walls. Then your business will not be interrupted and you will never look back and say—"That was the year of our fire."

AMAZING CONTRACT TIED UP WAR PLANT

Pro-Teuton Bridgeport Company Bound Camden Works to Sell to No Other.

TRIAL DISCLOSES SIGNERS

"Buyer" Canceled Compact on Day It Was Made, but the Output Still Is Stopped.

The thoroughness with which Teuton agents have proceeded in their campaign to curtail the supply of American munitions of war for the Allies is evidenced in the terms of the contract between the Bridgeport Projectile Company, a firm organized under ostensible British-American control, but actually financed by the Deutsche Bank of Berlin through Hugo Schmidt of 165 Broadway, its western agent, and the Camden Iron Works, which manufactures presses for the making of shrapnel shells.

THE TIMES is able to present an outline of the provisions of the contract by which the entire output of the Camden Iron Works was tied up last May until Jan. 1 next, with options permitting a further extension of the process.

The contract furnishes the central feature of suits instituted by creditors of the Camden Iron Works against Walter Wood, its President, and a heavy stockholder, who is also selling agent for the company under the name of R. D. Wood & Co. of Philadelphia. Evidence in the case has been heard before Judge Haight in the United States District Court at Trenton, N. J., and a decision is expected shortly on the question of whether Mr. Wood will have to pay back all or part of $125,000 which the Bridgeport Projectile Company paid for the cancellation of the contract.

This contract was signed on May 5 by Walter H. Knight, President of the Bridgeport Projectile Company; Carl Heynen, its Treasurer, who was formerly the Mexico City agent of the Hamburg-American Line, and by Mr. Wood for R. D. Wood & Co. It provided that R. D. Wood & Co. were to hire space and machinery from the Camden Projectile Company, and an agreement so to hire space and machinery was signed by Heulings Lippincott, receiver of the Camden firm.

The contract calls for the delivery to the Bridgeport Projectile Company of 100 sets of shrapnel presses at $6,100 each, of which total sum 27½ per cent., or $167,750, was to be paid down. The presses were to be delivered at the rate of five sets a week, the normal capacity of the Camden plant. It was provided expressly that the contract called for the total output of projectile presses up to Jan. 1 next, and that R. D. Wood & Co. were not to sell to any other firm in that period except to fill certain orders already under contract, nor were they to manufacture any other presses.

The Bridgeport Projectile Company retained the right to cancel, within thirty days, the clause calling for the delivery of the 100 sets of presses, but no other clause; and in that event the iron works was to retain the $167,750 already paid as damages and loss of profits. But the papers canceling this agreement were drawn up at the same time as the contract itself.

In consideration of the "damages" of $167,750, the iron works agreed to keep all the plans by which, and the tools with which, such presses were made, in order to be able to fill any further contracts that it might make with the Bridgeport Projectile Company.

In other words, the Camden Iron Works cannot make any presses for anybody else this year; they cannot let go their plans or machinery evolved by the "ingenious men" referred to in Mr. Wood's testimony and perfected to such a point that their product in a non-patented article is alleged to be superior to that of other firms, and they could not use the time between May 5 and Jan. 1 to manufacture a stock of shrapnel presses to be kept on hand and later sold to other powers.

The cancellation provided for was duly made at the same time as the contract was signed, though it was dated a day later "so it would have some kind of a decent look," as Mr. Wood expressed it in his testimony. In the same letter providing for the cancellation, which was signed by Carl Heynen, there was a request for an option for the manufacture of twenty to forty more sets of presses for the Bridgeport Projectile Company. This option was to be taken up before Aug. 1; whether it ever was taken up could not be learned.

A reference to this transaction was made in a report drawn up on June 30 by Carl Heynen and submitted to Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, German fiscal agent in this country; Captain Franz von Papen, German military attaché in Washington, and N. R. Lindheim, legal adviser of the German Government, which was published last August by The World with the rest of Dr. Albert's papers. This memorandum showed the status of the contract between the Bridgeport Projectile Company, referred to all the way through, as "A," and Hugo Schmidt, similarly called "B." According to this document the contract between Mr. Schmidt and the Germanized Bridgeport Projectile Company called for the bidding of all possible builders of projectile machinery until Jan. 1.

"As was anticipated," says Mr. Heynen, "during the discussion between A and B prior to the final drawing up of the agreement, it has been impossible to contractually bind such builders to exclusive manufacture for A, since that would be contrary to prevailing laws, implicating both contracting parties; furthermore, that question proved very delicate and required a good deal of diplomacy in dealing with manufacturers, so as to avoid suspicion.

"A fact is that A succeeded in having all the builders bound to him, most of same by some legally non-committal phrase in the conracts, and one, a friend of A, by simple word."

Mr. Heynen further stated that 334 presses had been actually contracted for up to May 17, mostly with the privilege of cancellation on payment of indemnity, and that 392 had been cancelled at an aggregate indemnity of $238,945.64.

According to this, Mr. Wood, who got $167,750 for the cancellation of the order for 100 presses, was a much better business man than other manufacturers, for, while his order was little more than a fourth of the total cancellations, he got about twice as much money as all the others combined.

"Another evidence is that concerns which have old contracts for shrapnel rounds with the Allies are asking A to forge, i. e., press the cases for them, they doing the finishing, which conclusively proves that they cannot get additional presses to do such work themselves.

"As a result thereof, the Allies have had to place orders for shrapnel cases to be manufactured from bar steel by boring instead of forging. This is not only laborious, but also an unsatisfactory process, because the steel, which has to be softened for the boring, loses its quality thereby; and it is known to A that the two first deliveries of cases made on account of this bar steel contract by the most important of the manufacturers have been rejected for not coming up to requirements on being tested.

In the testimony of Mr. Wood in the suits at Trenton it appeared that the Bridgeport Projectile Company first came into contact with R. D. Wood & Co. through Joseph T. Ryerson & Son of New York and Chicago, who have acted as agents for R. D. Wood & Co., which latter firm, in addition to being the agent for the Camden Iron Works and the Florence Iron Works, another concern belonging to the Wood interests, is heavily interested in iron and copper mines and is one of the largest dealers in cast iron pipe in the world. The Ryersons on April 8 concluded a contract with the Bridgeport Projectile Company which called for the delivery by the Camden Iron Works of two sets of projectile presses a week—two-fifths of the plant's capacity.

"We have been making shrapnel presses for ten or twenty years," Mr. Wood said, "and by the fact that we employ ingenious men who have evolved good designs and constructed unusually good machinery we have been able to turn out an exceptionally good quality. Nevertheless I was much surprised, about the first of the year, to find that so many people were wanting presses."

The Camden Iron works, through R. D. Wood & Co., has already made small contracts with eight firms before the first Bridgeport contract was obtained through the Ryersons. When this contract came in Mr. Wood sent Captain Horace G. H. Tarr, chief salesman and Superintendent of R. D. Wood & Co., who had originally come into the firm to look after the interests of the heirs of a deceased brother of Walter Wood, to look into the matter more closely.

After the contract was signed Mr. Wood said he told Knight and Heynen: "While you are doing a thing like this date the cancellation tomorrow, so it will have some kind of a decent look." This was agreed to. "Then," according to Mr. Wood's testimony, "all the papers were laid down on the desk and signed, and the fellow handed over his check, and that was the end of that. I got $167,000 and gave the broker $42,000."

Mr. Wood kept the other $125,000. But thereupon the executors of other members of his family sued, forcing the Camden Iron Works into a receiver's hands, and some of the creditors, Mr. Wood admitted, began to talk of his action as criminal. "When I heard the nasty things they were saying," he said, "I decided to turn the money over to the court of my own accord."

How much the Camden Iron Works may have lost through the tying up of its output by the Bridgeport Projectile Company is indicated by Mr. Wood's admission that since the transaction of May 5 the firm has had inquiries looking to contracts for from 200 to 400 sets of projectile presses. These contracts, he said, would have implied a profit to the company of $200,000 or $300,000.

Mr. Wood was questioned on the stand as to how he thought the $125,000 ought to be divided between himself, as R. D. Wood & Co., and the Camden Iron Works.

"Well," he said, "if I pull $125,000 out of the whole, nothing less than a fair divide is a fair divide."

"What do you consider a fair divide?" he was asked.

"I think I ought to get sixty-two and a half and the others sixty-two and a half."

"In the language of the day," said the court, 'fifty-fifty.'"

"Yes, Sir. Fifty-fifty."

The orders which had already been contracted for by the Camden Iron Works, and which the Bridgeport contract allowed it to fulfill, were for a total of eighty-six projectile presses. Of these thirty-six had been ordered by the Bridgeport Projectile Company on a previous contract.

The American Locomotive Works, with factories in Schenectady and Dunkirk, N. Y.; Providence, R. I.; Paterson, N. J.; Richmond, Va.; Manchester, N. H.; Pittsburgh, and Montreal, contracted for seventeen. This company was reported last May to have received an order for $65,000,000 worth of shrapnel from the Russian Government.

AUSTRIA PROTESTS VON NUBER CHARGE

Embassy Objects to Official Statement Naming Him in Munition Plot Inquiry.

ERROR IN ISSUING IT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The embassy of Austria-Hungary today entered a protest with the State Department against the action of the Department of Justice in announcing in an official statement that much information concerning the activities of Alexander von Nuber, the Austro-Hungarian Consul General in New York, and his associates, in connection with illegal efforts to help the Teutonic allies, had been obtained in New York by A. Bruce Bielaski, Chief of the Division of Investigation in the Department of Justice.

While no definite conclusion has been reached as to what action shall be taken, it is evident that this Government feels that it can do nothing less than express regret for the publication of that part of the statement reflecting on von Nuber and official associates of his, and give assurances that the irregularity will not be repeated. Attorney General Gregory, it was learned, was not responsible for the issuance of the statement and knew nothing of it until after it had appeared in the newspapers.

The official statement of the Department of Justice was published in THE NEW YORK TIMES and other newspapers on Nov. 19. This statement had to do with the return to Washington of Chief Bielaski, who had been in New York, the statement said, conferring with John R. Rathom, editor of The Providence Journal, and Dr. Josef Goricar, formerly of the Austro-Hungarian Consular Service, whose allegations concerning the existence of a Teutonic spy system in this country had appeared in Mr. Rathom's newspaper. The Austro-Hungarian Embassy based its protest on the following sentences in the official statement:

"While Dr. Goricar may not be able to testify directly to all matters under investigation, much information of a valuable nature was obtained concerning the activities of Austrian Consul General von Nuber and his associates, the details of which cannot be disclosed at present. Prompt investigation, however, will be made."

The attitude of the Embassy is taken to mean that the Vienna Government does not intend to be unresisting to the effort to implicate its officials in the United States in the alleged plots. There are indications that as a result of the protest very little information will be given out by the Government concerning its investigations.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 22.—In connection with the visit of Baron Zweidinek to the State Department today to protest against any declaration of Government officials involving Baron von Nuber in improper activities, The Providence Journal will make the following statement tomorrow morning:

"Since its statement made to the Department of Justice last week The Journal has felt, in spite of the numerous declarations made by others concerning that conference, that it should make no public reference to it. In view, however, of the astounding action of Baron Zweidinek yesterday, The Journal now feels called on to declare that it has placed in the hands of the Department of Justice conclusive proof not only of the guilt of Baron von Nuber and Vice Consul Samuel Angyal of the New York Consulate, but also of Consul General von Grivicic of Philadelphia and Baron Lother von Hauser of the Pittsburgh Consulate.

"Furthermore The Journal has also given to the Department of Justice conclusive proof of the guilt of Baron Zweidinek himself on several occasions since the departure of Ambassador Dumba. As Baron Zweidinek, in his latest exhibition of mendacity, has not seen fit to pick up the cudgels for his two masters and directors, Captain Karl Boy-Ed, and Captain von Papen of the German Embassy, it is not necessary at this time to refer to The Journal's declarations to the Department with reference to the activities of these two men.

"But, as far as regards the Austrian officials named, it may be said that the proof of their guilt as presented by this newspaper to the Government, rests almost entirely in documents over their own signatures, and that this is particularly true in the case of Baron Zweidinek himself."

London Globe Apologizes.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Globe, which was suppressed by the police on Nov. 6 for insisting that War Secretary Kitchener had resigned notwithstanding the warning of the official Press Bureau, resumed publication today.

The paper contains correspondence between its proprietors and governmental authorities concerning the suspension, closing with an apology from The Globe and withdrawal of its "regrettable" misstatement.

cuss the subject tonight, but it is known that the Federal authorities were also working on the case.

Mr. Gresham admitted that it was upon information furnished by his Consulate that the investigation was begun, following a dispatch from Washington, that Cleveland was said by the British Embassy to be the plot centre. According to the Vice Consul, there is being built in or near Cleveland a building ostensibly to house a manufacturing concern of some sort, but of such peculiar construction and under such circumstances that it has aroused suspicion. Since its erection was begun it has been constantly under guard.

Mr. Gresham intimated that a preliminary investigation had confirmed reports that it was being built for purposes inimical to the British Government. Acting upon this information he reported the facts to his Embassy at Washington. This report contained the statement that ever since construction on the building was begun it had been under guard constantly, none but persons of foreign birth not friendly to the Allies being permitted to come within inspecting distance of it.

The workmen employed upon the building apparently have been sworn to secrecy. They are all of foreign birth. They have declined to divulge any information as to the identity of their employer.

QUOTES ALLEGED THREAT.

Detective Says Suspected Eitel Deserter Talked About Munition Plants

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 22.—Otto Buelow, or Unger, the suspected deserter from the converted German cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, now interned at Norfolk, declared that "in six months there will not be a war munitions plant in operation in the United States," according to City Detective Robert Porter, who took the man to Norfolk last Friday.

Buelow, who was arrested here last Tuesday, had pretended he could not speak English, but Porter said today that he conversed in that language with the prisoner on the trip to Norfolk. According to Porter, Buelow seemed to know the location of all the munitions plants in the country. He told the officer that he had been arrested "just one day too soon," and that he "knew a whole lot, but would die rather than tell it."

SHARP WATCH AT BETHLEHEM.

State Sends Experts to Plan Protection of Munitions Workers.

Special to The New York Times.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Nov. 22.—Pennsylvania State authorities, it is announced here, will do everything in their power to prevent accidents in munitions and other industrial plants and to help run down plotters who seek to destroy property in the interest of foreign Governments. All departments connected with the State's industrial life have been working for weeks along the lines suggested yesterday by the Federal Department of Justice, and any possible help will be given to the Federal authorities.

Following a conference between Commissioner Jackson and Chief Inspector Palmer and officials from the Bethlehem Steel plant, John H. Walker, civil engineer, and John Spicer, chemical engineer, were assigned tonight to go to Bethlehem to formulate plans for the protection of the workers. The department is developing and insisting upon fire drills and rigid inspection and also proper handling and storing of explosives.

VERONA SAFE IN ATLANTIC.

Italian Vessel Eludes Watchful Submarines in Mediterranean.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Italian liner Verona, from Italian ports for New York, which on Saturday reported by wireless that she was being pursued by a submarine, and afterward that she had eluded the undersea craft in a fog, is now safely out of the Mediterranean. Word was received here that she passed through the Strait of Gibraltar today on her westward voyage.

ACCEPT TEN JURORS IN SHIP PLOT CASE

FEDERAL POINTS CONCEDED

Defendants Admit False Manifests, but Contend They Tried to Fool British.

Ten jurors remained in the box before Judge Harland B. Howe in the criminal branch of the United States District Court yesterday at the close of the first day's session of the trial of Dr. Karl Buenz, Director of the Hamburg-American Line and former German Consul General in New York; George Koetter, Adolph Hachmeister, and Joseph Poppinghaus.

The defendants are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States. It is alleged they procured the filing of false manifests and clearance papers under which the Berwind and three other steamers left this port ostensibly with cargoes for neutral ports, but in reality with supplies for the German gunboat Eber and the converted cruisers Santa Luccia, Cape Trafalgar, Eleanor, Woermer, and Pontus.

William Rand, Jr., of counsel for the defendants, has filed concessions with United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, admitting the chief points of fact alleged by the Government. It is insisted, however, that the irregularities in the papers of the four ships were not intended to deceive the United States, but to deceive the enemies of Germany, and, in particular, to prevent the capture of the four ships by British cruisers outside New York Harbor.

An effort probably will be made to narrow the issue of the trial to the meaning of "defraud," as it is used in Section 37 of the United States Criminal Code, under which the defendants were indicted. This reads as follows:

> If two or more persons conspiring either to commit any offense against the United States or to defraud the United States in any manner or for any purpose and one or more of such parties do any act to effect the object of such conspiracy, they shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years, or both.

The trial marks the first effort to apply this law to alleged conspiracies which have resulted in violations of the neutrality of the United States, although violation of neutrality is not alleged. Various other indictments have been found under the same law against men who have figured in pro-German activities in this country.

Concessions of Defense.

It is expected that the concessions of the defense, which admit that Captain Boy-Ed, the Naval Attaché of the German Embassy, had part in the scheme to supply German war vessels through ships leaving this port with false papers, will come before the court today after the completion of the jury. The prosecution is not obliged to accept the concessions, and may prefer to establish its case by witnesses.

Thirty-one talesmen were rejected, most of them because they had convictions about the war which were too strong to suit one side or the other. Every prospective juror underwent a questioning as to his racial stock, and as to his opinions about the war. Counsel for the State asked him if he knew Ambassador von Bernstorff, Captain Boy-Ed, Captain von Papen, Dr. Buenz, or other men connected with the Hamburg-American or North-German Lloyd lines. Counsel for the defense asked if he knew Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador; District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall, Assistant District Attorney Roger B. Wood and others connected with the prosecution.

The ten jurors, two of whom still may be rejected by peremptory challenges by the United States District Attorney, are:

1. GEORGE W. PALMER, 315 East 135th street, a temporary inspector for the city, born in this country of Irish parents.
2. EUGENE B. KEANE of New Rochelle, manager at 42 Broadway for a plumbing concern, an American of American parents.
3. GEORGE M. ALLISON, 54 West 144th Street, a salesman, born in Scotland, but came to this country as a child.
4. JOHN J. TOTTEN, 33 West Forty-second Street, a real estate dealer, an American of American descent, but has a wife of German descent.
5. JOHN J. MORRIS, 265 West Twelfth Street, a retired milk dealer, born in Ireland, but came to this country at an early age.
6. JOHN L. PEACE, 2,333 Eighth Avenue, in the shoe business. His father was Scotch.
7. Not selected.
8. RICHARD MOYLAN, 440 West Forty-seventh Street, a grocer, born in this country of Irish parents.
9. Not selected.
10. THEODORE C. WOOD, 822 West 139th Street, a dealer in building materials, an American of American descent.
11. EDWARD H. SCOTT, 368 West 117th Street, born in this country of English parents.
12. JAMES F. TAYLOR, 538 West 159th Street, a retired real estate dealer, an American of American descent.

War Views Too Strong.

One of the men rejected was George Herberner, an American, whose parents were German. He told Mr. Rand that he had a strong conviction about the war and feared that it might interfere with his judgment of the case.

"You know," said Mr. Rand, "that this case will not decide anything about the war, but simply whether or not these defendants conspired to defraud the United States."

"I know that," said Mr. Herberner.

"Do you think that in a case where men are charged with trying to defraud the United States your convictions about the war would prevent you from trying the case fairly?"

"I am afraid they would," Mr. Herberner replied.

Max Ernst, a retired clothing manufacturer, who was born in Germany, seemed to irritate Mr. Rand by saying that he had read the papers very carefully on this case and had made up his mind about it.

"Do you mean that what you have read in the papers about this case has caused you to form a conclusion so strong that you feel that you could not try the case fairly?" he was asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Ernst.

Mr. Rand was questioning him further, when Judge Howe interposed to say that the juror had said enough already to disqualify him.

"I know," said Mr. Rand. "But I was interested in hearing a man come here and say that he had read so much in the newspapers that he came here with an opinion which he could not set aside. I think that is very extraordinary and significant."

Herbert Diamant of 611 West 114th Street, said he had no strong opinion about the war, but felt that, if his own country was at war he would want to do everything in his power to help it, and he felt sympathy for any man who would act the same way under the same conditions. He was excused.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—A. Mr. Bielaski's journey was really to question Gustav Stahl, who is serving a term in the Federal Prison at Atlanta for perjury in connection with the charge that the Lusitania was armed, and to endeavor to obtain from Stahl evidence in regard to the activities of Teuton agents in New York.

PHYSICIANS OPPOSE SPLITTING OF FEES

WIN BY VOTE OF 500 TO 200

Defeated Economic Leaguers Favor Law to Promote the Business Side of the Profession.

Conservatives claimed a victory over the Economics on a basis of 500 votes to 200 last night in the largest and most hotly contested election ever held in the annals of the County Medical Society of the County of New York.

The polls opened at 8 o'clock and were closed at 11. It was thought the counting of the ballots would not be completed until 5 or 6 o'clock this morning.

Leaders of the Economic League practically conceded their defeat, and as a parting gun managed to have a protest, in which they defended the sincerity of their motives, spread on the files of the society.

The election turned on a difference of opinion between the two factions as to the function of the organization. The Federation of Economic Leagues, composed of practitioners, of whom about three-fourths belong to the society, holds that the physician should give more heed to his business interests. Its leaders, denying emphatically that they would split fees secretly, stand for an open division of fees. The leagues want legislation to improve the financial condition of the physicians. They sought to strengthen their cause by having such of their members as belonged to the County Society capture its Vice Presidency and the entire delegation to the next meeting of the State Society. The conservative element, maintaining that the professional man should not take so businesslike a view of his mission in life, turned out in overwhelming force.

Political Machinery Needed.

Hitherto the elections of the County Society had been conducted with an air of deep calm. The machinery of a political union was put into commission last night. Instead of quietly handing in their ballots, the Physicians stood in line as at a great polling place. The halls of the Academy of Medicine, 17 West Forty-third Street, were packed by lines of waiting voters.

Every man was checked off from card indexes by judges of election. Out in the hall among the physicians who were pushing their way as best they could to the front were emissaries of the leagues, who were distributing slips of paper bearing the eleven names of their candidates.

"Vote right," they said at intervals.

The conservatives forbore from open electioneering in the halls, but they were out in strong force. The economic faction had the better organization because its delegations had been gathered systematically from the eight branches throughout the city. The scratching of tickets was seen in all directions.

When the polls closed the tellers reported that 703 votes had been cast. They at once closeted themselves in an inner room and began the count.

Dr. Sondern President.

Dr. Frederic E. Sondern, who was unopposed, will be the next President of the society.

The indications are that Dr. J. Bentley Squier, conservative, has been elected First Vice President over Dr. William S. Gottheil, editor of the official organs of the leagues, The Medical Economist.

There were no candidates against Dr. Charles H. Peck, for Second Vice President; Dr. John Van Doren Young, who has held that office for eighteen years, as Secretary; Dr. Daniel S. Doughter, as Assistant Secretary, or Dr. Charles H. Richardson, as Treasurer. The withdrawal of Dr. Lilienthal as a candidate left the three physicians named for censors sure of election. They were Drs. Howard C. Taylor and Willy Meyer, Conservatives, and Dr. Floyd M. Crandall, a league member, but not regarded by either faction as an active partisan.

The vote on delegates to the State Society meeting presented a complicated task for the tellers. The indications were, however, that all the league candidates had been defeated. Dr. Gottheil, the leader of the leagues, said last night that he did not care whether he was elected or not, for he had stood for election merely to show that he believed a new principle should actuate the society.

Defense by Dr. Gottheil.

Dr. Gottheil offered in the meeting of the society after the polls had closed the following statement, which was spread upon the minutes without comment of any kind:

Printed statements have been made during the last few days with reference to the election in this society tonight which reflect upon the professional integrity of eleven members who are candidates, including myself. I might characterize these statements as malicious. I shall not do so. They are certainly false. The organization with which these members are connected has never even discussed the secret division of fees, much less taken any action thereon.

Medical ethics is not involved in this contest. We are as strong upholders of it as any other members of this society. I do not know the authors of the statement that fee splitting and questions of ethics are concerned in this issue, but if they are physicians they themselves know that the assertions are untrue. The sole issue in the present contest is an attempt to make this society more truly representative of the profession and to increase its usefulness to the public and to its own members. The assertions in question are false and unjust, and I ask in ordinary fairness that the public repudiation of them be spread on the minutes of this meeting.

There was a brief scientific session before the final adjournment.

Among representative men of the medical profession seen at the election were Dr. Abraham Jacobi, Dr. Brooks H. Wells, a former President of the society; Dr. Lewis F. Frissell, Dr. William H. Park, Dr. Wissner R. Townsend, Dr. Joseph B. Bissell, Dr. Alexander Lyle, Dr. Rowland G. Freeman, Dr. George E. Brewer, Dr. Warfield T. Longcope, Dr. Alexander Lambert, Dr. Emanuel Libman, and Dr. Charles E. Nammack.

One of the features of the occasion was the presence of a large number of women physicians, of whom there are 120 in the total enrollment of 2,500 members.

NO TRACE OF MAN WHO SET ARCHBOLD BOMB

Tarrytown Police Now Certain Explosive Was Placed in Roadway Early Saturday Morning.

Despite information received by the New York police to the effect that there was no evidence of a serious attempt upon the life of John D. Archbold in the dynamite found on Saturday in a roadway leading from Mr. Archbold's home in Tarrytown, the police of Tarrytown continued yesterday to look for an assumed criminal who sought the Standard Oil President's life, and it was said positively in the office of Chief of Police William J. Bowles of Tarrytown that the dynamite was so prepared that it would have exploded had Mr. Archbold's automobile, or any vehicle, rolled over a detonating cartridge near it.

According to the Tarrytown police, who said they obtained their information from the gardener who picked up the dynamite, four sticks of it were placed squarely in a wheel rut in the south roadway of the estate within three inches of, but not in contact with, a detonating cartridge and a piece of wire. Had Mr. Archbold's automobile struck the detonating cap, the police, say, it would have exploded and the concussion would have set off the dynamite.

As evidence that there was an attempt upon Mr. Archbold's life, the police point to the fact that the dynamite was evidently placed on Saturday morning prior to the time when Mr. Archbold might be expected to leave for New York, and that the detonation cartridge was nearer to the Archbold home than the dynamite, so that an automobile coming toward the city would strike it first. Regarding the time of the placing of the dynamite, the police have made these deductions: Mr. and Mrs. Archbold on Friday night entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Harden, and others, who left the Archbold estate in their automobile about midnight, so the dynamite was not in the roadway then. A milkman delivered milk to the Archbold home at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning and drove his wagon over the roadway. Furthermore, it rained on Friday night, yet the dynamite was dry when found.

The theory of the Tarrytown police is that some one who had observed the movements about the Archbold estate for some time waited for the milkman to leave the premises, and then placed the dynamite, thinking that Mr. Archbold's automobile would be the next vehicle to pass over the roadway. The police are looking for a tall young man who was recently seen loitering near the Archbold gate.

CHINA WANTS FUNDS, RUSSIA GIVES TERMS

Says Entente Allies Will Aid if Disorders Instigated by Germany Are Stopped.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 22, (via London.)—The Foreign Office, in connection with the proposals made to China by the Entente Allies, says that the Chinese Government requires money to meet obligations contracted two years ago, which are now accruing.

The Entente Allies, it is asserted, are willing to advance the money, provided China will give satisfactory assurance regarding the preservation of domestic tranquillity and will take decisive measures to check disorders instigated by Germany.

The Foreign Office points out that Chinese villagers, aided by native troops, early in the Summer destroyed a German force which was proceeding from Peking to Manchuria with the supposed purpose of cutting the railways, and that Mongol chiefs reported that they had destroyed a similar force in September on the borders of the Mongolia and Manchuria.

ISSUES WANAMAKER REBUKE

Fatherland Says He Withdraws from Anti-German Committee.

The Fatherland, a pro-German weekly paper, sent out last night an announcement that in its next issue it would print the following letter:

Mr. John Moffat, National Allied Relief Committee, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City:

Dear Sir: This is to advise you that the name of Mr. John Wanamaker is to be immediately withdrawn from the membership of the National Allied Relief Committee, as the sentiments expressed by your society, and made public in communications sent out on your letter heads, dated October last, and which just reached Mr. Wanamaker, are not shared by him.

In view of the above, you will therefore please omit the use of Mr. Wanamaker's name from any letter heads or literature that you are at present using or may issue in the future. Yours very truly,

RODMAN WANAMAKER.

The Fatherland will say that the reason for this letter is to be found in the appeal sent out by Henry W. Taft on behalf of the National Allied Relief Committee, from which it will quote this paragraph:

Your sympathy with the great-hearted part America has played in the war—relieving the pitiful suffering brought upon defenseless women and children by the greed of Prussianized Germany—has helped to make possible the faithful performance of America's duty. Until the Allies have accomplished their part, have saved Europe from Prussian militarism, America must not falter. We need your continued help, and we shall continue to discharge faithfully the trust you place in us.

PET ANIMALS FIGURE IN WINTER'S STYLES

FOR AID OF FRENCH ORPHANS

Playlet Introduces Latest Creations from Paris—Society Women as the Patronesses.

A gorgeous blaze of color, the patronage of women in society, and 100 of the loveliest gowns ever shown in New York marked the opening of the Paris Fashion Fête at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday afternoon. The vehicle was a comedietta in two acts, "Betty's Trousseau," written by Roger Boutet de Monvel and produced by Dorothy Donnelly to show to best advantage these beautiful gowns which are to be sold for the benefit of the French Orphans' Fund of the Paris dressmakers.

Upon a small, pretty stage in the ball room were Betty, her aunt, her friend Françoise, just arrived from Paris, and Flora, her maid, who exhibit to Betty the lovely gowns of her trousseau which they have brought for her. Betty adores them all. Betty's aunt gazes at them with wonder and awe. Will her niece wear all those costumes so extraordinarily short, some of them, and so exceedingly gay?

One after another pretty manikins appeared upon the stage, and after they had passed under Betty's eyes the manikins descended steps from the front of the stage and down the centre of the ballroom that the entire audience might see them.

The new frocks showed many things turned apparently topsy-turvy. The skirts, generally very short, were many of them long at the front and at the back, curving up at the sides and showing more hosiery than was pleasing to Betty's aunt. Or if the skirt was not long at the front the curves were down at the sides, the front and back shorter.

Skirts Prettily Lined.

It gave a pretty effect, for the skirts were all lined with some pretty silk or even fur inside the edge. The ruchings worn around the neck, some as a part of the gowns, others separately, white ruching rising from a black band around the throat were very high in the front and lower in the back. A fur cape had the muff made as a part of it. Those were a few of the special features.

Each gown had its name and they all fitted one another. There was Mimi Pinson's one black gown. It was a charming affair as it was seen at the Ritz—black silk with rather deep ruffles, with a little black bag with a note of bright color in it and black hat.

Blue Riding Hood had a white skirt to her gown, a jacket of very dark blue in velvet, and the hat of the same material, in hood effect. Lierre (Ivy) had the edge of the blouse and the lower edge of the skirt with ivy leaves set on. The pretty girl who was La Reve (The Dream) wore the prettiest of blue draperies, with gold and pink. She carried a tiger kitten, which did not like the limelight at all and opened his small mouth to emit a wail.

If Betty follows the examples of the manikins who showed so well her trousseau she will have a small menagerie in her trunks and some other things. The marmoset was carried by one manikin, another carried a little dog, and another, with a brilliant costume, a parrot—this was not alive. A manikin wearing a tea gown that it was necessery to stamp by that name to distinguish it from a ball gown, was smoking a cigarette, and a manikin with a gown of the days of Louis XIV. carried a stick.

There was fur on most of the gowns and some beautiful capes were of fur. A long one reached well below the waist and a pretty and serviceable short one was in full ripples around the shoulders, with only the broad band around the throat in front.

Took Names of Artists.

Some of the artists in gowns took the names of the artists of the brush for their creations. There was Pietro Longhi, the Venetian painter, and the gown suggested his time. There were Velasquez and Goya, and an evening wrap was Beardsley. There was a bright red cockade to the blue hat of the "Lafayette." Postillion was a white suit with high postillion boots. The Cowboy was in black leather for motoring, and the Hirondelle, the swallow, was different from any of the others—of some light, filmy white stuff, the bodice cut low in the back, the front comparatively high of dark velvet, and there were two trains of the dark velvet on either side. The gown was short in the back, the velvet representing the dark breast and wings of the swallow.

The performance will be given every day this week, tomorrow excepted, at 2:30 in the afternoon and 9 in the evening. The best French couturiers are represented. The patronesses are prominent women of New York: Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. William Astor Chanler, Mrs. George J. Gould, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mrs. Ernest Iselin, Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Condé Nast, Mrs. Payne Whitney, and Mrs. Orme Wilson among them. Mme. Ramon Fernandez, who brought the gowns to this country made an address at the opening of the fête.

'BIG 6' PLANS CHARITY BALL.

The sixty-sixth charity ball of Typographical Union No. 6—"Big 6"—will be held on Thanksgiving Eve at Sulzer's Harlem River Casino, 127th Street and Second Avenue.

The proceeds of the printers' ball are devoted to the maintenance of the union's hospital fund, which was created at the foundation of the organization to take care of its sick and disabled members. Beds are maintained in St. Vincent's, St. Mark's, St. Gregory's, Post-Graduate, and New York Hospitals, in Manhattan; St. Mary's, in Brooklyn, and Chester Crest, in Mount Vernon.

KELLY-DAVIS PASTOR SUSPENDED BY CHURCH

Special to The New York Times.

ELKTON, Md., Nov. 22.—The Rev. Henry Carr, who married Eugenia Kelly and Al Davis, admitted tonight he had been temporarily silenced as a minister of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints, for marrying the couple. He will be placed on trial in Philadelphia within a month, he said, before the Rev. Comer T. Griffiths of Columbus, in charge of the Eastern division of the church.

John F. McIntyre, counsel for Mrs. Helen M. Kelly, yesterday made public a letter from the Rev. Henry Carr, written to Mrs. Kelly from Elkton, Md., on Nov. 19. The letter said:

Elkton, Md., Nov. 19, 1915.

Mrs. Helen M. Kelly, New York City:

Dear Madam: I have consulted the best lawyer of this town about the annulment of the marriage of your daughter to Mr. Albert J. Davis. I am the minister who performed the ceremony and I have valuable evidence for you. If you will take the matter up you can come to Elkton and I will meet you at Omer Crowther's law office, or if you desire Mr. Crowther and myself will go to New York if you will bear our expenses. Personally I feel very indignant over the matter, as I was duped in this affair. I do not consider the marriage legal, as it is a violation of the laws of the church I am a minister of. Hoping to hear from you soon, I am, very respectfully yours, HENRY CARR, Minister.

When Al Davis heard that the minister had been silenced for performing the marriage ceremony he said that he had no sympathy for a man who wrote the letter to Eugenia Kelly's mother after marrying them with knowledge of all the facts in the case.

MRS. HALL A SUICIDE, JUSTICE DODGE HOLDS

Broker's Wife Is So Described by Great Neck Coroner in Death Certificate.

Special to The New York Times.

GREAT NECK, L. I., Nov. 22.—Although members of the family of J. Willet Hall, the New York Stock Exchange broker, whose wife, Mrs. Grace H. Hall, died in the Nassau Hospital, Mineola, today from bichloride of mercury poisoning, were still insisting today that she took the tablets by mistake, Justice William A. Dodge, who is ex officio Coroner, described the case as a "suicide" in the death certificate.

Justice Dodge said that "general circumstances" led him to the suicide theory. He is known to have questioned members of the household. Another significant fact was that Dr. Charles I. Niesley of Manhasset, the Halls' family physician, signed the death certificate. Yesterday Dr. Niesley said Mrs. Hall had taken the poison by mistake for aspirin tablets, but today he admitted to a TIMES reporter that his views had changed. Mrs. Hall died a few minutes after 3 o'clock this morning, twelve hours and forty-five minutes after she took the poison.

Mr. Hall was overcome by grief and denied himself to visitors today, but a reporter who went to the house saw Mr. Hall's brother, who said: "It was not suicide. It was a mistake." He added that every funeral in the family for years had been private and that in Mrs. Hall's funeral the established custom would be followed.

Justice Dodge talked with Ellen Collett, the maid, and Catherine Hall, 12 years old, the dead woman's daughter, who were in the house when she took the mercury tablets. The Justice said that he had obtained no written statements from them, but that what they had to tell would come out at the inquest.

MRS. H. FORD GIVES $10,000 FOR PEACE

TO HEAD MOVE OF NEUTRALS

Auto Manufacturer's Wife Wants Woman's League Party to Foster Big Demonstration.

A check for $10,000 was received last evening by Miss Jane Addams, National Chairman of the Woman's Peace Party, from Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of the automobile manufacturer of Detroit, to be used in instituting a great national woman's movement tending to a "just" settlement of the European war.

The money will be expended in telegraph messages to be sent out today to every woman's organization in the country, and to social, religious, educational, industrial, and political organizations, asking that messages be sent immediately to President Wilson requesting him to call a conference of neutral nations to consider the bringing about of a permanent peace.

President Wilson has made an appointment to receive at the White House on Friday afternoon Mrs. Philip Snowden of England, wife of the Member of Parliament, and Mme. Rosika Schwimmer of Hungary, with Henry Ford of Detroit. Mme. Schwimmer and Mrs. Snowden, representing the belligerent nations of the two sides of the war, will present to President Wilson, as delegates from the Women's Peace Conference at The Hague last Spring, the resolutions passed at that time.

The appeals of the women and the mothers of the nation for call for a conference of neutral nations with a view to establishing peace it is desired should reach the President before he receives the delegates, and, if possible, before Thanksgiving.

The presentation of the check by Mrs. Ford follows a visit of Mme. Schwimmer to Detroit last week, when the former became interested in the Hungarian woman's plans for peace. This is Mrs. Ford's first act in any way of a public nature. She has been entirely a home woman, taking no part in activities outside of her own household. In explaining her gift Mrs. Ford said:

"Happy in my own motherhood and in sympathy with the bitter sorrow of the mothers bereaved by the war, I want to foster a demonstration enabling the American women to go on record as favoring a conference working toward a just settlement of the great European tragedy."

The check was brought to New York by Miss Rebecca Shelley, an Ann Arbor college girl, and presented to Miss Addams for Mrs. Ford. Miss Addams had been notified of the gift in advance, and yesterday announced it at the headquarters of the Woman's Peace Party in New York at 553 Fifth Avenue, and immediately, with Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict, began to organize the work and appoint committees to set the machinery in motion today to reach the women of the country.

There will be a small army of clerical workers at the peace headquarters arranging and getting off the telegrams. It will be one of the biggest pieces of work of the kind ever done by a body of women. One hundred members of the Woman's Peace Party have volunteered their services to direct the clerical forces.

Henry Ford made a short stop at the Hotel Biltmore yesterday. He took a night train for Washington, and will return to this city tomorrow morning. It was rumored that on Thursday he will see Cardinal Gibbons to induce him to visit President Wilson, but this was emphatically denied last night by Mr. Ford's secretary.

PRAISE SISTERHOOD'S WORK

Magistrate McAdoo at Meeting in Synagogue Shearith Israel.

The seventh annual meeting of the Sisterhood of the Spanish and Portuguese Synagogue was held last evening in the basement of the Synagogue of the Congregation Shearith Israel at 2 West Seventieth Street.

The congregation is the oldest Jewish assembly of worship in this country. The name Shearith means the remnant, and was used to designate the Spanish and Portuguese Jews who had come to this country after being driven out of Spain by the persecutions of Catholic sovereigns. The first place of worship of the little band was in the old Dutch Reformed Church in 1655, which at that time occupied a site at 24 and 26 William Street.

The sisterhood's work is chiefly in neighborhood settlement activities. Also, through its President, Mrs. Mortimer Menken, it has done a great deal to help wayward Jewish girls in the police courts.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo attended the meeting last evening and praised the work of Mrs. Menken and the sisterhood in lending a helping hand to the Magistrates as well as to the unfortunates. Borough President Marks also spoke on the sort of help that gives independence to the beneficiary.

MELLEN TOOK RISK ON ROOSEVELT HINT

"If I Was In Your Place I'd Buy," President Said of Boston & Maine Proposal.

SAW DANGER IN CASE OF WAR

Told Railroad Man That If He Broke the Law He Must Not Expect Help from White House.

President Roosevelt gave a conditional approval of the purchase of the Boston & Maine Railroad by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, according to the evidence given yesterday by Charles S. Mellen at the trial of eleven ex-Directors of the New Haven before Judge Hunt in the Federal District Court on the charge of conspiring to break the Sherman law. The point which seemed to strike Franklin K. Lane, now the Secretary of the Interior, but then an Interstate Commerce Commissioner, as the important aspect of the proposed deal, was its effect on the national defences. There were rumors that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company of Canada might snap up the Boston & Maine, since it was in the market, and Mr. Lane, in talking over Mr. Mellen's plans, laid stress on the danger of permitting so important a system to fall into alien hands.

The Government put on the stand Lewis A. Bowen, who had been brought all the way from Bremerton, Wash. He was on the stand exactly three minutes. F. M. Dunbaugh, a few weeks ago, had given as one reason why the Enterprise Line failed the number of "deadheads" it carried. Captain Bowen, however, asserted that "deadheads" were better than nothing. They made a new line seem popular and they helped swell the profits of the dining room and bar. Captain Bowen's testimony cost $600.

Conference with Roosevelt.

Mr. Mellen explained how he had gone to see President Roosevelt about the purchase of the Boston & Maine, and how the President had said to him:

"I am no lawyer. If you break the law it will be at your own risk, and you mustn't come back to me to be helped out. But if I was in your place, I would buy."

The President sent Mr. Mellen to Franklin K. Lane, who was then on the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Commissioner went over the situation and said he fully appreciated the danger of permitting the railroads of the United States to fall under alien control.

"It was the military aspect," said Mr. Mellen, "which seemed especially to interest Mr. Lane."

"What gave you the impression that the Boston & Maine would fall under the domination of the Canadian lines?" asked Mr. Batts of counsel for the Government.

"The general atmospheric conditions."

"Did you not send a representative to Canada to get information?"

"Well, there was Mr. Kendrick. But he went on his own hook, and asked a letter of introduction from me. He was just fishing."

"Don't be so general. What was this invasion of Canada?"

"Your question seems pretty general," answered Mr. Mellen. "Kendrick went there without any hope or desire on my part. He was a broker and he went on his own responsibility to make a dollar, and he ascertained that the Canadian Pacific had no intention of taking the Boston & Maine."

Olney Consulted Mellen.

Mr. Batts took up the acquisition of the stock of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven on July 13, 1907, through the exchange of 109,948 shares of one company for a like quantity of stock of the other.

The Massachusetts Legislature, however, by the Cole act, passed on June 27, 1907, forbade the New Haven to purchase or vote the stock of the Boston & Maine. This condition lasted until in the Summer of 1908 a bill was passed permitting the New Haven to acquire the Boston & Maine.

A letter by Mr. Mullen to Richard Olney concerning the Boston & Maine, written April 23, 1908, in reply to an inquiry about reducing the Boston & Maine's dividend, ran as follows:

> Our company will not be seriously disappointed if the dividend is reduced to a figure that the company can well afford to pay. It is our belief that it has been paying too much in the way of dividend for some years back. At the time we acquired the stock my report to the Directors was that the dividends ought not to be in excess of 6 per cent., and I was in grave doubt whether it could be maintained at that figure with the money needed for improvements on the line.

In reply to this letter Mr. Olney thanked Mr. Mellen for the "pointer."

Billard Under Fire.

Mr. Batts introduced evidence concerning the New England Investment and Security Company, which Mr. Mellen stated was a Connecticut corporation formed to take over the Massachusetts trolley lines after the Legislature had objected to their control by the New Haven.

He believed in the company himself as an investment and he induced some of the New Haven Directors to buy in at 100. It did not pay, however, and Mr. Mellen testified that he put his hand in his own pocket and in eighteen months paid out to the Directors $17,000 as interest. Then he bought the stock back from them at 150, but found purchasers for it at 200. The New England Navigation Company, however, had always had the control of this concern, and Mr. Batts went on:

"Did the Navigation Company enter into negotiatons with Mr. Billard?"

Richard A. Lindabury at once stepped forward and accepted the challenge.

"Right here, your Honor," he said, "are we going into all this Billard business? It has nothing whatever to do with the charge in this trial. It appears that the New Haven sold certain stock to John L. Billard, and a year and a half later bought it back for the Boston Holding Company."

Judge Hunt admitted that he hesitated about taking up the matter, but Mr. Batts asserted that in the Boston & Maine deal, the Metropolitan Steamship Company deal, and others the Billard Company was used.

The adjournment was taken until this morning with the question of the admission of the Billard evidence still undecided.

"THREE MATES LAW" HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Federal Court Imposes a $500 Fine on the Steamship Edgar F. Luckenbach.

Judge Hough upheld in the Federal District Court yesterday the constitutionality of the "three mates law," which requires all steam vessels of United States register of more than 1,000 tons gross burden and sailing a voyage of more than 400 miles to carry three licensed mates. The Government was suing the owners of the steamship Edgar F. Luckenbach for a penalty of $500 for a breach of this law, and the decision was rendered yesterday on a demurrer interposed by Assistant District Attorney John Hunter, Jr., to the answer filed by Peter S. Carter, counsel for the shipowners.

In this answer all the facts in the complaint of the Government were admitted, but it was contended that it had been impossible at the time the Edgar F. Luckenbach sailed to get a third mate, and that sailing with only two did not in any way impair the seaworthiness of the vessel. It was argued that the act requiring the third mate was unconstitutional as it prevented the pursuit of a lawful occupation, deprived the defendants of their property without due process of law, and was unreasonable, arbitrary, and oppressive.

Judge Hough said it was no valid objection to the constitutionality of a Congressional act to show that it was harsh or oppressive, for any power to regulate implied the power to destroy in part, and the power of Congress to regulate commerce was plenary.

"There is, perhaps," the Judge said, "a difference in degree but not in kind between regulations as to the number of lifeboats and thickness of boilers and such a statute as is here concerned. Requirements as to lifeboats and boilers and as to number of mates are obviously all built upon the same foundation—i. e., legislative opinion as to what makes for safety, comfort, ease, and humanity. Such considerations are for the legislature, and not for the courts. No doubt is entertained but that the act is constitutional upon its face, in the sense that it relates to a matter within legislative power and is made along familiar and proper lines in the exercise thereof."

SMITH'S ASSIGNMENT IS FILED IN NEWARK

Fidelity Trust Co., as Trustee, Is Preparing a Schedule of the Assets.

TO ADVERTISE FOR CLAIMS

No Run on Federal Trust Co., but Deposits Exceed Withdrawals —Resources Are Abundant.

Ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., who resigned last Saturday as President of the Federal Trust Company of Newark because of financial troubles, filed in the Essex County Registrar's office yesterday an assignment which places his estate under the control of the Fidelity Trust Company as trustee "forever." The other steps necessary to begin a settlement of Mr. Smith's tangled finances will be taken as soon as a schedule of the assets can be made.

This work was begun yesterday, and Register Walter A. Evans will submit it to the Orphans' Court, which must approve the trusteeship and fix the Fidelity Company's bonds. Then the trust company will advertise for the submission to it within thirty days of all claims of creditors, and after that for the first time an exact accounting of Mr. Smith's affairs can be had.

There were all sorts of rumors in Newark yesterday as to the amount Mr. Smith could pay on each dollar of indebtedness. Some estimates ran from 15 to 35 cents. Uzal H. McCarter, President of the Fidelity Trust Company, declined to give any information, however, saying he could make no estimate until the last claim had been filed.

It is estimated that the Federal Trust Company carried nearly $500,000 worth of its President's paper, but the company is said to be so well protected that a Director declared it was not liable for "one dollar of Mr. Smith's paper." Many of his notes were indorsed by men of sound financial standing and others were secured by collateral. All of the indorsers are said to have assured the Federal Company that they are ready and able to meet all obligations.

The faith of the public in the Federal Trust Company was disclosed by the absence of anything like a run on the institution though, in anticipation of some such manifestation of nervousness, the doors of the company were opened yesterday at 7:45 o'clock instead of at 10 o'clock. There was plenty of cash on hand and extra clerks and tellers were waiting in nearby banks to handle the currency should a run develop. Instead, however, there were more deposits than withdrawals in the first few hours and, at the end of the day, Christian W. Feigenspan, the new President of the company, said:

"The day was not up to a normal Monday, so far as withdrawals are concerned, but it was above normal in the matter of deposits. I recognize some of the latter were complimentary and made by friends of mine and the company to show their faith. I would prefer, however, to give out no figures until the end of the week, when a better comparison may be made."

Securities of the Federal Company were examined yesterday after the time lock had released them in the vaults of the Fidelity Company, where they had been placed on Saturday, and they were found to tally absolutely with the records. If further cause for confidence were needed it was supplied after this examination when this statement was issued over the signatures of President McCarter of the Fidelity, William Scheerer, President of the Union National Bank, and Charles L. Farrell, President of the Essex County National Bank:

> At the request of the State and Federal officials having supervision over the banking institutions of this city, concurred in by the Directors of the Federal Trust Company, we have, with the aid of competent assistants, either selected by ourselves or belonging to the State Banking Department, made an examination of the condition of the Federal Trust Company as of the close of business, Saturday, Nov. 20, 1915.
> We unanimously report, after such examination, that in our opinion the said Federal Trust Company is in sound and safe condition, with abundant resources to meet every obligation of depositors and other creditors, and to leave still remaining for the stockholders, after the satisfaction of every claim, the capital of $1,000,000 and the surplus of $500,000, and a large amount of undivided profits.
> We hold ourselves ready to extend to the Federal Trust Company, if necessary, the aid of the banks we represent.

Walter F. Albertson, a Vice President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of Manhattan, was a visitor at the Federal Trust Company while the examination was made. He said he had visited the company at the invitation of Charles Starek, Chief Federal Examiner for the New York district. He declined, however, to discuss the situation.

HUGHES OFFICIALLY PUT OUT OF RACE

Nebraska State Secretary Acts On Justice's Request To Withdraw Name From Primary Ballots.

LINCOLN, Nov. 22.—Secretary of State Pool of Nebraska, today announced that he would grant the request of Associate Justice Hughes of the Supreme Court and withdraw the latter's name from the Nebraska primary ballot as a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination.

Justice Hughes' request was received by Mr. Pool today and the Secretary of State immediatedly notified the signers of the petition of his decision.

"Exercising the authority which I feel I am warranted in using," said Mr. Pool in his communication to the signers, "I have decided to follow the wishes of Justice Hughes in this particular, believing that he, as a member of the highest court of the land, would not request me to do that which was contrary to the existing laws. Should you feel that I have erred in this ruling, I shall be pleased to have you take it before the courts of our State for final adjudication."

A similar petition placing on file the name of Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, as a Presidential candidate is before the Secretary of State. It is understood that Mr. Thompson will request the withdrawal of his name. Mr. Pool has indicated that he will comply upon the receipt of a message from the Chicago official.

Special to The New York Times.

OMAHA, Nov. 22.—Unless Theodore Roosevelt requests the withdrawal of his name from the Nebraska Presidential ballots it will go before the Nebraska voters at the State-wide primary. Secretary of State Pool today announced that Mr. Roosevelt is still a candidate in this State, and that only the Colonel himself can withdraw his candidacy.

Two years ago Roosevelt's petition was filed by Colonel John O. Yerser who, in 1912, introduced the Colonel to the State as a Progressive. Yerser sought to withdraw his petition last week. The Secretary of State took the request under advisement, and today announced that none but Roosevelt himself can withdraw his candidacy.

the National Foreign Trade Council for the furtherance of American export trade. Mr. Straight resigned from J. P. Morgan & Co. a few weeks ago in order to take up the study of international law at Columbia, but the inducements offered him to join in the National City Bank's plans for getting foreign trade proved so attractive that he relinquished his law studies yesterday to devote his time to the new company.

One of the bankers who will be associated with Mr. Vanderlip in financing the development corporation said the charter would be drawn broadly enough to permit the company to engage in almost any business. When asked for his idea of the possibilities he said:

"In brief, we hope to go after the business which this country should do abroad and bring it here. The United States has figured little in construction work in South America, Russia, or the East. That was because we ourselves were borrowers of capital. Opportunity offers now to get the trade that we are capable of handling. The idea will be successful if American investors accustom themselves to foreign investments. The money that is pouring in now from the belligerents belongs to them, in the sense that it should be put to work doing what it would have accomplished in other fields but for the war."

There is no European company working on just the lines laid down for the development corporation, but a parallel is furnished by some of the large German banks. J. G. White & Co., Inc., and the Stone & Webster Engineering Company have accomplished in part what the new company hopes to do.

Forgan Considering Plan.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 22.—James B. Forgan, President of the First National Bank, said tonight that he knew of the big $50,000,000 company being organized to develop foreign trade, but that so far he was not affiliated with it.

"It may be that I will be interested in it later," he added. "I heard the proposition discussed when I was in New York."

Mr. Forgan said he had nothing to say at this time as to the possibilities of the company. He did not know whether any local capitalists were interested in the venture.

Cyrus H. McCormick and J. Ogden Armour, named in a New York dispatch as being principals in the company, could not be reached tonight.

JEWISH CADETS ON HIKE.

200 Will March from Trenton and Give Drill on Their Return.

Two companies of the cadets of the battalion of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum will leave for Trenton, N. J., today and will immediately begin a march back to this city, cheered by a fife and drum corps. They will spend one night in the open under tents of their own. On Thursday afternoon they will be reviewed at the stadium of the College of the City of New York by Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan of the National Guard and his staff.

The 200 marchers are volunteers of the 800 cadets of the asylum. The public is invited to be present on Thanksgiving Day and watch them drill. A band of ninety pieces will furnish the music. Admission to the stadium will be free. Among the prominent men who have accepted invitations to be present are Acting Mayor George McAneny, District Attorney Perkins, Sheriff Grifenhagen, District Attorney-elect Swann, Louis Stern, President of the asylum; Supreme Court Justice Newburger, and all of the Borough Presidents.

CARRIES 770 FOR LIVERPOOL.

The Philadelphia Sails After Five Weeks' Layup for Repairs.

The American liner Philadelphia sailed at noon yesterday for Liverpool with 770 passengers of all classes and 2,500 sacks of mail, after being laid up five weeks in Erie Basin. During that time her mainmast was taken out to reduce the topweight and allow for the turning gear that was fitted to the boat davits to comply with the new seamen's law. Also new tubes were put into all her boilers and a motor lifeboat was placed upon her upper deck.

Among the passengers was B. G. Work, President of the United Rubber Company, who said he was going to Europe on business. The principal supply of rubber was coming now from the East Indies, and amounted to 100,000 tons a year, he said, but about 30,000 tons came from Brazil, not of such a good quality.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., sailed on the Philadelphia on his way to Constantinople to join his father, the United States Ambassador, who has been living in the Turkish capital alone since Mrs. Morgenthau returned to New York.

$30,000,000 NEEDED FOR JEWS IN EUROPE

Business Men's League Organized to Relieve Sufferers by the War.

APPEAL FROM J. H. SCHIFF

Says Each of 3,000,000 American Jews Could Care for at Least One in War Zone.

A movement to raise millions of dollars for the relief of Jewish war sufferers in Europe was inaugurated last night at a meeting of Jewish business and professional men in the Hotel McAlpin. The Rev. Dr. J. L. Magnes, presided, and those who spoke were Jacob H. Schiff, Congressman Meyer London, Herman Bernstein, and Colonel Harry Cutler of Providence. The meeting was not so largely attended as had been anticipated, a fact that caused Mr. Schiff to express his disapproval of the apparent lack of interest in the Jewish situation in Europe in very plain terms.

It was announced that an effort would be made to reach every Jewish citizen of this country in the campaign that is about to start. Mr. Schiff said there was no reason why the Jews of America should not contribute at least $30,000,000 for the relief of the sufferers in the greatest calamity that has overtaken the Jewish people in centuries. A conservative estimate of the number of Jews who are suffering in Russia, Poland, Galicia, and Palestine was placed at about 5,000,000 by Dr. Magnes.

In opening the meeting, Dr. Magnes read a telegram from Nathan Straus indorsing the movement and calling upon the Jews of the country to respond generously to an appeal for funds. Dr. Magnes said the Jewish people here do not realize the extent of the suffering among the Jews in Europe.

Dr. Magnes Appeals.

"I would like to ask each of you, as man to man," said Dr. Magnes, "if you know what is going on in Europe. Do you know what is happening to the Jewish people? I would like to ask of you where you came from, where your father and mother came from. You are business men and you are busy from morning until night. You have no time, no heart, no mind, to realize what is happening to the men and women and children of the Jewish people. I should like to ask you if you are making uniforms, if you are making shoes for soldiers, or if you are engaged in manufacturing the instruments of war. I know that some of you are. I know that some are piling up dollars and wealth. Do you know that old men and women and children are going about, mile upon mile, are being driven from one place to another, driven by the lash, going about like beasts in the field, holding out their hands to you and to me?

"Those poor people, our people, say that their only hope is in America. Do you not represent in part the Jewry of America? You are business men of America, and I want to know what you are going to do about it. There are hundreds of thousands to be cared for, men and women and children, little children whose fathers are in trenches fighting in some instances for lands that have always oppressed them.

"This is the great test of Jewry in America. What are we made of? Of what mettle are we? If there is any heroism in us now is the time to show it.

"There is one man in America who has given of his large wealth more actual dollars than has any other Jew. But that man did not win his place as the foremost Jew in this land because he has given large sums of money, but because he has given his heart, has worked day and night to solve the problems of the Jews. Every one must realize that there is no other Jew who makes more actual sacrifices than he to whom I refer, Jacob H. Schiff."

Schiff Wants $30,000,000 Raised.

Mr. Schiff was then called on as the next speaker.

"We are not here," he said, "to throw bouquets at each other. We are here for serious business and to cooperate in what I believe should be done is the reason of my presence here tonight. I am greatly surprised that a great many more are not present. I expected to find the hall packed, but instead I see but a handful. I am deeply disappointed. What is one evening to give to such a work as this? What are we going to do? What can we do? We have organized a relief committee and in the year and a half the war has lasted we have raised $1,300,000, and what is that sum to the 3,000,000 Jews in America—3,000,000 Jews of whom at least 100,000 are rich people? It would not be to much for us to raise $30,000,000.

"We must give more, a great deal more, if these men, women, and children, who are of our bone and flesh and blood are not to perish. I think that each Jew in America could at least care for one Jew in the war zones of Europe. Some could be responsible even for a hundred or a thousand. Thank God, I can be responsible for a great many, and I propose to do my duty toward them. I have always been a defender of the Jew, and I believe even the Jew whose fortune is but a pittance has something left that he can give to his suffering brother across the waters."

Congressman London and Colonel Cutler added their appeal for generous contributions to the proposed relief fund.

Committees, and headquarters of the Business Men's League, which is the name of the new organization, will be announced in a few days.

DR. JOAQUIN B. CALVO DIES IN WASHINGTON

Minister from Costa Rica to the United States for 18 Years Was a Noted Diplomat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Dr. Joaquin Bernardo Calvo, for many years Minister from Costa Rica to the United States, was found dead in bed at his home, 1,502 Seventeenth Street, Northwest, this morning. He had died during the night of heart disease. For many years Dr. Calvo was the best known Latin-American diplomat in Washington. At the time he gave up his position as Minister early in 1914, Dr. Calvo was the ranking diplomat of Ministerial rank in Washington.

Besides his wife, eight children, Arthur Calvo of New York, Maria Dolores Calvo, who is in a convent in Albany, N. Y., José Martin Calvo of New York, Mrs. Marta Calvo Harrington of Costa Rica, Celena Dorared Calvo, Rafael del Car en Calvo, Luisita G. Calvo, and Joaquin Bernard Calvo, Jr., a newspaper man of Cleveland, Ohio, survive him.

Dr. Calvo was born at San José, Costa Rica, July 10, 1857. He was educated in San José, and married Señorita Marie Leon of Guatemala in 1881. He founded the first daily newspaper ever published in Costa Rica, in 1885. SETS ASIDE VERDICT CLEARING LITTLE Secretary Daniels Disapproves Finding, but Will Not Reconvene the Court.

WARNS OLDER OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Secretary Daniels today disapproved the findings of the general court-martial which acquitted Rear Admiral William N. Little, retired, of charges of negligence in connection with his duty as Inspector during the construction of the submarine K-2. No new trial, however, will be ordered.

A statement issued by the department said that in view of the expense of further proceedings and the admitted personal and official integrity of Admiral Little, the findings merely had been disapproved without reconvening the court.

"An important sidelight upon the attitude of Admiral Little in the performance of his duties as Inspector," said the statement, "is shown by the testimony of Lieutenant Moses, wherein he states that Rear Admiral Little was not easily approachable, and that he, Moses, was made to feel that his opinions and recommendations would preferably be made to Rear Admiral Little's assistants. This attitude is furthermore exemplified in Rear Admiral Little's own testimony, wherein he refers to Moses's representations concerning the battery as 'kicks,' and wherein he states that they were 'kicking all the time about one thing or another.'"

The department deplores this attitude on the part of an officer, the statement says, and then continues:

"The court after mature deliberation most fully and honorably acquitted Rear Admiral Little of the charges. The department is unable to concur with the court, or, after careful review of the evidence, to ascertain the reasons governing it in its acquittal. In view, however, of the impracticability and expense attending the reconvening of the court, and the fact that Rear Admiral Little is now no longer on inspection duty, and of the improbability of his method being followed by other officers on inspection duty, and in view of his admitted personal and official integrity, the department has disapproved the findings and acquittal, without reconvening the court for reconsideration thereof."

Secretary Daniels said that his chief reason for disapproving the action was because he wished to impress on older officers the necessity of giving full weight to the recommendations of their juniors.

Lieutenant Moses was on duty, in preparation for taking command of the vessel when it was commissioned. Testimony at the court-martial, which convened at Boston on Nov. 1, showed that Lieutenant Moses complained of bad workmanship in installation of the boat's storage batteries. Examination of several cells showed lead drops in them. Lieutenant Moses desired to have more cells examined, but Admiral Little accepted the boat from her builders on the contractor's assurance that the batteries would be repaired without charge should they later prove defective. The contractor now is repairing the batteries without cost, although under no legal obligation to do so.

The K-2 was accepted in January, 1914. Rear Admiral Little's court-martial was ordered by Secretary Daniels on Oct. 16 on reports of her officers which told of the imperfections of her batteries.

NOTED MEN MEET TO AID CITY BOYS

PRAISED BY THE GOVERNOR

Bishop Greer and Head of Children's Court Favor Plans to Give New York Lads a Better Chance.

The Boy Scout movement in New York was boomed yesterday when about 200 prominent citizens met in the Aldermanic Chamber at the City Hall and discussed plans for the betterment of conditions surrounding boy life in the city. President McAneny of the Aldermen, who is Acting Mayor during Mr. Mitchel's illness, said that he had called the meeting because he felt it was time something was done to relieve the lot of the young folks, and he wished to give the movement at least the informal support of the administration.

Cleveland H. Dodge presided. Among the speakers were Dr. C. Ward Crampton, Director of Physical Training in the public schools; Park Commissioner John E. Weier of Queens, Lorillard Spencer, Scout Commissioner of Manhattan and the Bronx; Woodruff Leeming, the architect, and President of the Brooklyn Borough Council of Boy Scouts; James E. West, executive officer of the Boy Scouts; Mortimer H. Schiff, John Sherman Hoyt, Park Commissioner Cabot Ward of Manhattan, William D. Willcox, Daniel C. Beard, and Bishop Greer. Justice Franklin C. Hoyt of the Children's Court, a leader in the Boy Scout movement, sent a letter to Theodore Rousseau, the Mayor's secretary. Governor Whitman also sent a letter.

A man who said he was M. G. Heidelberg created some excitement by demanding to know if the Boy Scouts belonged to a military organization. He was told that they did not and that it was not intended to change the organization in that respect. In opening the meeting Acting Mayor McAneny said:

"As I understand it, there is at present an Advisory Committee operating in the city in touch with the Boy Scout movement. It is a part of the purpose of this meeting to agree upon a basis for the enlargement of that committee, giving greater representation to some interests that are not at present represented, and enabling those who are at the head of the work to get into closer and more effective touch with other agencies working for the improvement of boy conditions. In other words, it is desired to lend the influence of the Boy Scout movement to other work for boys—to bring about a larger degree of coöperation than has been previously possible."

Governor Whitman in his letter said:

> I believe that this is one of the best agencies today for the development into good citizens of the youth of our country, for it not only awakens through the instruction of "do a good turn daily" a desire to serve the community, but what is more, the observance of the "scout law" tends to develop strong character.
> If only a small percentage of the boys who take the "scout oath" are permanently affected by it, the nation is richer in consequence, and is deeply indebted to the many men who are giving their time as leaders. The problem of national preparedness would be less acute today if hundreds of thousands of the men of the present generation had qualified in their boyhood as first-class scouts.

Justice Hoyt wrote:

> The Children's Court is peculiarly interested in this matter because we, who have actual experience in dealing with juvenile delinquency, are constantly impressed with the fact that much of our work would be unnecessary if the boy had the proper environment and leadership during his leisure time.
> The value of the Boy Scout movement has so impressed me as a program for the time outside of the schoolroom for the boy that I have accepted the Chairmanship of the Advisory Committee of Greater New York, and am interested in the present effort that is now being made to have the movement better understood by the people of New York as one of the means of meeting the boy problem of the greater city.

Theodore N. Vail, President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, also sent a letter, in which he made several suggestions for carrying on the movement. He said he thought plans should be made to give the youth a larger and better opportunity to see the large collections, scientific and artistic, in this city by taking them to the museums under proper guardianship and having "story tellers" interest them in and explain to them what they see in an interesting way. This was done in Boston, he said, with great success.

Bishop Greer said that, in his opinion, the boy problem in the city was a bigger one than the Boy Scout movement, although he was in agreement with the organization. In outlining the plan and purpose of the movement Mr. West said:

"There are at present 5,700 scouts registered in New York. There are approximately 500,000 boys of scout age in the city. The framework and machinery of scouting have been developed by the untiring devotion of strong, clean men through a period of five years and the organization is now ready to extend its benefits to an enormously larger number in the five boroughs. Eighty thousand is the number aimed at if the means are forthcoming to purchase the necessary equipment and provide camping funds."

Mr. West announced that there would be a rally of scouts on Dec. 4 which would be reviewed by President Wilson. The Boy Scouts of America will launch a four-day campaign to raise $200,000 as a three-year budget for the boys of the city. A resolution was adopted asking the Acting Mayor to appoint a committee of 50 or 100 citizens to act as an advisory committee to assist the borough councils.

Stewart Estate Seeks Exemption.

Daniel Burke, a lawyer at 44 Pine Street, appearing in behalf of the estate of John W. Stewart, once Governor and later United States Senator in Vermont, yesterday asked the Surrogates' Court to declare as exempt from taxation any securities which the Governor might have held in this State. The application contained the statement that the decedent was a resident of Middlebury, Vt., where he died on Oct. 29.

$463,399 IN MURRAY ESTATE.

Largest Bequest Is to Sand Contractor's Daughter.

John Murray, sand contractor and once member of the Tammany Hall General Committee, left a net estate of $463,399 when he died on July 5, 1914, according to the appraisal of his estate, filed yesterday in the office of the State Controller by Transfer Tax Appraiser Ludden. The largest bequest was $100,000 in cash and a life income from a trust fund of $245,899 to Mrs. Alice Gallagher, a daughter.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul receives $10,000, while a similar sum is left with the Rev. Henry A. Brann as a trust to be used to educate young men for the priesthood. There is a bequest of $3,500 to the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor, and $2,000 each to St. Francis Hospital, House of the Good Shepherd, Sisters of the Divine Compassion, Corpus Christi Monastery, Misericorde Hospital, Little Sisters of the Assumption, and St. Joseph's Home for Consumptives.

There are bequests to other relatives. Mary Reilly, a sister, receives $25,000 in cash; Bridget Carroll, another sister, receives the life income from $25,000, and Frank Carroll, a nephew, receives a like bequest. There are bequests of $5,000 each to the following nieces and nephews: Catharine, John, Thomas, and Leo Murray and Mary Smith.

Claim Against Estate of Nellie M. Noe Referred to Court.

A claim of $99,568 for professional services made by Dr. Joseph Byrne of 244 West 101st Street against the estate of Nellie M. Noe, who died on March 9, 1914, is part of the record submitted to the Surrogates' Court yesterday in an application by the executors to have the will construed.

There is no statement in the papers as to what specific services the physician rendered, but Edward M. Burghard, a lawyer of 111 Broadway, who said that he could speak for Dr. Byrne, explained that the physician had attended the testatrix three times daily for four years. The claim has been rejected, with an offer to settle when the matter has been passed upon by the court.

A claim of Annie Doyle for services as nurse and housekeeper, amounting to $4,530, was settled for $3,610, the record shows, while $1,830 for nurse services of Annie Quinn has been paid.

The executors wish to have the court pass upon whether the testatrix willed to have certain "pecuniary" bequests paid out of the sale or the rentals of her real estate. It is recited in the papers that on Nov. 28, 1908, when the will was signed, the realty amounted to about $230,000 and the personalty about $20,000. On March 9, 1914, when the testatrix died, the realty had decreased to about $100,000 and the personalty had increased to more than $29,000.

It is further recited that the "pecuniary" bequests total about $97,000 and that the residuary estate is to be divided equally between the Presbyterian Hospital and Robert Caterson of 4,314 Verie Avenue, the Bronx, a nephew.

DE LACY LEFT A MILLION.

One Daughter of Former Poolroom Owner Receives Bulk of Estate.

The will of Peter De Lacy, disposing of an estate estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000, was filed for probate in the Surrogates' Court yesterday. Mr. De Lacy was once prominent as the proprietor of poolrooms; later, he figured in the fight against horse racing here and in New Jersey.

The residuary estate, estimated at at about $700,000, is left for the life benefit of Alice De Lacy Ratcliffe of 19 West Seventy-first Street, a daughter. Upon her death, her share is to be divided for the benefit of her children, Virginia and Dorothy Ratcliffe.

There are bequests of $100,000 each to Agnes C. McCormack of 219 West Eighty-first Street, described in the will as "my friend," and Peter D. Kiernan of Albany, a nephew of Mr. De Lacy, is amed as sole executor and trustee without bond.

Catherine De Lacy, residing at the Hotel Hargrave, another daughter, receives the property at 141 West Forty-second Street and the contents of the place. The two grandchildren, Virginia and Dorothy Ratcliffe, share equally in the additional bequest of 125 and 127 West Forty-second Street, and the contents. There are bequests of $10,000 each to: Agnes Egan Del Campo, St. Petersburg, Fla., a niece; John J. Scannell of Freeport, L. I., a friend; and the sisters, Alice De Lacy Fisher and Mary De Lacy Sennett of Albany.

The will, filed by lawyer F. Danaher of Albany, was signed on Feb. 5, 1914, and witnessed by Edward J. Maguire of 36 East Eighty-first Street and Jennie R. McAuley of 506 Macon Street, Brooklyn.

Von Waldersee Estate Exempt.

Surrogate Fowler yesterday handed down a decision in which he finds that the securities held in this State by Countess Mary Esther von Waldersee, widow of the German Field Marshal, are exempt from taxation under the transfer tax law. The Countess died at her home, in Hanover, Germany, on July 4, 1914, and, the Surrogate finds, was a resident of the Kaiser's domain. Her holdings here are estimated at less than $50,000.

MOTON IS FAVORED AS TUSKEGEE HEAD

Hampton Institute Commandant Is Urged as Successor to Booker T. Washington.

TWO OTHERS ARE DISCUSSED

Warren Logan and E. J. Scott Already Officers of School—Familiar with Dead Educator's Plans.

The necessity of selecting a head to Tuskegee Institute, to succeed the late Dr. Booker T. Washington, is being seriously considered by the Trustees of that institution. Several of the Northern Trustees, including Seth Low, William G. Willcox, and William J. Schieffelin, met yesterday afternoon at the Downtown Association and talked the matter over in an informal way. They also discussed the proposed Booker T. Washington Fund, which will greatly aid Tuskegee, as well as honor Dr. Washington's memory. The selection of a new head of the institute will not be made until the full board meets. That will be early in next month.

At Tuskegee is felt the vital necessity of choosing a man who will be able to carry out the aims and the hopes of Dr. Washington, continuing to lead the great institution along the progressive lines he did. While the Trustees who met yesterday here were unwilling to discuss candidates or to forecast the action of the board, dispatches from Tuskegee predict that Major Robert R. Moton, commandant of cadets at Hampton Institute, will succeed Dr. Washington.

Two other candidates have been mentioned. They are Warren Logan and Emmet J. Scott, who have for years assisted Dr. Washington in his work and were in his confidence as to future plans. Logan came to Tuskegee as Vice Principal and Treasurer in 1883, when the institute was two years old. His work has kept him at the institute almost continuously, and he is comparatively unknown except to those persons who have been actively interested in Tuskegee. Mr. Scott came to Tuskegee twenty years ago as secretary to Dr. Washington. Later he became Secretary of the institute, and no man, it is said, was closer to the dead educator than he. Both Mr. Logan and Mr. Scott have a considerable following, and both would be acceptable to the white people of the town of Tuskegee and the neighboring sections of the State.

Those who know the negro race say Major Moton is the man best equipped to take Dr. Washington's place as leader of the colored people.

Major Moton's selection would be welcomed by the Tuskegee Faculty, it is said, and many believe that he would be Dr. Washington's own choice. He accompanied the latter on many of his trips and filled engagements that Dr. Washington could not fill and in this way shared in the doctor's labors.

The Booker T. Washington Memorial Fund will be another subject taken up at the December meeting of the board. There is no doubt of favorable action on the project. One of the tasks of Dr. Washington was the raising of $200,000 a year and this duty will devolve upon his successor. The purpose of the contemplated memorial is to honor the name of Booker T. Washington, and those who have the interests of Tuskegee at heart believe that can be done in no better way than in the creation of a great fund for the advancement of the work to which Dr. Washington devoted his life. The demand for such an enduring monument to Dr. Washington comes from all over the the nation, from white and black alike. This is evidenced by the letters the Trustees have received since Dr. Washington died.

Because of this general desire to honor the educator's memory a nation-wide appeal for contributions is to be made, and every section will be given an opportunity to share in this mark of respect to Dr. Washington's memory.

Gov. Fielder Honors Washington.

ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 22.—Governor James F. Fielder heartily approved of the selection of Dec. 9 as "Booker Washington Day" in a letter to William P. Burrell of East Orange received today. The Governor's letter was as follows:

"I most heartily approve of the intention of your committee to make Dec. 9 'Booker Washington Day.' Mr. Washington was a great man and a born leader, whose keen insight into human nature, combined with the development of his mind, made him a power in this country for good, and a powerful influence for bringing about a better understanding between his race and mine. His loss will be keenly felt, and I hope that the efforts you are making for concerted action to offer deserved tributes to his memory on the day in question will be successful, through that general support which your efforts are entitled to receive."

EXPERTS DISAGREE ON COST OF RADIUM

PRICE NOW $87,500 A GRAM

Government Got Carnotite Ore Free, It Is Alleged—Movement to Control Mines.

Dr. C. Everett Field, the representative of the Radium Chemical Company in this city, yesterday assailed the policy of the Government toward the radium industry in connection with the assertion of the Bureau of Mines that it had cut the cost of the extraction of radium to about one-third of the present selling price, which is $120,000 a gram.

"The Government," he said, "has entered into an agreement with a private corporation, the National Radium Institute, by which that corporation is greatly benefited, and other interests which might wish a supply of radium are excluded. Whether it has evolved a process which will reduce the cost of radium extraction to $37,000 a gram remains to be seen. The cost of making radium of the first grade of purity is actually $87,500 a gram, according to sworn testimony given a year ago. This allows nothing for the capital invested, the overhead charges, the tremendous expenses of research work, and many other things, not to mention selling expenses and profit. The price of $120,000 a gram, which at present is asked by the leading radium companies, is not excessive. To produce a gram of radium at least 250 tons of carnotite ore are required which sold at $70 to $80 a ton before the war began. The ore has constantly been increasing in price.

Ore Treated 280 Times.

"This ore must be treated from 280 to 300 times with acids and the process is carried through four months of manipulation. The new process as far as can be learned calls for acids of greater strength and is shorter, but what is gained in time is lost in higher cost of the chemicals. The carnotite which the Government used in its experiments was given to it by the Crucible Steel Company. It was refuse left over from the mining of vanadium ores. The material cost nothing. This estimate does not include the high salaries of Government experts, and many other expenses such as the manufacturer has to incur.

"The National Radium Institute is backed by Dr. H. A. Kelly of Baltimore, who owns a large private sanitarium in that city for the treatment of cancer with radium, and by Dr. James Douglass, a mining engineer, who is at the head of the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. of this city.

"The radium which is derived at present from these experiments of the Government in Colorado, is to go to Dr. Kelly's Hospital and to the General Memorial Hospital of this city, which now has 400 milligrams. After that the twenty-two hospitals of the United States Public Health Service are to be supplied. This would, of course, take several years. There is a movement on foot also for the Government to confiscate all radium lands in the United States. The whole proceeding is unfair to the pioneer radium miners. As a matter of fact, despite this announcement by the Bureau of Mines, there is no $37,000 radium to be bought."

Had No Radium for Sale.

Dr. Joseph B. Bissell, head of the recently organized New York Radium Hospital, on hearing that the Bureau of Mines was producing radium so cheaply, wrote to ask if the institution would be able to buy some and received the reply that there was none for sale.

The Radium Chemical Company, which has works in Pittsburgh and offices in New York at 50 East Forty-first Street, is the selling organization of the Standard Chemical Company, of which Joseph M. Flannery is the head. It has 400 claims in the Paradox Valley in Colorado near the mines from which the Government supply of carnotite is drawn, and controls, it is stated, one-fiftieth of the sources of radium in this country. The W. L. Cummings Company of Pennsylvania, and the Schlesinger Company of Denver also produce radium.

LIEBLER PLEADS POVERTY.

Former Head of Theatrical Firm Denies He Can Pay $29.

Theodore A. Liebler, former head of Liebler & Co., theatrical producers, was examined in supplementary proceedings yesterday in the City Court because he had failed to pay a judgment for $29.21 obtained in a Municipal Court by Frederick A. Richmond.

Mr. Liebler said he was prosperous a year ago, but that he was utterly without means now. He lived in an apartment house in West Eighty-third Street, near Columbus Avenue, but his wife paid the rent and met all of the household bills. His personal expenses were paid with borrowed money. He had no jewelry and no stocks nor bonds.

It Is a School's Work That Counts

CONCENTRATION is the keynote of our work. Before a boy leaves here he has learned once for all to keep his mind on one thing at a time. It is not a cramming process. It is simply utilizing the moments a boy wastes if he lets his mind wander. These records are more than isolated cases. They are representative of the type of work we do. Names and indisputable records on request.

AMERICANS MASTER THE KRUPP SECRET

WAR CUT OFF THE SUPPLY

United States Also Turns Out Magnetos Equal to, or Better Than, the German.

American steel manufacturers finally have succeeded in equaling the best product of the famous Krupp works at Essen, according to the report made yesterday by a committee of the Aero Club of America, returning from an investigation of motor factories in the East.

In addition to this, the report asserted that American magneto makers had perfected a magneto which was equal, if not superior, to the best ever made in Germany. Hitherto the German magnetos have been the finest and most efficient in the world, and American makers of motors have been forced to depend on them.

The committee, including Henry Woodhouse, Alberto Santos-Dumont, the Brazilian, and several other aeronautical enthusiasts, spent several days in its investigation, and returned to the city highly pleased over the results.

In speaking of the trip last night, Mr. Woodhouse traced the history of the Krupp supremacy in the manufacture of certain types of steel, particularly the alloys used in the manufacture of crank shafts and other vital parts of motors, where the greatest strength, combined with the least weight, is desired.

"When the bar was well under way," he said, "the American motor makers suddenly found themselves in a very embarrassing position. The German Government refused to allow the Krupp works to export any of their product. For years American manufacturers had depended on the Krupp works for certain brands of steel, and suddenly the supply was cut off.

"The Krupp works had contracted to supply this country with large quantities of this high-power steel, and now it is known that this was really done for the purpose of preventing the American manufacturers from attempting to make it. Of course, American manufacturers have never been able to compete with the Krupps in making this steel. That is because the Krupp works have always received large subsidies from the German Government and have been able to develop this steel and manufacture it much more cheaply than any American could. Their prices were so low that it was impossible for our steel mills to compete with them, and they had an absolute monopoly.

"The motor makers were facing the ruin of their business when they found that the small stocks in hand were the only steel that they had to go on with, and they issued calls for help to the various big steel mills. The result was that practically every one of the greater plants set to work to duplicate, if not better, the German product. Some of them have been working for ten months, others for the last six, and after numberless experiments, at fewest six of the great mills have succeeded in turning out an alloy that is, if anything, superior to the best that ever was exported to this country from the Krupp works.

"Until the last few weeks the crank shaft and other high-grade steel turned out by the steel mills here were of very uncertain quality. Only about one piece in ten really lived up to the requirements, and the motor makers were having an awful time with it. Now, however, they can be sure of what they are using. You know aviation motors are like the highest priced watches. One-one-thousandth of an inch makes all the difference between a motor and a piece of junk, and steel that will stand the terrific strain is an absolute necessity.

"To show what this discovery means to the motor makers, it is only necessary to know that large orders for it have been placed by all the greater manufacturers all over the country. Among these are manufacturers in Boston, San Francisco, Ithaca, N. Y., Nutley, N. J., and Washington, D. C. In addition, an aeroplane company of Buffalo has placed large orders, most of the steel to be used in making motors for the British Government.

"At the factory in Buffalo we saw several practical tests of the American steel. A new motor was run for twenty-four hours on the block at the rate of 1,000 revolutions a minute and then was speeded up and run twenty-four hours at the rate of 1,400 revolutions. When the test was over the steel parts were found to have withstood the ordeal without any sign of wear, and with a rating even higher than that obtained by using the Krupp steel. A new ninety horse power motor in which the new steel had been used was run for eight hours at from 1,308 to 1,410 revolutions a minute and developed a fraction over eighty-nine horse power. This is a very high degree of efficiency, and the steel stood up under the test just as well as in the others.

"At this plant we found that there were twenty inspectors doing nothing but test the motors. They used the very latest scientific instruments, and any part that showed the least defect, nearly always invisible to the eye, was rejected.

"In addition to the motor works, we found that the factor of safety insisted on for the aeroplane itself was that it should be eight times stronger than any practical demand. The war requirements have made this almost obligatory. For instance, the wings are tested for a carrying weight of more than 1,300 pounds, when they will be expected to lift only about one-eighth of this. The latest motor developed at the Buffalo factory weighed 535 pounds and gave 160 horse power. This is to be used in the R-2 military tractor biplane ordered by the English Government.

"In regard to the magnetos, the same condition existed after the war began as existed in the case of steel. German magnetos were no longer imported, and the motor makers were at a handicap. None of the American magnetos was as good as the German, and the efficiency of the motor is practically that of its magneto. To show how these German magnetos were regarded, it is known that the military authorities in Paris stripped all motor cars of their German magnetos and placed them on military aeroplanes. The car owners had to be content with the best French or American makes after that.

"Both American and French makers immediately went to work to experiment and make magnetos that would equal the German, and within the last few weeks they have succeeded. The company in Buffalo and an electric company here have both developed magnetos that are as good as any that ever came out of Germany. Other companies are working along the same lines, and the motor makers of this country are at last entirely independent of Germany in every way."

William J. Campbell of Philadelphia paid $170 for "Portraits of the Attorneys General of the United States. Biographical Notes by Charles R. Hildeburn," quarto, Philadelphia, 1893. It is extended and extra illustrated by the insertion of portraits and autographs, including all the Attorneys General to the incumbent under President Taft.

L. C. Hooper gave $125 for a letter of Benedict Arnold dated Philadelphia, March 20, 1780, to Governor Greene, regarding his trial, presumably on the charges by President Reed of Pennsylvania.

George D. Smith obtained for $20 the final agreement made between the American and British forces for the exchange of prisoners in 1778. It is in the autograph of Elias Boudinot, General Commissioner of Prisoners, and is signed by Joshua Loring, second only to Cunningham in his ill-treatment of American prisoners. Nine hundred British prisoners were released in full discharge for 1,821 starved and sick Americans, who were of no use as soldiers.

The autograph manuscript of William Cullen Bryant's "Address on the Genius of Robert Burns," delivered before the Burns Association of Brooklyn in 1874, was knocked down to James F. Drake for $22.

Mr. Smith gave $40 for an important letter of Revolutionary War interest, written by General George Clinton on March 3, 1779, to General Wadsworth, Commissary General. He also gave $70 for two letters of General Nathanael Greene, one speaking of the Continental Congress as the "strength of America," and the other complaining of the manner in which some of his suggestions had been received.

The sale will be continued today.

Tavenner Announces He Will Take Question of Its Financial Support Before Congress.

HIS ANSWER TO PROTEST

Col. Thompson Had Invited Him Into Court to Settle Charges About Munitions Subsidy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Representative Tavenner of Illinois, who has been publicly assailing the Navy League, let it be known today that his answer to a demand by Colonel Robert M. Thompson, President of the league, for specific statements would be a resolution, to be introduced in the House, calling for a sweeping investigation of the league's financial connections.

Mr. Tavenner said he would seek to have the pertinent facts disclosed by past and present Directors of the league, testifying under oath. He added that he did not mean to impugn the good faith of all the Directors or of the rank and file of the Navy League. But he insisted that behind the league was a great aggregation of persons whose chief aim in advocating additional defense was to increase the work of munitions plants. He said that with his resolution he would introduce bills for the creation of Government plants for the manufacture of munitions, so that the Government would get "a dollar of defense for every dollar appropriated," and so that the stimulus of huge profits would be withdrawn from the munitions makers, who, in his opinion, are now advocating a program of preparedness.

The statement of Representative Tavenner was drawn forth by a letter to him from Colonel Thompson. This letter referred particularly to a charge made by Representative Tavenner at Cooper Union, New York, last Friday. In giving out the letter for publication Colonel Thompson said:

"The officers and Directors of the Navy League are growing exceedingly tired of hearing the charge that their organization is subsidized by an alleged munitions ring. We are very anxious to get some responsible person to make this charge in definite form, so that we can take the case into court and disprove it once and for all. It seems to me that the charge is an exceedingly silly one. There are more than 50,000 representative American men and women in the Navy League, and I do not see how any reasonable person can believe that such a host of splendid, patriotic Americans would lend themselves to the machinations of any sort of corrupt lobby.

"There are, in my mind, only two classes of persons who take the charge seriously, namely, those who do not hesitate to tell and believe willful and malicious untruths to the discredit of political enemies, and the foolish and unthinking. However, the charge has been widely repeated, and I believe the Navy League should nail the lie, once and for all, by a court decision as soon as possible.

"We had hoped that Mr. Bryan would give us an opportunity to bring this matter into court, but he has repudiated statements attributed to him. I feel sure that if Mr. Tavenner has really made the statements attributed to him he will welcome this opportunity to bring them to a test in court, as I feel sure that no honorable man would consent to make slanderous charges unless he thoroughly believed the charges to be true."

Colonel Thompson's letter to Mr. Tavenner follows:

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir: From reports of an address delivered by you at Cooper Union on Friday evening, Nov. 19, I gather that you believe that the Navy League is influenced in its desire to secure adequate measures of preparedness for this country to resist attack and aggression by mercenary and improper motives. Although the reports of your speech are couched entirely in innuendo and intimation, I have received the impression from them that you believe that the Navy League is definitely subsidized by certain "war trafficking firms," to quote from a report of your speech.

If you believe these things to be true will you not make a definite and positive public statement so that by bringing suit against you we may make a test case and demonstrate publicly and finally by court decision their truth or falsity? If you do not believe them to be true, will you assist us to give as much publicity to your statement to that effect as has been given to the reports of your address?

I trust that I shall hear from you at an early date, either denying the insinuations imputed to you or putting any charges you have to make in concrete form, so that we may institute court proceedings at once and so decide this matter, that we may have a definite court decision and record as to exactly the moral and financial status of the Navy League by the time set for the opening of Congress.

I need not tell you how gladly I should welcome an opportunity to demonstrate in court the freedom of the League's finances from the taint of subsidy. For my own part I am sure that should the sentiments attributed to you in the newspaper reports be true you will be equally pleased to meet us in the open by putting your charges in definite form, as I feel that no American gentlemen representing the sovereign people would consent to slander by false charges couched in hint and innuendo an organization made up of more than 50,000 earnest, patriotic men and women, numbering among them some of the most distinguished of his fellow-citizens, drawn from every locality and all walks of life.

Trusting that I shall hear from you promptly, I am, very truly yours,
ROBERT M. THOMPSON.

3 MONTHS IN JAIL FOR AUTO FATALITY

Martin H. Conroy Convicted of Manslaughter in Running Down Railroad Gateman.

"I AM LENIENT," JUDGE SAYS

Defendant Weeps as Lawyer Implores Court for Mercy—Prominent Men Intercede for Him.

Martin H. Conroy was sentenced to three months' imprisonment in the Queens County Jail yesterday for manslaughter in the second degree in the killing of John P. Joyce, a gateman employed by the Long Island Railroad, who was run down by Conroy's automobile on the Hempstead turnpike crossing on the night of Sept. 9 last. Sentence was passed by Judge Humphrey in the Queens County Court late in the afternoon, following a pathetic appeal for clemency made by Conroy's counsel, Dana Wallace. Tears streamed from Conroy's cheeks during the ordeal and unusual quiet pervaded the crowded courtroom. Owing to the prominence of Conroy the case has aroused great interest. Conroy's was the first conviction of its kind in Queens.

"My action in this case is governed by a keen sense of duty. There are no better people in Brooklyn than those who have come to see me in your behalf," said the court, addressing Conroy. "I am going to exercise leniency, but not the extreme leniency requested by your counsel. The only difference between you and other reckless automobile drivers in Queens is that you killed some one while they have not. No one believes that you intended to kill this man. Taking all the circumstances into consideration, I feel that punishment must be inflicted, and I sentence you to three months' imprisonment in the City Prison in Long Island City."

Conroy is 33 years old, unmarried, and lives at 310 Eighth Street, Brooklyn. It was stated to the court yesterday that he had gone to work selling newspapers when but 5 years old, and had worked himself up to a position of influence and high standing. For years he supported an aged mother and is now supporting another member of his family.

On the night of the accident he was returning from the Belmont track in his six-cylinder car with seven passengers. As the machine approached the railroad crossing a car in front of Conroy's halted, but Conroy went on, attempting to get over the crossing ahead of an approaching train. His path was blocked by Gateman Joyce. There was time neither to stop nor turn. The automobile struck Joyce, throwing him thirty feet, and then struck him a second time, dragging him another twenty-seven feet.

Conroy declared the accident was unavoidable. He said he was on the tracks when the gates began to go down, and that he was endeavoring to get across to save the occupants of his car, when Joyce suddenly sprang in his path.

During the trial it was stated that Conroy had given Mrs. Joyce, the widow, $3,500 in cash. This statement was denied by Robert E. Kirkam, chief of the railroad detective service, who said that the money was paid by the company which had insured Conroy's car against accidents. The conviction deprives Conroy of his citizenship.

Marriage Promise Cost Him $250.

Mrs. Louise Rabel, 58 years old, of Eighth and Evergreen Avenues, Brooklyn, won a verdict of $250 in the Queens County Supreme Court before Justice James Van Siclen yesterday in an action which she brought against Killian Shurger, 54 years old, for $20,000 for breach of promise to marry. Her story was that she went to Shurger, a real estate dealer at 875 Woodward Avenue, Ridgewood, with regard to purchasing a house, and that he offered to marry her if she purchased a dwelling he specified. She asserted that she bought the house, but that he refused to carry out his part of the agreement.

MEEKER IN ROW WITH WOMEN

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—Congressman Jacob E. Meeker, in addressing a suffrage meeting here today, created an uproar when he said that in Denver, so he had been told, women sold their votes for $50 each and that the votes of society women there could be bought with theatre tickets.

When the Congressman tried to leave the room several women blocked his path and hurled arguments at him. Mrs. Kate O'Hara said the woman who sold her vote for $50 showed more intelligence than the man who sold his vote for a glass of beer.

Both Billiardists Qualify by Winning Semi-Final Matches.

By defeating George Sutton last night in the handicap billiard tournament at the Concert Hall of the New York Theatre, 500 to 475 points, Willie Hoppe becomes the opponent of Welker Cochran for first place in the finals tonight. Hoppe was in poor form earlier in the evening, and his judgment of speed was away off, but toward the closing innings he gauged his distance better, and gave a masterly exhibition of nursing the ivories. At the end of the twenty-fifth inning Sutton had run his string up to 475, while Hoppe was far in the rear with 394. After three long cushion shots Hoppe gathered the balls in a corner and played with them as if he had them on a string, running off seventy-five points in short order. On the seventy-eighth point Hoppe just touched the red ball, and Sutton, thinking he had missed, rose from his chair with his cue, but he subsided until Hoppe added one more point.

The balls were left in a poor position, and Sutton missed a difficult shot with the bridge. Sutton was very nervous all evening and showed it plainly. He clicked his heels, shrugged his shoulders, and tried to coax his ball along with the point of his cue after he had hit. After the high run of 79 had netted Hoppe a total of 473 he tried to give the match away to Sutton, but Sutton was equally generous and took four clean misses in his last four innings. With a none too steady hand Hoppe took three innings to get 16 points, and with only one shot to play he gave Sutton his final chance by missing. Sutton tried to gather up the balls to run out his string, but he failed on his first attempt, and Hoppe clinched the match with an easy draw shot. Hoppe had an average of 16 2-3 for the evening, and Sutton had 12 93-100.

In the closest match of the tournament Welker Cochran, the young Chicago player, defeated Koji Yamada, the Jap cue expert, by the close margin of one point in the afternoon, the final score being 500 to 499. At the end of the twenty-second inning Cochran had a comfortable lead of 49 points, with only 40 more points needed for his total, while Yamada needed 89 to run out his score; but the Jap gathered the ivories at one end of the table and ran off 86 points with remarkable speed and dexterity, finally missing a draw shot of the easiest kind. The balls were widely spread over the table and Cochran failed to score a point in both the twenty-third and twenty-fourth innings, and with only three points needed Yamada made a clean miss in the twenty-fourth inning also.

In the twenty-fifth Yamada ran two easy points and the referee chanted, "One to play," but once more the Jap fell down on an easy one. Cochran got up with a quiet smile and quickly gathered the balls at the end of the table and clicked off 34 points with the ease of an old campaigner. He missed a long hard shot and left the balls so widely scattered that Yamada again failed to secure the one point that he needed, although most of the spectators had put on their coats when he took up his cue, conceding the game to the Jap. Cochran needed six points to win, and the balls were still separated widely, but after the young Chicagoan had gathered them up in three shots, he ran out his string very easily. Yamada's 86 in the twenty-third inning was the high run of the match, while Cochran had a high run of 51 in the twenty-first inning. Yamada finished with an average of 14⅜ and Cochran with 11½.

Cosgrove Billiard Victor.

At the Audubon Billiard Academy last night J. Cosgrove defeated L. Friede, 40 points to 36, in a handicap three-cushion match in eighty-six innings. The winner had two high runs of 4 and one of 3.

Reorganizing Catholic League.

Plans for reorganizing the Catholic Athletic League were formed last night at a special meeting held at Holy Cross Lyceum, 321 West Forty-third Street. Representatives of Holy Cross Lyceum, Knights of St. Antony, St. Anselm's A. C., Presentation Club, Ozanam Association, and Paulist A. C. attended the meeting, which was presided over by Father Ferris, President of Holy Cross Lyceum. Another meeting has been called for next Monday night, when the annual election of officers will take place. All Catholic clubs of New York are invited to attend the next meeting.

Officers for Long Island Auto Club.

The annual meeting of the Long Island Automobile Club will be held at the clubhouse, 1,215-1,219 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 1, at which time the election of officers will take place. The Nominating Committee, consisting of William P. Richardson, Chairman; Charles G. Ross, Charles Herrmann, J. S. Frazee, and Louis T. Weiss, reported the following nominations: President, Louis T. Weiss; First Vice President, Arthur E. Beggs; Second Vice President, Ira M. G. Vail; Treasurer, Frank G. Webb; Secretary, Arthur S. Jessup; Board of Governors, Class of 1917, Charles G. Ross, William J. Auer, and T. G. Jahn.

BOXING TICKET REJECTED.

The members of the State Athletic Commission were called upon to decide a difficult problem yesterday at their weekly meeting, but after listening to lengthy arguments they left the matter open. The question raised was whether the management of a boxing club can legally reject complimentary tickets. M. Cohen appeared as the complainant and the newly organized Harlem Sporting Club was placed in the position of the defendant.

Six lightweights appeared at the first show of the club last Friday night, and many persons were turned away from the doors. A number of these had purchased tickets in advance, but were unable to reach their seats owing to the crowded clubhouse. M. Cohen was the possessor of two complimentary tickets. He presented these at the entrance, but the door tender refused to accept them. Cohen protested, and later purchased two five-dollar seats at the box office, which were accepted upon presentation.

The fact that he could not get inside the clubhouse with complimentary tickets issued by the management appeared to Mr. Cohen as a gross injustice and a case for the boxing commission. Manager John Reisler made an explanation, which did not clarify the atmosphere. The commission decided that it was a personal matter with the management, and did not come within official jurisdiction and declined to entertain the complaint.

Reisler, however, was requested to make plain to the members of the commission how it was that so many people who held tickets for the show were turned away. Several complaints were lodged against the management. Reisler asserted that he had since returned $1,050 to the holders of tickets who had been unable to gain admission to the clubhouse. He insisted that the management had done everything possible to protect the boxing patrons, and said that whereas his chart of seats showed a capacity of more than $11,000, he only took in $6,400, and so far had been unable to discover what had been the trouble.

Chairman Wenck said that Reisler had attempted to straighten out the difficulties, but the commission reprimanded and warned him not to repeat the mix-up.

Mickey Donnelly lodged a complaint against the Broadway Sporting Club for $25, which he said was due him for boxing at the club. The trouble was quickly adjusted, as it was shown that it was due to a misunderstanding. Donnelly will get his money today.

Notes for the Boxers.

The first heavyweight elimination tournament since Jess Willard won the championship is announced for the Harlem Sporting Club for next Friday night, when a series of three ten-round bouts will bring together Frank Hagney of Australia and Larry Williams of Philadelphia, Tom McCarty of Montana and Tom Cowler of England, and Battling Levinsky of New York and Dan (Porky) Flynn.

Two ten-round bouts will be staged at the New Polo A. A. tomorrow evening. The opening bout will bring together Sailor George Volk, former lightweight champion of the United States Navy, and K. O. Smith of the east side. The final contest is between Jimmy Coffey, the Mohawk Indian, and Eddie Clifford.

The Queensboro A. C. of Long Island and the Astoria A. C. announce shows for tonight. Joe Mooney faces Young Bernstein in the main bout at the Queensboro, and Harlem Tommy Murphy and Battling Hogan are the headliners in the feature number of the Astoria A. C.

Sandy Ferguson of Boston and Charles Weinert of Newark will be the headliners tonight at the Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn. The semi-windup brings together Jimmy Capper and Charles Moody, two local welterweights. Young Harris and Larry Murtha will open the show with a ten-round contest.

Although Sam Langford and Sam McVea have boxed together a number of times they always put up a fast bout, and no exception should follow their ten-round bout tonight at the American Sporting Club. Manager Levins has arranged to hold the purse over until the referee releases it, which will only be when the pair demonstrate that they performed up to their best form.

Donahue Wins Close Race.

One of the best events in the bi-monthly games of the West Side Y. M. C. A. last night was the 600-yard handicap, which was won by T. Donahue. He had a handicap of fifteen yards, and secured first place over E. H. Church, who was on scratch, in a close race, the margin of advantage being only a few inches at the tape. A. H. Dolder, also a scratch man, was third, a short distance behind Church. The summary:

20-yard Dash.—Won by S. W. Severins; C. W. Borgman, second; J. R. Marsillio, third. Time—0:03.

220-Yard Dash, Handicap.—Won by J. G. Smith, (8 yards;) M. Marra, (6 yards,) second; C. W. Borgman, (scratch,) third. Time—0:25.

600-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by T. Donahue, (15 yards;) E. H. Church, (scratch,) second; A. H. Dolder, (scratch,) third. Time—1:20 1-5.

Running High Jump.—Won by C. Krober, with a jump of 5 feet 1 inch; C. Terry, with a jump of 5 feet, second; J. Smith, with a jump of 4 feet 10 inches, third.

Tie in Billiard Tournament.

The semi-final in Doyle's three-cushion tournament was played last night when George Avery defeated Henry Frantzen by a score of 25 to 21 in forty innings. This makes the tournament a tie between these two players, each having won four and lost one game. The tie will be played off next Monday night. The first game in the second round of the English billiard tourney was also played, W. Davis winning from J. Tierney, 150 to 138. In the Dewar Shield tourney J. Wood won from W. Howard, 250 to 166. This event is a round-robin affair of six starters, the winner to play George Hayman for the amateur championship at English billiards.

OLD GLORY HORSE SALE UNDER WAY

Light harness enthusiasts and followers of the trotting horse, from all over the country and Canada, were in attendance yesterday at Madison Square Garden, where the annual Old Glory horse sale opened.

The sale this year will last five days, during which time over 750 horses—100 more than in 1914—will be placed under the hammer. Among the largest consignments are those from Curl's Neck Farm, Virginia, where C. K. G. Billings raises all his trotting stock. Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Hudson River Farm, has sent a large lot of high-bred youngsters to the sales ring.

The top price of the day was paid for Uncas Chief, a thoroughbred stallion by Imp. Ben Strome-Passion Flower, which was sold to Eugene von Bach for $1,150. This horse is only eight years old, and has a racing record as a two-year-old, its best performance being at Saratoga, where it won the All Age Handicap at one mile and an eighth.

A fine pair of harness horses, with a long show-ring record, owned by A. J. Gude of New York, was sold for a small figure separately. Honor Bright went to Dr. J. S. Bristol, New York City, for $175, and M. Cowperthwaite bought Honor Boy for $300. The latter purchaser also obtained Weber, of the pair Weber and Fields, for $325. Fields, a roan gelding, only brought $145, L. S. Frank of New York City being the buyer.

The best price for a trotter was paid by Charles Mabrey, Hohokus, N. J., for Koroni, a chestnut gelding with a record of 2:12¼ over a mile track. Koroni has won nine races over all kinds of half-mile tracks. After some spirited bidding it was knocked down to its new owner for $685.

Joe Mapes, a free-legged pacer with a mark made over half-mile tracks, went to Charles Burant, Newburg, N. Y., for $235. In the afternoon, during a slump in prices, when horses were going for a mere song, a trotter named John E. Madden was brought into the ring. Whether by the request of the master of Hamburg Place is not known, but the horse was withdrawn.

J. A. Derry, Quebec, Canada, bought a number of cheap horses. It was rumored around the Garden that he was a representative of the Canadian Government with orders to pick up serviceable horses to be used for army remounts. He obtained a number at less than $100 each. The best sales were:

DUNDEE BEATS BLOOM.

Italian Lightweight Slow at First, but Improves in Later Rounds.

Johnny Dundee, the Italian lightweight, won from Phil Bloom of Brooklyn last night in the feature ten-round contest at the Clermont Athletic Club in Brooklyn. The Brooklyn lightweight had a big advantage over his opponent, having a longer reach and being about one head taller than the Italian boxer. Bloom also had an advantage of seven and one-half pounds in weight. In the early part of the contest Bloom made good use of these assets and had little difficulty in holding the local lightweight off with straight left-hand jabs.

Bloom was entitled to the honors in three of the first four rounds, while Dundee had the other. The latter displayed poor judgment and often Bloom caused him to miss. As the bout progressed, however, Dundee' judgment improved, and several times as Bloom came rushing at him he stood still and met him with swinging lefts and rights to the face and body.

Dundee had the crowd of spectators on their feet several times with his rushes, which usually ended with Bloom on the ropes fighting back hard, while Dundee struck short, snappy blows upon his face and stomach. Bloom had a stiff left-hand jab and toward the end of the contest he worked it effectively, but it only had the effect of stinging Dundee into harder action.

Bloom, however, was possessed of a stiff punch, and twice he sent Dundee across the ring to the ropes with a left to the jaw. The Italian would bound right back and resume the milling. Both made a whirlwind finish, and for the entire three minutes in the last round they swapped blows willingly.

Kilbane Whips Packey Hommey.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 22.—Johnny Kilbane won over Packey Hommey of New York here tonight in a ten-round bout. Hommey weighed 130 pounds, the featherweight champion 124. Neither made a strong effort to give a real exhibition, but Kilbane received the decision. In only the final round did Kilbane try to do anything, when he all but knocked out his opponent. Hommey was inclined to cover up, making it next to impossible for Kilbane to get at him. There was a clever display of foot work.

United States Golf Ticket.

Frank L. Woodward of Denver has been renominated for President of the United States Golf Association in the ticket of officials for 1916 announced yesterday by Howard F. Whitney, the Secretary. In other words, the office of chief executive remains in a territory never before represented in the presidency until last year. Only one change of importance is made. Percy R. Pyne, 2d, of Princeton declined renomination as Treasurer, and in his stead Frederick S. Wheeler of Apawamis is named. He served three terms as President of the Metropolitan Golf Association. A new Nominating Committee will serve for 1916. It is headed by Milton Dargan of Atlanta, the other members being William E. Stauffer, New Orleans; Albert R. Fish, National Links; George H. Walker, St. Louis, and Henry H. Wilder of Boston. The ticket follows: President, Frank L. Woodward, Denver Country Club; First Vice President, Howard W. Perrin, Merion Cricket Club; Second Vice President, John Reid, Jr., St. Andrew's Golf Club; Secretary, Howard F. Whitney, Nassau Country Club; Treasurer, Frederick S. Wheeler, Apawamis Club; Executive Committee, the officers and M. Lewis Crosby, Brae Burn Country Club; Walter B. Smith, Onwentsia Club; Dr. Walter S. Harban, Columbia Country Club, and John S. Brooklyn Boy Wins Race.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 22.—William Smith, the former Erasmus Hall High School runner of Brooklyn, today won the cross-country race between the Dartmouth freshmen and Kimball Union Academy, covering the four-mile course in 24:31. The freshmen won by a score of 28 to 29.

WRESTLER TOFALOS LOSES FIRST BOUT

Between speech making and burlesqueing, George Lurich, the Russian grappler, last night found time to wrestle in his finish match with Demetrias Tofalos, the Greek strong man, in the international Graeco-Roman tournament at the Manhattan Opera House, and as a result the former Olympic weight lifting champion suffered his first defeat of the meet. Lurich dashed the hopes of the Greek contingent which had crowded the galleries since the start of the tournament, in 46:33, disposing of Tofalos with a bridge and body hold.

Lurich did little wrestling until the opening of the fourth period, but after that stage it was apparent that the Greek was a weight lifter, when compared as a wrestler to the amusing Russian.

Tofalos had met them all in the tournament without losing a bout, but Lurich was too much for him. Tonight the vanquished man will be the opponent of Zbyszjo in a finish title.

Robert Friederich of Germany, known in wrestling as "Strangler Lewis," made his bow in the tournament last night, and in 1 minute 10 seconds had his name enrolled among the winners. Lewis made quick work of Charles Christiansen, a little Dane, pinning him on the canvas with a double arm lock. Lewis wastes no time when he gets into action. He had only shaken hands with Christiansen when the Dane was on the mat in an unbreakable lock, which proved his downfall.

Alexander Aberg, the champion, and Karl Pospisil of Bohemia, engaged in a rough but scientific tilt which went twenty minutes to no decision. Aberg tried every means at his command to down Pospisil, but the clever Bohemian was too much of a match for the champion in a limited contest.

Aberg frequently used the strangle hold and was cautioned by Referee Bothner. Pospisil also had to be warned. Several times in the course of the match Aberg secured holds that seemed to mean defeat for Pospisil, but the Bohemian was at his best when in the most dangerous positions.

Again the smiling young Swede from Brooklyn showed to advantage, going through twenty minutes of hard wrestling with Charley Cutler of Chicago. The bout ended in a draw. The summary:

Pierre Le Colosse, France, threw Edouard Delevuk, with double wrist lock, in 5:45.

YALE ATHLETIC INQUIRY.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—Yale tonight began its investigation into its unsatisfactory athletic coaching system and general athletic organization which three different governing bodies of the university, the Faculty, corporation, and General Athletic Committee regard as in need of immediate reconstruction.

The Athletic Committee sat for two hours discussing remedies and existing conditions, but stated when the session closed that no formal recommendation had been framed. The football situation consumed most of the debate, but the matter of selecting a definite head coach was not reached.

Another meeting was scheduled for Wednesday of next week, when, it is believed, definite constructive measures will be proposed which will place coaching on a more stable basis at Yale. Dr. Josh Hartwell was the only New York member of the committee present this evening. It is believed that a revised coaching system satisfactory to Faculty, corporation and the graduate and undergraduate athletic officials can be framed.

TO NAME BOXING HEADS.

Franey and Dwyer May Be Selected for Commission Today.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The appointment of two members of the new State Boxing Commission is expected to be made tomorrow by Governor Whitman. It was learned tonight that the Executive had three men under consideration and had not decided between two or them for the third place.

John Franey of Albany, former County Treasurer, it was said, would be one of the new Commissioners.

The other place, it is expected, will be filled by either Frank Dwyer of Geneva or William Mathewson of Brooklyn. Of the two, it was said, the one that is not appointed will be selected by the commission as its Secretary.

It was learned that Governor Whitman favors Dwyer as the member of the commission, but has not definitely decided upon appointing him. Fred A. Wenck of New Rochelle was appointed to the commission by the Executive some time ago.

Twenty-four-Hour Tour as a "Good Roads" Demonstration This Week.

A monster twenty-four-hour "good roads" automobile endurance run, in which every automobile club in the State will take part, is to be held during Thanksgiving week under the joint auspices of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey, the New Jersey Automobile Trade Association, the American Automobile Association, and the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club. The start will be made from the clubhouse of the latter organization in Newark at 12 o'clock noon on Friday, Nov. 26, and will wind up at the same place at 12 noon Saturday, Nov. 27.

The approximate distance to be covered in the round-the-clock run is 425 miles, and the route has been so laid out as to take in every city in which there is an automobile club in that State. Each club will check in the contestants as they arrive at the club headquarters.

The tentative route selected will take the cars through Jersey City, Ridgefield Park, Rutherford, Passaic, Paterson, and over the Pompton Pike to Newton, Dover, Morristown, Rockaway, Hackettstown, Somerville, Trenton, Lakewood, New Brunswick, Plainfield, Westfield, Elizabeth, and so back to Newark. Relief drivers will be permitted.

"A significant fact, proving the service value of this extra rubber and extra fabric in Firestones, is this—

"An increase in total output of pneumatic tires this year of over 40 per cent—accompanied by a very material decrease in adjustments.

"And this in spite of the leading proportion of big cars on Firestones.

"It is the big car that punishes tires, and, as you see, we are building our tires for the biggest work.

The football squad, consisting of fifty players, with the coaches, one medical officer and attendants, will leave here at 8:30 o'clock on Friday morning. Returning the squad and its attendants will leave Grand Central Station in New York at 11:10 o'clock on Sunday morning. Saturday morning two special trains from Garrison, across the river from here, will carry followers of the Army team.

The first train, carrying the battalion of cadets, officers of the department of tactics, band and field musicians, with one surgeon and two hospital corps men, will leave Garrison at 11 o'clock. The cadets will leave the Grand Central Station at 11:45 o'clock Saturday night. This will give the cadets the freedom of the city after the game. Until that hour certain restrictions will be placed upon their conduct during this interim.

The second special train, for officers, residents of the post and vicinity, will leave Garrison at 11:20 o'clock Saturday morning. Both trains upon arrival at High Bridge Station in New York will be transferred by shuttle trains direct to the Polo Grounds. The cadets will make their entry into the Brush Stadium in parade formation. While in New York the Army will make its headquarters at the Hotel Astor. The team will also take quarters there.

With the exception of Goodman, the plucky understudy at centre for McEwan on the Army eleven, the entire football squad reported for practice this afternoon. Goodman injured a hand in the Springfield game, and is likely to get into no more of the rough work. The drill today was long and strenuous. As planned the coaches drove the men through forty minutes of routine scrimmaging, much of the time against Navy formations, to stiffen the 'Varsity's defense. The drill was satisfactory.

Speed was the slogan when the mentors switched to the offensive drive and the plays worked with smoothness and precision. The kicking drill consumed considerable time, both Ford and Coffin doing plenty of booting of the oval today. The latter's work was best, and he will do all the punting in the Navy game for the Army. The linesmen got careful drilling today from the position coaches, Captain Graves, Lieutenant Pullen, Captain Sultan and Lieutenant Wynne. The big fellows also had a "wind sprint" exercise, and spent a lot of time in speeding up under kicks, with Captain Graves doing the kicking himself.

Meacham, Knight, Captain Weyand and O'Hare were sent down under the punts. It is now practically certain that O'Hare will play at guard when the team lines up at the kick-off Saturday. Meacham will also play the other guard position and McEwan will be at centre.

Jones will undoubtedly start at left tackle and Captain Weyand will be in at right tackle. The two ends are in doubt, as is the quarter back position, and the coaches would not say today who would be the final selection for these places. Neyland and Redfield were both back today working hard, and if they feel like they looked, they will be fit by Saturday. This pair is thought to have the best chance to face the Navy in the wing positions, although Tully may be used at one of the ends. Britton's poor work in the Springfield game is thought to have lessened his chances to start Saturday against the Navy. Behind the line, Coffin at full back and Oliphant and Ford as half backs, are certain to be in at the kick-off. Place, the new man, may get in at half back later in the game if he continues to do good work in the drills planned for tomorrow and next day.

NAVY TEAM UNSETTLED.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 22.—Head Coach Ingram of the Naval Academy football team began the final week of preparation for the Army game this afternoon by a long scrimmage. Practice was in secret, and will continue during the remaining two days of work on the local grounds, but an effort will be made to select the strongest men for the different positions on the line. The final occupants of four of the places are still to be decided upon. Ward and Gilman, the tackles, and Kercher, one of the guards, are the only line men who are reasonably sure of starting against the Army on Saturday. E. R. Smith and Holtman will fight it out this week for the other guard position, and C. M. Jones and Goodstein will contend for centre. At left end Blodgett and Van Heimberg are the contenders, and on the other flank are Johnson and Jackson.

Ordinarily, the regulars would be kept from hard scrimmaging at this period of the season, but so irregular has been the work of most of them that the coaches are still at a loss to determine the best men to start the game, and can only settle it by practice this week. Vail has been doing excellent work in recent matches and practices, and undoubtedly will be first substitute half back or full back, but Head Coach Ingram still expects to start Craig, Westphal, Davis, and Martin as his back-field combination.

Lehigh Grooming for W. and J.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Penn., Nov. 22.—Encouraged by one of the best and most spirited cheering practices of the year, the Lehigh 'Varsity eleven began today to prepare for Thursday's game with Washington and Jefferson at Washington, Penn. About 600 students occupied the bleachers while the regulars ran through signals. Only one change in his team was made by Coach Keady. Hallowell was placed at quarter back in place of Cahall. Changes necessitated by reason of injuries were the placing of Halsted at right half back in place of Jim Keady, who is hobbling around on crutches, and Pons going in at right guard in Grumbach's place. Maguiness was at full back.

Penn Squad at Whitemarsh.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—The University of Pennsylvania Football squad today went to Whitemarsh, a suburb, to complete preparations for the Cornell game on Thanksgiving Day. A spirited signal drill was held on the lawn of the clubhouse, where the players for the first and second 'Varsity elevens will live until the day of the game. Members of the scrub have broken training and no further scrimmages will be held. The coaches, who accompanied the players, drilled the squad in new formations and trick plays to be used in the contest with the Ithacans.

ARMY-NAVY TICKETS $10.

No matter how sincere the effort or careful the plans to keep the tickets for the annual Army-Navy football game out of the hands of speculators some of them eventually drift to such a method of distribution. This year is no exception, though the indications are that the agencies are by no means overstocked. They have some tickets and probably will have more before the end of the week, but the price for the pasteboards will undoubtedly soar to exorbitant figures within a day or two. Already it is impossible to purchase even the most undesirable seats for less than $10 each, and a higher figure is asked for those near the centre of the gridiron, though as yet there are not many of them to be had. Some idea of the rapidly increasing value of the tickets is gained from the fact that yesterday morning they could be purchased from the agencies and speculators for $6, while by night they had reached a valuation of $10. Today they may be even higher.

The New York Baseball Club, which has had the distribution of the tickets, other than the allotments to the Army and Navy, has sold its allowance. This was true even last week, the demand being far in excess of two years ago when the last Army-Navy game was held at the Polo Grounds. The only seats to be had now are the few in the hands of the speculators. Even those who pay the big prices do so with no certainty that their tickets will be honored at the gate. On each of the tickets there is a clause reading "This ticket was sold by the New York Baseball Club for a cash consideration of three dollars. Its subsequent transfer at a higher price renders it invalid and subsequent to such transfer it will be refused at the gate for admission to the game." It will undoubtedly be difficult to prove such a transfer, still a record of every sale has been kept in the office of the New York Baseball Club and a determined effort is to be made to stamp out speculation in the tickets.

There is a possibility, however, that the price of tickets may fall Friday night and Saturday morning. Several days before the last game at the Polo Grounds the price of tickets went up to $10 each, but the night before the game there was a decided drop in values due to the arrival of tickets in this city from the allotments which had been made to the Army and Navy. A similar condition may occur this year, though it is not now considered that there will be nearly so many tickets derived from such sources.

SENDOFF FOR CORNELL.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Cornell's football team left here tonight for the final battle of the season with Pennsylvania at Franklin Field after the biggest athletic demonstration ever seen in this city. There were more than 4,000 students in the parade through streets which were ablaze with red fire, while several thousand townspeople accompanied the procession to the station, where a big demonstration for the best team that Cornell has ever turned out was staged. Stirring football airs were played by the cadets' band, while the crowd yelled itself hoarse for the Red team.

From an improvised platform at the station Captain Barrett and other members of the team, and Coaches Sharpe, Reed, and Vanorman made short addresses. There were no predictions, but the entire squad seemed to be in fine spirits and confident that the best game of the year might be expected from the Cornellians. "There is no overconfidence in this squad," said Captain Barrett. "We realize that we are going to be in for a fight, and we think that Penn will know that she has been in a battle royal on Thursday. This is my last game, and it is the last game for some of the other boys, and we hope to make the most of the opportunities. We appreciate the support of the undergraduate body, and we will need a lot of it on Franklin Field."

The men ran through a short signal drill in the baseball cage this afternoon, and worked out the new plays. It is planned to put them through two good hard workouts at Atlantic City, where they will stay until Thursday morning. The scrubs and 3,000 rooters will leave here Wednesday. The football squad was made up of the following: Ends, Shelton, Eckley, Ryerson, and Zander; tackles, Jameson, Gildes, Welles, and Jewett; guards, Anderson, Miller, McKeage, Snyder, and Tilley; centres, Cool and Brown; quarter backs, Barrett and Shock; half backs, Collins, Shiverick, Benedict, Hoffman, and Schlichter; full back, Mueller.

Tigers Advocate Rest Policy.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Advocacy of a system which would allow Princeton and Yale to alternately gain the same advantage which Harvard now holds in the matter of obtaining a week of rest between her two big games appears in an editorial today in the Daily Princetonian, the official student organ at Princeton.

After recounting the advantage which the Crimson now holds in playing a comparatively minor team between her contests with Princeton and Yale, whereby Harvard can use her second-string men and rest the regulars without serious disadvantage, the article goes on to say:

"It would seem sportsmanlike and just for the Harvard athletic authorities to agree to let Yale and Princeton enjoy turn and turn about with this undoubted strategic advantage. Harvard would win the appreciation of the Princeton and Yale men and her glory would be the greater on occasions when she is the conqueror."

Lafayette Celebrates Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Penn., Nov. 22.—Football practice on March Field was called off this afternoon and the team was permitted to join with the students in the general celebration over the victory over Lehigh. There was no bonfire nor formal celebration over the victory. There is not a man on the squad who is injured as a result of the game. There is particular joy over the fact that in this one game on Saturday Lafayette scored more points than Lehigh did in the three straight victories which they recorded against Lafayette. The players were guests at a dinner at the training table tonight. The practice for the Thanksgiving Day game with Dickinson will start tomorrow.

Boy Dies from Football Injuries.

LEITCHFIELD, Ky., Nov. 22.—Herschel Bruner, 14 years old, member of the Clarkson High School football team, died here last night from injuries received Sunday in a practice game. Bruner fell during a scrimmage and was crushed under the weight of a number of players. He was carried unconscious from the field and several hours later suffered a hemorrhage of the brain.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Nov. 22.—Morristown School was defeated here today in soccer, 6 to 0, by the Princeton second team. Morristown was outweighed and outclassed, but fought pluckily. Schwerdt and Mack played well for Morristown. Preyer was the star of the college team and made five of its six goals.

ARMY FAVORITE OVER NAVY TEAM

The Army team will go into the game a favorite over the Navy when the two elevens clash before the season's most distinguished football crowd at the Polo Grounds on Saturday afternon. While neither team has been up to the standard shown in other years, the Navy has fared worse in its games. The Army has struck a stride which, if it continues, should bring the Cadets to the top of their form by Saturday.

There is always a great deal of betting between the officers of both branches of the service over the game, and a great many wagers have been made here at the Army and Navy Club over the outcome. The Navy folks are demanding odds, but they are not at all backward about supporting their eleven. There seems to be an undercurrent of feeling that the Navy has a surprise in store for the Army, although they have done nothing this season on which to base such a supposition. It is noticed, however, that the so-called "wise" bettors are backing the Navy.

The material at Annapolis this season has been below par, and it has been a disappointing feature that several of the old players have not shown what was expected of them, and it has been necessary for the coaches to build up the eleven with "plebs." "Tack" Hardwick, Harvard's star end last season, has been aiding with the coaching, and it is expected that he will teach the Navy eleven according to the Haughton methods.

The honors between the two teams are even. They began to play each other in 1890, and since then have played nineteen games. Each academy has won nine times, and one game, in 1905, resulted in a tie. West Point has more experienced players this year than the Navy, and, from present indications, it would seem that it has a good chance of winning. However, both teams have played such bad football in some of their games this season that the Navy folks are not as much discouraged as it would appear on the surface.

All the tickets have been distributed, and Secretary John B. Foster believes that the crowd will be close to 50,000 people. As a spectacle the game stands alone in American sporting events. The uniforms and gold braid of the army and navy officers, the martial music of the cadet bands, and the spectacular drills of the cadets and midshipmen make the event an unusual sight. The game will be the greatest fashion show of the season.

The officials for the game will be: Referee, Bill Langford, Trinity; umpire, Fred Murphy, Brown; head linesman, Carl Williams, Pennsylvania; field judge, James A. Evans, Williams.

The football situation at Yale is so badly disorganized that the authorities will probably go slowly in making any changes at this time. It is not expected that a Captain will be elected for some time, as there is a strong movement on foot at New Haven to strip the Yale football Captain of much of the power which he has exercised in the past. The older Yale athletes believe that it is a mistake to give the Captain absolute authority, and a radical change may be made before another Captain is elected.

Yale wants to defer the election, anyway, until after the meeting of the Eligibility Committees of Yale, Harvard, and Princeton. It is planned to draw up a new code of rules at this meeting, and it is not unlikely that Harry Le Gore will be reinstated to amateur standing. If this is done, it is freely predicted about the Yale campus that Le Gore will be asked to take the football captaincy for next season. Yale men would like to see Le Gore's name cleared, not only because he is a good football player, but also because they believe that his athletic career has been unnecessarily sacrificed.

The football men who played this year are willing and anxious to defer the election of Captain while there is a slight hope of Le Gore being reinstated. The meeting of these Eligibility Committees will be held at the Yale Club here next Friday.

FORDHAM AT TOP SPEED.

Bronxites Hope to Earn a Victory Over Villanova Thursday.

Coach Vaughn drove Fordham's football team at top speed yesterday in practice for the tussle with Villanova on Thursday. Taking note of Villanova's easy victory over Swarthmore and its more difficult but equally decided conquest of the Army, the Bronxites understand what a task they are facing if they are going to live up to their early-season prophecy of defeating Villanova this year after waiting in vain for three years. As a result, yesterday saw the Maroon start on its last preparation. No change was made in the line-up, as everybody at Fordham is satisfied that they now have the best combination in years. Starting with a short kicking drill in which Yule sent six field goals in a row straight over the bar, the Maroon coach branched off into work on his new formations. Most of the trick plays used Saturday worked to perfection, and it was mostly on two plays borrowed from the diversified attacking exhibition of Carlisle that all the attention was devoted yesterday. One of the plays, a cross buck, which was used with such success by Jim Thorpe and Gus Welch at Carlisle three seasons ago, proved very attractive yesterday, with Golden and Yule doing the Fordham work. The linemen were by no means neglected. Each man had a short session with Vaughn, in which he learned just where he did not do all that was expected against the Indians.

Scrimmage for Brown Eleven.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 22.—Contrary to the usual custom, the Brown team engaged in a strenuous afternoon scrimmage with the second team today, in preparation for the Carlisle game, Thursday. All of the regulars were on hand. Butner and Ormsby participated in the scrimmage for the first time since the Harvard game. The only regular who did not get into the hard work was Maxwell, whose nose was broken a week ago Saturday. He was out on the field, however, in his togs. The work was ragged for the first part of the afternoon, marked by a number of penalties inflicted on the 'Varsity. Later the 'Varsity got to working smoothly and the second-string men were unable to stop the terrific plunges and baffling end runs of Pollard and Andrews. The second-string backs, Jemail, Frazer, and Hillhouse, were used during the latter part of the scrimmage and gave as good a display of offensive work as has been seen on Andrews Field this Fall. The 'Varsity scored five touchdowns, three on straight football and two on fumbles by the second team. The Carlisle team stopped over in Providence this afternoon on its way to Mansfield, where it will work out tomorrow and Wednesday, returning to this city Wednesday evening.

N. Y. U. Team Takes a Rest.

Head Coach Tom Reilley called off practice for the New York University 'Varsity eleven yesterday, and the entire Violet squad got a much needed rest. Preparation for the Rutgers game, which is scheduled for Thanksgiving Day at Ohio Field, will begin with today's workout, when the Violet coaches will attempt to remedy the defects that were apparent in the playing of the 'Varsity against Columbia last Saturday. Although the defeat by the latter was a bitter pill for the New York University team to swallow, the University Heights eleven expects to remove the sting of its humiliation with a creditable showing against Rutgers on Thursday. One of the reasons that has been advanced for the failure of the Violet, in its struggle against the Blue and White on Saturday, was the inexperience of a new set of backs with whom Reilley worked all last week. The newly organized contingent included Taylor at full back, Fitzpatrick at left half back, and Stirrat at right half back. All of these men were sent in by Reilley during the course of the game, but none confirmed the hopes that had been placed on them largely because of their unfamiliarity with the Violet's signals. Prospects for the New York eleven's winding up the season with a victory this week are very slim, although the Violet hopes to offer such a formidable opposition that the Rutgers players will be obliged to fight hard for their victory.

WADLETON RETURNS TO COLUMBIA TEAM

Coach Nelson Metcalf ordered only a snappy signal drill for the Columbia football team at practice yesterday. Several 'Varsity players were absent, although none was seriously hurt in the game with N. Y. U. All are expected to play in the game with Wesleyan on Thanksgiving Day.

Columbia will not try out any new signals this week, and yesterday's rehearsal consisted merely of a review of the old plays. Wadleton, a half back, took part in the practice for the first time since his injury in the Stevens game three weeks ago. He alternated at right half back and left half back. In the absence of Quarter Back Miller, Captain Simonds directed the team. Rosen was at full back, and Mansbach was at the other half back position. Substitutes filled in the vacant line positions caused by the absence of Healey, left tackle; Kennedy, left guard, and Wilber, right tackle.

The 'Varsity will have a half hour scrimmage this afternoon with the scrubs, and tomorrow's work will be restricted to another signal rehearsal for the last game on Thanksgiving Day.

The Columbia Freshmen scrimmaged yesterday with the De Witt Clinton High School team in preparation for their last game on Wednesday with the Hamilton Institute eleven.

Princeton Soccer Misfortunes.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—Princeton's hopes for a championship soccer team have been almost wiped out. The soccer men complain of the hardest luck that has ever met a combination trying for the highest honors. The worst of it is that it all has happened after the team seemed to be almost sure of winning the title.

First, three men from the forward line were declared ineligible on the eve of the game with Yale. That weakened the eleven, but they fought to a tie with the Elis, and the next week vanquished the Columbia team, 5 to 0. Last Saturday they played the Pennsylvania soccer squad on the slippery turf of Franklin Field, and not only were defeated, 5 to 2, but Carey, one of the best of the backs, and Hoskins, the star of the remaining forwards, were both badly injured. Carey is nursing a dislocated elbow, while Hoskins has a bursted blood vessel besides a sprained ankle. Tomorrow the team plays Haverford in the last scheduled game of the season, but Cornell will replay her first game on next Monday, and perhaps Harvard will do so later.

Horace Mann School Games.

The program for the annual indoor games of Horace Mann School, which have been scheduled for Feb. 21 in the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, was selected yesterday by John Bredemus, former all-around champion, who is directing the sports. As the feature of the meet, there may be a relay race for the college championship of New York, with teams from Columbia, Fordham, New York University, and City College competing. There will be three events for juniors, five for novices, and five for seniors. The junior events will be seventy-five yard dash, running high jump, and half-mile relay, 120-pound class; novice, 100-yard dash, 600-yard run, pole vault, running high jump, and eight-pound shot put; senior, 100-yard dash, 800-yard run, 880-yard run, 880-yard relay, running high jump, and twelve-pound shot put.

Leslie to Run at Brooklyn Armory.

"Syd" Leslie of the Thirteenth Regiment, the military one-mile champion, has entered in both the half and one-mile races at the Fall games of his regiment, which are to be held in the Armory in Brooklyn tomorrow evening. Leslie recently ran a half mile in 1:59, and since that time he has gone through a special course of training in preparation for his record breaking attempt. Eddie Goodwin will make his first appearance of the indoor season at these games, and will start from scratch in the two-mile bicycle race. Over two hundred entries have been received for the fourteen events on the program. Among the prominent athletes of the regiment who will compete in one or more events are Hugh Hirshon, Billy Fisher, Jim Byrne, Irving Summergrade, J. McGuire, Jim Ross, D. Savage, and Percy Meyer.

HARVARD FOOTBALL LEADER

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 22.—Although several players are eligible to become Harvard's football Captain next season, the preference among the boys who will make the choice seems to be between Gilman and Harte. Gilman played a great game at tackle for Harvard this Fall and two years ago was rated as one of the best linemen in the East. He is in the class of 1917, although he was affiliated with 1916, the class with which he entered college. Harte played end this year with the 'Varsity for the first time, but is very popular, and many of the players believe he has unusual qualifications for leadership.

Gilman, who is 23 years old and weighs 187 pounds, has been a real power for Harvard two years, and was a fine football player before he came to Cambridge from Phillips Exeter Academy. His home is in Honolulu. Dick Harte, Harvard's baseball catcher, also has one more year at college. He played with the freshmen after entering from Pomfret School, but last Fall he was not in good trim after a hard lawn tennis campaign, and did not try to "make" the team. Harte's home is in Philadelphia. Both men have good backing, and the voting promises to be very close.

COMMERCE SWIMMERS WIN.

Erasmus Hall Schoolboys Defeated in Water, 35 to 18 Points.

Commerce High School won its second victory yesterday in the Public Schools Athletic League championship swimming series, defeating the representatives of Erasmus Hall High School in the West Sixtieth Street Baths by 35 points to 18. All of the races were closely contested, with the exception of the 220-yard dash, which resulted in an easy triumph for Pettingell of Commerce, who won by fifteen yards from his teammate, Lowenstein, in 3 minutes 20 seconds.

The New Yorkers' relay team, composed of Albanus, Baer, Penn, Pettingell, and Tansell, sprinted to an early lead in the 160-yard contest and maintained its advantage over the entire four laps. The time was 1:34.

Horgan of Erasmus was the best performer of the meeting when he plunged fifty-eight feet, eight feet further than his nearest rival, Gunnison of Commerce. The summary:

220-Yard Swim—Won by Pettingell, Commerce; Lowenstein, Commerce, second; Dittrich, Erasmus Hall, third. Time—3:20.

100-Yard Swim—Won by Albanus, Commerce; Salmon, Erasmus Hall, second; Lyon, Commerce, third. Time—1:13.

Plunge for Distance—Won by Horgan, Erasmus Hall, with plunge of 58 feet; Gunnison, Commerce, second, with plunge of 50 feet; Drourr, Commerce, third, with plunge of 48 feet.

Fancy Dive—Won by Bryson, Commerce, with 64 points; Dittrich, Erasmus Hall, second, with 59 points; Meistrell, Erasmus Hall, third, with 56 points.

50-Yard Swim—Won by Salmon, Erasmus Hall; Tansell, Commerce, second; Baer, Commerce, third. Time—0:34.

To Investigate Baseball Rumors.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 22.—John H. Farrell, Secretary of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, announced here today that he would visit San Diego and towns in the Imperial Valley to investigate reports that players under the National agreement were playing with members of the Federal League in California Winter league clubs.

Michigan A. C. Director to Quit.

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 22.—John F. Macklin, Athletic Director of Michigan Agricultural College, announced today that he would tender his resignation to take effect next August. He expects to go East to enter the coal mining business. Macklin said, however, he gladly would accept an invitation to return each Autumn to coach the Aggie football squad.

GILMORE GOES WEST.

President of Federal League on Mysterious Trip to Chicago.

James A. Gilmore, President of the Federal League, left here Sunday afternoon on a mysterious trip to Chicago. He received several long-distance telephone messages while at the Biltmore, and immediately hastened to catch the Twentieth Century Limited. That the hurried visit to Chicago has something to do with the baseball situation is the opinion of those who should be in a position to know. Some believed that there had been a revival of the peace negotiations between the warring leagues. Last April Gilmore and the late Robert B. Ward made a trip of a similar nature to meet Ban Johnson, but nothing came of it, for Johnson reconsidered when it was time for the meeting to be held. That the trip was urgent is indicated by the fact that today, or tomorrow at the latest, is the time set by Gilmore for the announcement of all of the details connected with the invasion of this city by the Federal League. The Federal League President left no word as to when he would return, but it is anticipated that he will not let the opportunity go by of making good his promise to reveal the location of the mysterious park which has been selected on Manhattan Island.

When seen yesterday, John K. Tener was quite satisfied to let his controversy with Pat Powers over the question of who started the peace negotiations last Summer rest. He didn't want to bother any more about it, which is just the same attitude that Pat Powers takes.

Harry Goldman, Secretary of the Baltimore Federals, was in the city yesterday, arguing heatedly that Baltimore was a major league city. He said the attendance during the last season showed this, his claim being that it was larger than that in several National and American League cities.

Campbell Not to Run Here.

Le Roy Campbell of the Chicago University, holder of the national and conference half-mile championships, will be unable to compete in the McAleenan 1,000-yard run, which will feature the annual games of the Irish-American A. C. in Madison Square Garden Saturday night. About two months ago Campbell pulled a tendon in his right leg, and the injured member has since failed to respond to treatment. Campbell entered the McAleenan contest presuming his leg would be better in time to permit him to start, but Lawson Robertson, trainer of the I.-A. A. C., yesterday received a letter from the collegian, in which he stated that it would be impossible for him to run. Homer Baker, former national title-holder at a half-mile, will take Campbell's place and will compete for the first time in a long while. Baker yesterday entered the race as a representative of the New York Athletic Club. Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C. and Willie Gordon of the New York Athletic Club have been invited to take part in the event, and entries will be kept open to permit them to enter. Ray would be a big attraction here because of his defeat of Norman Taber in the national mile championship race at San Francisco.

THE STRUGGLE FOR CONSTANTINOPLE.

Dispatches from Constantinople by the way of London, announcing the renewal of violent artillery assaults upon the Turkish defenses on the Gallipoli Peninsula, find confirmation in the report reaching the Cologne Gazette that "a great offensive movement has been initiated at the "Dardanelles by the Allies." This news comes to us on the same day with the unofficial report that the first contingent of German troops has arrived in Constantinople and that Field Marshal VON MACKENSEN is expected in that city this week. Thus the war centre of chief immediate interest is for the moment transferred from the Balkans to the Turkish capital. The capture of Constantinople by the Allies, or important victories on the peninsula, would obviously have a great and probably decisive influence upon Greece and Rumania. The theory that a new offensive has been undertaken with a view to bring those two Powers to the aid of France, England, Russia, and Italy raises at once the question why, if the Allies were in a position to force an advance at Gallipoli, they did not make the effort long ago without regard to the effect of the move in Athens and Bucharest. The prize of itself was certainly worth winning, the capture of Constantinople would be of immense importance to Russia, and it would change the whole outlook of the war by destroying the hopes and some of the most carefully laid plans of Germany.

The sending of German troops to Constantinople is an achievement of moment. There was a deal of hard fighting to be done to clear the way, and there the German habit of taking a long look ahead and of laying plans methodically again brought a rich reward. Germany has long cherished the dream of extending the zone of German influence and control in a straight line from the Kiel Canal through Constantinople to the Persian Gulf. It was to her advantage in that design that the rulers of Rumania and Bulgaria are of German blood and that the King of Greece through marriage is under German influence. It may have been through the accidents of dynastic alliances that these things were brought about, it may have been of set purpose. At any rate, Germany has profited by them. Bulgaria's aid was of decisive importance. Without her good fighting army in Serbia, without her favor and assent, the way to Constantinople could not have been cleared. That Germany regarded the undertaking as vital is evident from the fact that to gain troops for the conquest of Serbia she reduced her Russian front to a degree which practically amounts to an abandonment of her aggressive in that quarter; and it appears that the Austrian force resisting the Italian advance has also been rather dangerously weakened.

It is not probable that any large German force will be sent to the aid of the Turks. The Turks have been doing very well with the aid of German officers and artillery, and it may be doubted whether there are troops to be spared for such a mission in any large numbers. The relief of the Turks was doubtless one of the objects of the drive through Serbia, but the first reports from German sources spoke of the access thus gained to Eastern granaries and sources of food supply as of great importance, as a cause of renewed hope. Frequent and emphatic denials have not concealed the truth that Germany is suffering from food shortage.

If the Allies have seriously resolved upon putting new vigor into their Gallipoli operations the presence of German troops in such numbers as can now be supplied would probably not make much difference. Their affair is chiefly with the formidable Turkish defenses. If the Turks can be driven from their positions, if the capture of the city is seriously threatened, there may be a sudden change of front at Constantinople. A very great part of the Turkish people and many of the officers of the Government have looked with a good deal of disfavor upon Turkey's participation in the war at the procurement of Germany. This has been shown by the unpopularity of German officers. VON MACKENSEN'S welcome in Constantinople is likely to be less enthusiastic than KITCHENER'S in Athens. But however much the Turks may dislike the present fruits of German interference and German influence, the consequences to them of the real establishment of German authority at Constantinople by the success of the Kaiser's grandiose ambitions would be incomparably more distasteful. To be made use of as a tool for the achievement of German designs is humiliating enough for Turkey, whose people are quite unable to see what they are fighting for, but to be a vassal of Germany, to lose the last shreds of independence and sovereignty and eventually to disappear before the German encroachments, that would be a fate which the Turks would regard as the greatest of calamities. It is the fate that awaits them should Germany succeed, it is the fate some of them foresee, and that their troops are doing their best to bring upon the Sultan's Empire and its people.

WITHOUT A DOUBLE.

Dr. ANNA HOWARD SHAW, for eleven years President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, declines re-election, preferring to lay down the official duties which have taken so much of her time and to stick to campaign work. Some thirty years she has been talking for woman suffrage, and there is no subtler, wittier, more logical, or a more persuasive speaker for that cause. She is a class by herself. Some indefinable substance of commingled personality, character, and intellect distinguishes her. Her autobiography throws some light on it, but genius is hard to catch in a definition; and Dr. SHAW is more than a little of a genius. She is bland, even if the obtuseness or wickedness of anti-suffrage men drives her to something like bitterness. In short, a personage, a thinker, an orator, a thrice clever and all-around woman.

Dr. SHAW is, however, a possible or probable source of anti-suffrage feeling. "If women like that are going in for politics, where do I come in?" man in his weakness may be thought to murmur. The fear is vain. There are mighty few women like Dr. SHAW. Indeed, she is singular, without dual or plural.

RALLYING TO THE RAILWAYS' SUPPORT.

Newspaper readers may have noticed that the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Western rate advance case allowed the railways something, and thought that ended the matter. It rather opened it, for the decision was on details only, the Commission shirking decision in principle upon two points. Both are still pending before the Interstate Commission, and both are covered by the Missouri decision. Twice the Interstate Commission was asked to say that the railways needed an advance in rates as a whole. Both times it evaded the decision, objecting that to advance the rates as a whole would allow excessive profits to some. The Interstate Commission also shirked deciding what should be done when there is a conflict between State and interstate rates. These points go to the root of the railway question in a manner beyond any consideration of any single rates. They are points of principle upon which the country had a right to look to the Interstate Commission for light and leading. They are questions which Congress referred to the Interstate Commission for decision, and which the Constitution makes it the duty of the Federal regulators to decide. But the Interstate Commission measures so far below its opportunity that it left it to the Commission of a State notoriously not friendly to railways to decide in their favor. In this light the decision of the Missouri Commission is an indictment of both Congress and the Interstate Commission. If perchance Congress is not satisfied with the present state of the railway question there are few subjects to which it could give more profitable attention than supporting the principles of the Missouri decision.

The Missouri Commission had no such difficulty. Its decision is unanimous, following upon its finding that the conditions in Missouri are such as prevail throughout the United States, namely that the costs of the railways have been so increased by conditions over which they have no control that they are entitled to raise rates otherwise reasonable. The principle upon which the freight rates were increased was readjustment to the interstate rates, which the Interstate Commission had found discriminatingly low in favor of Missouri. The Missouri politicians apparently think that there is still another campaign in hostility to the railways. Accordingly the Missouri Attorney General, in the expressive language best understood in Missouri, says that he has conferred with the shippers, and is preparing "to hop on the decision with both feet." Governor MAJOR publicly expresses his dissatisfaction with the Commission which he appointed, which sufficiently indicates that he appointed it for a purpose. Senator REED made a speech in which he declared it a grave thing to overturn a solemn statute when no voice was raised in behalf of three and a half million people. It was humiliating to him to think that the rates of Missouri were above those of Illinois and Kansas. Both these gentlemen are reputed candidates for a Federal Senatorship. They might take their views to Washington, unless perhaps the people of Missouri should take it into their heads to send instead the Chairman of the Commission that after long and careful inquiry made the decision which those not charged with any special duty or information find no difficulty in rejecting offhand.

Will it be believed that the Missouri newspapers prefer the decision of the Commission to the indignation of the officials who declare that what Missouri wants is still lower rates? It has taken the officials a year or two to recover from the shock when the farmers of Missouri led the popular revolt against the solemn statute expressing the opinion that it was in the interest of Missouri that the railways should hire more labor than they needed. Just so the Missouri newspapers now are declaring that the profits of the railways are more important than serving shippers below cost. The St. Louis Republic remarks that in 1913 nine industries tributary to the railways disbursed in St. Louis wages of $874,000, and in 1914 $588,000 less. The Republic says that the reason for the reduction of those disbursements in St. Louis, affecting over ten thousand men for those nine industries alone, was that in a good railway year railways were unable to make normal expenditures "on ac-"count of the reduction in their rev-"enues through restrictive legislation "in a time of increasing prices for "labor and supplies." The Republic declares that it knows this because it placed hundreds of those thus thrown out of employment on the farms of Missouri. The Republic says with levity that the solemnity which sweeps over those amazed at the annulment of a solemn statute is trivial compared with that of heads of families who walk the streets in Winter without work through the act of the Legislature. The Missouri newspapers remark the depreciation of investments, the reduction of trust funds, the threat to the security of life insurance contracts, and other similar matters which are just as pressing outside Missouri as within it. The country has long waited for such a lead as that which now comes from Missouri. There is need for such nerve as that shown by the Commission in revolt against the hackneyed and outworn anti-railway issue.

THE NICARAGUA TREATY.

The report that a Canadian company has been negotiating for the right of way across Nicaragua, with the purpose of building a railway which might compete in the transportation of freight with the Panama Canal, lacks verification. Such an enterprise would require a great deal of capital and the railway could not be built very quickly. It would require years of patient labor to lay a roadbed. But it must be borne in mind that Canadian capital is active in Latin-American countries and that the Canadians are a wide-awake people. The necessity of early action by the United States Senate on the treaty with Nicaragua, which bestows upon the United States the right to build a canal across that country and will benefit in other ways both the Nicaraguans and ourselves, is apparent. It is announced from Washington that the Administration will impress upon the Senate the urgency of action in this matter.

There are other pending treaties with Central American States which should not be neglected. If the terms of the treaties do not meet Senatorial approval they are susceptible of amendment. If any of their provisions conflict with existing treaties, those provisions may be modified. But the prevailing idea seems to be that it is incompatible with the dignity of the Senate to accept any treaty favored by an Administration without long delay, and the only other objection to recently proposed treaties with Central American countries which has been put forward is that they might enable American capitalists to make more money and are in some way associated with "dollar diplomacy." This objection does not seem pertinent in the case of the Nicaragua treaty.

NOTHING BUT SLANDER.

Mr. HENRY LANE WILSON, who served this country as its Ambassador in Mexico in the last few years of the administration of President DIAZ and through the short term of President MADERO, had previously been Minister to Chile, and in a long diplomatic career won an enviable reputation for sobriety of judgment and discretion. While the street fighting was in progress in the City of Mexico between the rebel forces of FELIX DIAZ and the Federal troops, Ambassador WILSON did more than any other one man to protect the lives of foreigners, as was freely admitted by persons of various nationalities then in the capital. When there were signs of a truce, Mr. WILSON arranged for a meeting of FELIX DIAZ with General HUERTA at the American Embassy, with the idea of promoting peace. This was an error of judgment from the diplomatic point of view, but the strict rules of diplomacy are difficult of observance in a country like Mexico, especially when a Government is tottering. Mr. WILSON'S advice to the Administration at Washington to recognize the Provisional Government thereafter set up by HUERTA was also in questionable judgment. His advice in that matter had not been asked for, and it has not been the custom of our Presidents to accord recognition to merely Provisional Governments. But to judge such errors harshly, when the state of turmoil which then existed in Mexico and the weakness which had characterized the Madero Government from the first are taken into consideration, is manifestly unfair.

Mr. JOHN LIND, who was sent to Mexico by President WILSON as a personal representative, and made a sorry mess of all negotiations he attempted while there, is now quoted as declaring at a church meeting in Minneapolis that Ambassador WILSON "knew of "and consented to the assassination of "President MADERO." Mr. LIND refuses either to affirm or deny the report of what he said. If he has information to justify such a grave charge and has withheld it, he is culpable. But Mr. WILSON'S fellow-countrymen of all political parties will refuse to believe that he was a party to a political murder or that he knew anything beforehand of the intent of certain Mexicans to put MADERO to death. He can fairly afford to stand on his clear record of valuable Government service and his established reputation for probity. As for his taking Mr. LIND so seriously as to begin an action against him, that seems scarcely worth while.

COLUMBIA'S MEDICAL MILLION.

The war has brought and keeps bringing so many calls upon the generosity of the public that perhaps it is matter of regret rather than of surprise that Columbia University was unable to raise her half of the $2,000,000 needed to take up jointly with the Presbyterian Hospital the option on the old American League baseball park on Washington Heights, which was to be the site of a medical school and centre worthy of New York. It will be unfortunate if the time of the option cannot be extended, but a suitable situation will no doubt be found. The hospital was ready with its million; the friends of Columbia, the friends of medical teaching and research, the public-spirited citizens of New York can be depended upon to make up Columbia's contribution.

New York must not be behind, it must be ahead of, Berlin and Vienna in the facilities of medical science; and the great plan devised and ripened in the last four years by Columbia and the Presbyterian Hospital assures that pre-eminence, at least assures New York an adequate medical centre equal to the position and demands of this city of marvelous and illimitable growth. Between fourteen and fifteen millions will be needed for the completion of this plan, which contemplates a medical centre, a great general hospital in the midst of clinics and special hospitals, the great endowment of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, now conducted at a loss of some $150,000 a year, modern sufficient buildings, the co-ordination of existing and the nucleus of future foundations.

All this splendid and necessary equipment will be furnished in time. For the moment, the task is the collection of Columbia's million. Owing to some sort of misunderstanding between the two institutions, Columbia had only from the latter part of August till Nov. 20 in which to find her preliminary million. President BUTLER pleasantly compares the arduous and as yet unfruitful job to that of the Greek "gentleman named Sisyphus," who was always rolling a stone uphill, whence it rolled regularly down. We can't see the indefatigable, successful Dr. BUTLER as Sisyphus. Mythologically, he is rather the plucker of the Golden Bough. "Tear "off one and another comes in its "place." He didn't have the time, or he would have had the million. It is for New York, it is for all who have the wish and means to further a noble and far-reaching project for the advancement of medicine and surgery and the public health, to pay Columbia her million; and to pay the other millions when they are needed.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Magnificence Was in Their Lives.

That a near approach to the extreme of simplicity, so far as concerns the expenditure of money, should have marked the funerals of two men so pre-eminent in distinction as were, each in his way, Dr. SCHECHTER and Dr. TRUDEAU, is a fact that will give new emphasis to the familiar protests against the extravagance which, so often that it can be called almost always, is shown on these occasions.

The great Jewish theologian was buried in literally the "six boards" of the ancient formula, and, greatly as he was honored and loved, not a single flower was allowed to mar the austerity of this humble coffin. Thus faithfully were his own requests and instructions carried out by those who knew him. As for the physician who had fought so long and bravely and successfully to change the despair of uncounted thousands into life and hope, he took care, before he died, that he should have what he called and had caused others at Saranac to call the "standard funeral"—a funeral the entire cost of which is $75. Years and years ago Dr. TRUDEAU, realizing the straitened circumstances in which were many of those who came to him too late for saving, had arranged for and commended with all his influence funerals of this sort, and it was in natural consistency as well as personal preference that he expressed the wish, in effect an order, that no more than the "standard" amount should be spent for his own final disposition.

The frequency with which money goes for funerals that is needed, sometimes desperately, for the support of surviving members of a family, is well known to all. It is done usually out of an inclination, in itself deserving of sympathy if not of commendation, thus to give manifest expression to the grief of bereavement, but sometimes the economic folly of it is recognized only to be ignored under what is felt as a social compulsion to indulge in the conventional lavishness. Moral courage of a high order is required for violating the conventions and disappointing the expectations of friends and neighbors, but when, as in these two cases, the acknowledged great have simple funerals, the exemplary force is or ought to be convincing.

An Apology Wins Forgiveness.

So nearly alone as a modern instance in England, or in any English-speaking country for that matter, stands the suppression of The London Globe by the exercise of governmental power, that the episode produced a rather painful impression, as though the never-to-be-overvalued freedom of the press somehow had been infringed. That the offense of The Globe was a grave one is made obvious by the severity of the action taken against it, and the paper itself has now recognized the extent of its transgression—and incidentally earned the privilege of resumption—by apologizing for making and persisting in the statement that Lord KITCHENER had resigned his enormously important position.

As the Government officials had formally and explicitly denied that this was true, the publication of the assertion in effect accused those officials of using deliberate falsehood to conceal a transaction of the utmost moment, and naturally this was bitterly resented. In any other circumstances, however, than those produced by a great war, the British Government would hardly have gone the length it did in silencing a journalistic critic, and even now many will retain an impression that there was more to the case than has appeared—that The Globe might have escaped with nothing worse than loss of reputation as accurate and well-informed if it had done nothing more than state as a fact what was, and easily could be proved, the reverse of true.

Its real offending may have been that it compelled the Government not only to deny that Lord KITCHENER had resigned, but also to reveal that he had been sent on an important mission to the Near East. It may well have been desired that his absence from London should be unknown until after his destination had been reached and his task, whatever it was, accomplished, partly because thus he could do his designed work more effectively, and partly because the revelation of his departure seriously increased the dangers of his journey by putting his enemies on the watch for him.

Interesting Parents in Schools.

At least a part of the Philadelphians have come to realize that the efficiency of their public school system depends in no small measure on the amount of personal interest taken in it by the parents of the children who attend the schools. These wise persons have formed a "Home and School League," through which to manifest this highly commendable feeling, and they are appealing for the co-operation of all who consider it of importance that the best possible effects from public instruction should be obtained.

The members of the league held their annual conference last week in the William Penn High School for Girls, and they listened to several carefully prepared addresses dealing especially with the needs of feminine pupils. One of these addresses was by Dr. ANN TOMKINS GIBBON, the newly appointed Medical Adviser to the Public Schools, and her plea was that parents should do what they could to aid the teachers in guarding the health of their daughters as a priceless possession.

Another address that was heard with notable attention was by JACOB GIMBEL, whose topic was the relation of the public schools to business. Mr. GIMBEL emphasized the desirability that parents should have clear understandings as to the object of the education received by their daughters, and that the teacher should endeavor to discover the particular bent of each girl and do what she could to fit her work to her capacity and inclination. "Home," he said, "stands as a link between school and business, and in their attitude toward both institutions parents should discourage paltry criticism of superiors, which ultimately degenerates into a destructively critical attitude toward work that precludes the possibility of satisfactory service and progress."

MYTHICAL INDIAN REVOLTS.

Reports, Through Berlin, That Have Proved to be False.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was glad to read that the rumors of the so-called revolts in India and the deposition of the Nizam of Hyderabad have been officially denied by the India Office. When they were first circulated in New York I felt no hesitation in stigmatizing the report as a lie manufactured in Germany.

Two more fabrications of the Teutons should now, I feel, be exposed. It was reported a few days ago from Berlin that the Indian troops marching toward Bagdad had revolted, and that one out of ten of the Sepoys had to be shot down. I am in a position to say that there is not an atom of truth in the statement. The Indian Army under General Nixon is successfully operating, and it is now within forty miles of Bagdad.

Another canard circulated by Germany was to the effect that the Ameer of Afghanistan was preparing to invade India. We had a cable dispatch from Calcutta last Friday stating that not only the Ameer was friendly with the British, but was co-operating with the British-Indian authorities to put down the almost annual raids perpetrated by the tribesmen on the northwest frontiers of India, and that he had handed over to the Indian authorities the raiders who had escaped to Afghanistan.

Significance of War Pensions.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In his protest against the expense of military preparedness for defense, J. E. Arnett states that "The United States leads the world in its annual appropriation for wars, past, present, and to come." He cites the appropriation of 1913, which shows a total of $400,000,000, of which $197,000,000, or 40 per cent. of the whole, was for pensions and interest on the public debt.

Assuming that his figures are correct, it offers an excellent argument for preparedness against war, and justifies the spending of the necessary money therefor. The bill for pensions and interest is exactly what we are paying because of not being prepared. If the nation had had an adequate army in 1860, there would have been no civil war, nor any pensions or public debt worth mentioning.

A STATEN ISLAND SUBWAY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a daily reader of your paper, I have been very much impressed with the fairness of its editorials, and was rather disappointed that in a recent issue, under the heading "The City's Passenger Traffic," no mention was made or encouragement given to the proposition for a subway for Staten Island.

You write: "It is all the same to Manhattan whichever way the people ride, provided that they are kept within the city and not compelled to live elsewhere by deficiency of transit."

As the subways are now operating, that very principle is violated. The Grand Central Station, with its New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroads, Pennsylvania Terminal, the Long Island Railroad Station at Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn; Newark, and Jersey City are all well connected by means of subways and tubes.

The people who take advantage of these facilities to build their homes and pay their taxes outside of the city are looking for good residential sections within cheap and close communication with the city in which they work. Staten Island as a residential section is without a peer, and its beauty cannot be surpassed. But the only connection between Staten Island and Manhattan is a ferry which takes three times as long on clear days as a subway would, with longer intervals, greater dangers, and more subservience to weather conditions. Such a transit situation has little attraction for prospective home builders.

There is room on Staten Island for 3,000,000 people. The taxable possibilities of such a proposition are almost unlimited. It is within the power of New York City to divert the throngs of New York workers who are now finding homes and paying taxes outside of the city toward the sun-kissed hills of Staten Island. The best plan is the one advanced by William Wirt Mills, which provides two extra tracks for the carrying of freight. Such a subway would be unique. It would do what no other has done—pay for itself almost at its incipiency. It would line Richmond's shores with manufactories, for it would provide them with freight communication. It would attract the great ocean liners which now pass it to go six or seven miles further up into that narrow stream, the Hudson, where two ships cannot back out at once for fear of a collision, and where great coffer-dams must be constructed away into Manhattan for lack of water width. Steamship companies would grasp at the opportunity to use Staten Island's splendid docking facilities and save precious time, if they had the means of getting their passengers and freight quickly and cheaply into the heart of the city.

Such a subway would relieve the present freight congestion in the port of New York, and become a source of revenue to the city in carrying of such freight. It would regain and keep a large taxable population which either has been, or will be, lost to the city.

For the Workers of France.

On the strength of an urgent letter, written from Paris by Mrs. Henry Conkling, who has been engaged in alleviating the distress caused by the war among women and girls in the Gros Caillou, one of the poorest quarters of Paris, Mrs. Alice Macfarlane Hines of this city has transmitted to THE TIMES an earnest appeal for assistance for the workers in France. Mrs. Conkling and Mlle. Guilhou have established a workshop which makes garments for the hospitals and gives employment to women and girls at sufficient wages to keep them from starving. Every dollar contributed to this work provides some unfortunate with labor and meagre support for four days. None of the money is used for organization expenses, it is pointed out; but this Winter, with the cost of living 50 per cent. higher than last Winter, it will be necessary to obtain assistance from this country unless the poor are to be abandoned to their fate.

Contributions should be sent, in a lump sum or in installments, to Mrs. Walker D. Hines, 122 East Seventieth Street, New York City.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was much interested in Allan L. Benson's letter in THE TIMES. After branding as "militarists" and "capitalistic" plotters those who would put their native land in a proper state of defense, he rises to a pinnacle of pure patriotism, and announces that, while he would not obey his country's commands unless they suited him, he would arise in his might and repel an invasion.

If only he would explain just how he intends to do it! Does he plan to project an unarmed mass of human beings against the machine guns and howitzers that the invaders are liable to bring with them? A nation unarmed and untrained has about as much chance of "arising in its might" as the peaceful householder who awakes to find a burglar standing over him with a pistol leveled at his head. If Mr. Benson locks his doors at night and does not object to police protection, it seems to me that his arguments lose weight.

A Thanksgiving Reminder.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Many people like to associate Thanksgiving with some act of special charity. Let us, then, give to the Poles, to the Serbians, the Russian Hebrews, and the Armenians, but do not let ourselves in this crisis forget brave little Belgium, whose sacrifice from the start of the war has been continuous and supreme.

The Dollar Christmas Fund for Destitute Belgians, of which I am Treasurer, seeks to capitalize some of our Thanksgiving charity and good-will in behalf of King Albert's stricken people, a large proportion of whom are in the daily bread line. I crave the hospitality of your readers at this season in behalf of a cause which makes a very special appeal to American sentiment.

Treasurer of the Dollar Christmas Fund.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is the name "America" to become a byword for disgrace and cowardice? Have we become a degenerate race, utterly helpless to protect our country's honor or very existence as a nation? The shame of it to an honest American is unbearable. On every side of us, from Maine to California, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there is treason and murder, ruin to our business institutions, open and secretly glorified in by those traitors.

It is known to all who wish to see. Can nothing be done?

THE CONQUEST OF THE VICTORS

Just over the river, in Jersey,
The conqueror's torch is ablaze;
The wood, in her holiday robing,
Is passing her festival days.

The work of the Summer is over:
Each twig and each toil-broken vine
Rejoice in their purpose accomplished,

The earth is spread thickly with promise
Of life to awaken in May;
While wee bursting buds still are giving,
Still lavishly throwing away.

But over the pageant of color
A thin, gauzy curtain hangs low;
An incense veil gathering gently;
A funeral breath over the glow.

For, far beyond throbbing Manhattan,
The storm king assembles his hosts:
The clouds, and the wind, tell his coming:
The wood waits, enrapt, at its post!

WHAT CHINA MUST DECIDE FOR HERSELF.

An Issue of Whether She Will Retain Her Tradition for Peace or Become a Military Nation in Self-Defense.

By ANDREW B. HUMPHREY,

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The newspapers have been so crowded with war news and politics recently that the ratification, on Oct. 23, of a new peace and arbitration treaty between the United States and China seems to have escaped the attention it deserved. This treaty agreement is the seventeenth of its kind in effect between the United States and foreign nations providing arbitration for the settlement of international disputes. Similar treaties with thirteen other foreign countries have been agreed upon, and only the details of ratification are pending.

For a half century there has been a kindly feeling between the Governments and peoples of the United State and China; in fact, this sentiment has developed into a warm friendship. This was evidenced when the United States returned to China some $18,000,000 from the "Boxer War Indemnity Fund." China has reciprocated by using a considerable portion of this money to educate Chinese students in the educational institutions of the United State. There are nearly a thousand of these Chinese men and women attending the universities, technical and preparatory schools of the United States. A Chinese graduate of Cornell is Ambassador to Great Britain, and Dr. Koo, a renowned international lawyer, a graduate of Columbia, has recently been made Chinese Ambassador to the United States. These educational exchanges are significant and promising for international amity.

The attitude of the people of the United States has been decidedly against any attempt on the part of any nation or any combination of nations to partition China or weaken it as either empire or republic.

Since the European war began one section of China, under lease to a foreign nation, has been invaded and captured as a war prize by another foreign nation. To accomplish this the home territory of China was invaded, against her protest, and a foreign army marched across this territory in violation of international law and treaty agreements. With Europe in the turmoils of war, and China struggling through its transition period from monarchy to republic, new complications have arisen, both domestic and external, which may force China to revert to a monarchy in order to save her sovereignty and prevent the partition of her territory. While all the world is interested in this event, the republics of the world are especially interested in preserving, if possible, the republican principle for ultimate realization by China.

China has made wonderful progress during the last three years along republican lines. She has established an equitable system of taxation which has been successfully administered. This has been a great object lesson for the people of China, and far-reaching in its educational effects. The republican principle has been exemplified even in the proposal to change the republic to a monarchy, in that Yuan Shih-kai, the President, has referred the matter in a direct referendum to the people for determination as to whether they will change their form of government to a monarchy. This in itself was a triumph for the republican principle.

It is maintained by some that the chief reason for reverting to the monarchical system is because of external dangers that menace the republic and the Chinese people. The pressure brought to bear on China in recent treaty negotiations with Japan has brought home to the people the necessity for, and the advantage of, a strong central Government and an adequate defense for the preservation of the integrity of China from both domestic and foreign foes.

It is a matter for congratulation that the United States and France have just declined to join with certain foreign nations in "advising" China not to change her present form of government. Whatever individual views and interests may inspire, let us assume that the Chinese people know the form of government that will best conform to her needs as a people and insure her sovereignty as a nation.

Whether a republic or a monarchy is best for China should be decided by the people of China, without domination from outside. The motto of the friends of China throughout the world should be "Hands off China." Give her a chance to regulate her own affairs, and if possible retain her traditions for peace toward all the outside world. And if this is not possible, give her a free hand to educate and prepare her people along defensive lines, even to the extent of becoming a military people if she is forced to defend herself against aggression from the outside and inspired intrigues from within.

The China Society of America was organized to foster and encourage good-will between the peoples of China and the United States, and we appeal to the people of the United States for fair play toward China. It is for this purpose that we ask the people of the United States to give due consideration to China's difficulties and to ask that she shall have a fair chance to develop her social and political institutions along lines that seem best to her, without outside interference, except in such manner as may help her to establish the good government and peace she desires.

China for thousands of years has been a peaceful nation, asking only to be let alone. World conditions that may threaten her sovereignty may compel her to become a military nation. This is greatly to be deplored from an international peace standpoint, because the awakening of the military spirit in 400,000,000 people may mean peril to other nations who are not far-sighted enough to see that such an event might ultimately upset the "peace balance of the Eastern Hemisphere." The Chinese people respond readily to the spirit of justice and fairness, and are renowned throughout the world for their honesty in commercial dealings. In the interest of justice, humanity, and world welfare for all nations and peoples, why not give China a chance?

PRISON PSYCHOLOGY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent editorial you made a statement regarding Mr. Osborne's plan of prison reform in which you maintain that it is not new, but has been followed by other prisons with varying degrees of success.

To my personal knowledge Mr. Osborne's system in a modified form has been followed in the Montana State Prison for over twenty years, if that system is based upon humane principles and giving hope and encouragement to the misguided inmates of a penal institution, and that is what I understand Mr. Osborne's system to consist in.

For more than twenty years the inmates of the Montana State Prison have been working outside the prison walls, building roads, working on farms, and erecting buildings, sometimes 400 miles away from the prison. The few guards that the Warden sends with them are never armed; he has never had occasion to arm guards, and they are always in the position of foremen over the men. The instructions that the guards always receive from the Warden in taking men out to the various camps are to treat the men humanely and kindly, but firmly. Abusing prisoners inside or outside the prison walls Warden Conley has never tolerated, and any guard who violates this rule is instantly dismissed.

Convicts as a rule are not the enemies of society that reactionary people believe them to be. The most of them are young fellows who have violated laws, as much by accident as by design, and without any intention of following a life of crime, or of being the enemies of society. I have directed the labors of convicts for over eight years in this State, and I have never had any trouble with them during that time. I have invariably found them willing to work, ambitious to learn, and to please those who direct their labors.

The walls and all the buildings of the State Prison in Montana are evidences of the industry of the inmates of the prison, and I think for its size it will compare favorably with any prison in the United States. The smooth, permanent highways in many parts of this State show what these men can do when properly directed. There is no compulsion necessary in getting the men to work; all volunteer willingly, and their behavior in camp will compare favorably with that of any equal number of men who have never been inside the walls of a prison.

Modern Wall Street.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have just read the letter of "Wall Street Anti-Socialist." The working conditions in the Wall Street offices certainly need investigation. The hours in the law offices are unending, including Saturday afternoons. The toilet rooms for women in most of the "modern buildings" are inadequate, and in some of the older buildings no places whatever are provided for women. Complaints have brought no relief. Surely some one is responsible for the inspection of these buildings, and these conditions should not be allowed to continue.

Mr. Sharkey's Principle.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read your tribute in honor of the late Rev. Father Reaney. I, as well as others, feel his loss very keenly. I take pleasure in attempting to correct that statement relative to Tom Sharkey. You have put it before the public that Father Reaney had to upbraid Tom Sharkey for being turbulent. That is false. Such a thing is against Tom Sharkey's principle.

A PREPAREDNESS SERMON.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Exactly how important it is that the public should know that the Rev. Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah, declined to advocate military or naval defense in his Thanksgiving sermon, authorities will differ. You evidently thought it sufficiently important to print his letter.

With the highest personal regard for Dr. Holmes, and not a little admiration for your judgment, I still find it possible to be a Christian minister, and love peace enough to pray for it, work for it, prepare for it, and, when necessity compels, fight for it.

And, since I am among the oldest clergymen in continuous service in this city, and on the only occasion I ever had, when duty demanded, answered the call to arms and went to war, I feel that I have the right as well as the privilege to say that it will be a great pleasure to preach on Thanksgiving Day a sermon in the course of which I shall make preparedness for this nation's security a Christian citizen's bounden duty.

The man who wants war is a fiend. Yet all wars are not wrong. We owe our national existence to a righteous war. We will lose our national existence if we care so little for it that we become unwilling to pray, work, and, when necessity compels, to fight for it.

Preparedness is for defense, not necessarily for war, but surely for peace.

Pacifism is profitless when patriotism is needed. Meekness is an exalted virtue, but a high-minded man must not be soft or timid. When an iniquitous wrong is committed a righteous man or an influential nation must never fail to condemn it. The nation properly prepared for defense will save a world from war and ruin.

My admiration for meekness and humility is as great as any lover of peace, but when wild animals are running loose the imperative call is for defense.

This nation must be made secure.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Permit me to indorse the letter of your correspondent who signs himself "Red Blood." I have met no one who is not absolutely disgusted with the record of the Administration in connection with the European war.

Six months have passed during which we have continued to exchange admirably worded, polite diplomatic notes. Our country has been asked to rejoice in the great diplomatic victory of our Administration. As far as the Lusitania case is concerned, we are no step further forward than we were in May.

Citizens who think as I do maintain that the ethical attitude of our nation should not differ from that of the individual. They feel ashamed and mortified to have been put in the position collectively of condoning an act which as individuals they can never forgive.

Opera Manners.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is it not a most reprehensible habit New Yorkers have of rising from their seats and leaving the Metropolitan Opera House before the last act is over? Last evening's opera, "Boris Godunow," was splendidly sung, acted and staged, and the music so beautiful. Yet while Boris was dying fully three-quarters of the people were on their feet, disturbing neighbors desirous of hearing the orchestra to the end, climbing over those remaining seated as though they were escaping from a fire. It was disgraceful, and those who were fortunate enough to be able to sit down stairs should consider that there are others who should not be so rudely disturbed.

Of course, this does not happen in the gallery, where the people would stick to their seats as if glued there rather than miss a single note of such music.

MR. DREW ENLIVENS AN ENGLISH COMEDY

WRITTEN BY H. A. VACHELL

A Nice, Conventional, Cleverly Written Piece Proves Agreeably Entertaining at the Empire.

The Earl of Yester	John Drew
Lord Arthur Wrexham	Echlin Gayer
Derek Waring	George Graham
Trinder	Walter Soderling
Thomas	William Barnes
Cynthia Vansittart	Laura Hope Crews
Daphne Kenyon	Consuelo Bailey
Mrs. Bargus	Katherine Stewart
Emil Bargus	Thais Lawton

It may sound a bit ungrateful, and certainly it sounds strangely familiar when those coming from a placid and altogether agreeable evening spent with John Drew and a new comedy at the Empire, observe to all inquiring friends: "It's a typical Drew play." Yet there is no simpler or more intelligible way of reporting briefly such a pleasant première as took place at that theatre last evening, when "The Chief," a new piece in three acts, was presented to New York for the first time.

Despite a somewhat belated sally into Shakespeare and a more recent revival of an old romance, there is no possibility of mistaking what is meant by "a typical Drew play." It describes exactly just such a polite, conventional, cleverly phrased, unsubstantial and thoroughly English comedy as this new one from the pen of the prolific Horace Annesley Vachell. "The Chief" is amusing, and it is worth a journey to the Empire just to see how nicely it is played by Mr. Drew and the delightful Laura Hope Crews.

Mr. Vachell is an Englishman who has retired from the presumably ennobling life of an American ranch to the greater comforts of a handsome English country seat. His publishers laud him in a pamphlet, on the cover of which is set forth the amazing and quite incredible statement that he is "an author who loves people more than things," but he has more substantial claim to fame in the form of a creditable shelf of novels from his pen and of late he has rather abruptly burst forth as a dramatist, with many plays on hand in all the stages from newly read manuscript to the dust of the store room. He has a very pretty, if not a flashing, wit, and in "The Chief" he has overlaid a naïvely transparent, slightly old-fashioned and undistinguished plot, with a clever dialogue that makes charming, if not complete, amends.

The new play at the Empire is bright. It calls irresistibly to mind a true story that is sometimes told to illustrate the way the ingenuous theatregoer is wont to confuse player and part. "I just love to go to see John Drew," says the lady of the story. "He's so terribly witty." She will have a lovely time at "The Chief."

The Chief is the pet, household name for the Earl of Yester, a middle-aged, mildly flirtatious, lazily gallant peer of the sort Mr. Drew can play with his eyes shut. Yester, partly through diffidence, partly through indolence, and partly through the machinations of an acquisitive dowager, had let slip the chance to woo and win a charming girl who now, ten years later, meets him when she is a widow and he a widower. Though the dowager is still on the job, though another woman is snatching at his hand, though he suspects that his pretty ward has conceived a secret passion for him, he will not be defrauded a second time. At last he has his way and the lady of his heart.

Mr. Drew plays the Earl of Yester with that consummate and expert ease and airy good humor which for many years have kept his friends many and warm. The first-act tear in the trouser leg and the third-act rumple to the hair do not in the least conceal the well-bred, genial soul that has moved through most of his comedies. Probably the performance represents no heroic labor on his part, but it can be spoken of slightingly only by those who do not recognize good acting unless it be accompanied by a completely disguising characterization.

As the reappearing heroine in Yester's life Laura Hope Crews has little to do and does it to perfection. She is one of the best comediennes on the American stage, and the grace of her playing is ever a pleasure to watch.

Lesser rôles are well played by George Graham, Consuelo Bailey, and Thais Lawton. Mr. Graham, who did a bit exceedingly well last season in "The Law of the Land," is again an English Secretary, and a good one. Miss Bailey, as the pert ward of the Earl, is almost as cunning as she intends to be, and that is saying a great deal. It would be better if Mr. Vachell—by cable and without regard to expense—would write an American past for the ward into his text, something, at all events, to account for her very provincial speech which rather disturbs the calm of Hallicombe-on-Thames.

Miss Lawton does an ungrateful rôle with considerable ability, and doubtless it is due to the director's scheme for "The Chief" being innocent of surprises, that she gives away her past at the first opportunity by blenching, wrenching her features and seeming about to swoon at each cue for any uneasiness of conscience. As Mrs. Bargus, the scheming dowager, Katherine Stewart is a bit thick.

"The Chief" is produced nicely enough, with hearty approval audibly accorded the second act set. For some reason or other, a New York audience invariably applauds loudly whenever a room is decorated in flowered cretonne. Surely a producer is overlooking a short cut to success who does not swathe all his theatrical properties in that cheerful material.

"First time on any stage"—so ran the slogan on the program last night, the author thereof doubtless overlooking the earlier stages of the preliminary tour. However, the important thing to report is that "The Chief" has reached the Empire stage and there, with John Drew in fine form, it will provide for you very agreeable entertainment.

SWAMIJI GIVES SOUL TO BEAUX ARTS BALL

Dancing is the sign of the all-pervading principle of life and garb the expression of the soul, hence it is that "The Great Swan," the Swamiji Bhumananda, gives aid and counsel these days to those who are designing costumes for the approaching ball of the Society of the Beaux Arts Architects.

It may seem, indeed, a far cry between the ascetic life of one of the Order of Shankaracharya to the brilliantly lighted rooms and the wealth of rich and clinging draperies of the approaching function where society is to gather.

The Beaux Arts ball is an expression of art. To the Swamiji Bhumananda art is life and religion, too. So, when he was asked if he would criticise the designs for the costumes he replied that he would only be too glad to be of service.

All the wondrous symbolism of the East is to be represented at the festival of next February, which, it is believed, will surpass any of the remarkable entertainments which the architects have given. The last one, which was a Venetian Fête, was held two years ago.

To Encompass Span of Century.

The Beaux Arts ball of 1916 is to encompass the span of centuries in the spicy and the tinkley East. It will begin with the movement of Aryan races across the great plateau; it will invoke the mystic powers on the roof of the world. Its imagery will come from ancient Cathay and set forth the Cipango of old. From the mythology of Egypt, of India, and of Greece it will draw much of its inspiration, and hence it is that the Swamiji was led to take so deep an interest in a phase of life so far removed from his own sphere. To him there is worship even in the daily acts and in the amusements of mankind.

When he was told that the students of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art were making sketches for the pageant which is to be the feature of the ball, he said it was well that he should give all the help that he could. That was how it happened that the class in costume design, directed by Miss Zerelda Rains, was astonished very recently to see before them the tall and commanding form of a Prince of India. Before he renounced the world the Swamiji was known by his title of nobility, but now that identity is forgotten. Grave and calm, with his iron-gray bread resting upon his breast, the Great Swan glanced about him. He was accompanied by a Hindu artist, Sasi Hamar Hesh. They had been introduced at the school by Mrs. Ina Steele Colson of this city.

Await Call of the Soul.

The Swamiji had traveled all over the world on his missions, and his painter friend had studied in the schools of Paris and of Rome and Munich as well as in those of Calcutta.

The sage before whom rajahs of his own land consider themselves unworthy to sit was soon talking easily of the art of India. He glanced over the sketches that had been made and here and there gave a suggestion.

"It must die," said he, as he looked at a sketch meant to represent the divine Ra of Egypt, "that before again you try this that you shall hear the call of the soul. Such a garb as this is not as it should be. It lacks the touch of reverence."

He smiled as he glanced at the draped figure which appeared in one sketch, and then, taking up an Indian scarf lying across a chair, swirled it about a young woman with such deft skill that the class at once realized the beauty of the sinuous grace which he had revealed as if by magic.

Pencils moved swiftly to catch the inspiration of the moment. And then the Swamiji discoursed on color and explained its symbolism. Especially he spoke of the cerulean blue which is the color of the faces of the gods.

Departs with Sacred Sign.

And when he had finished the sage passed out of the classroom, making as he went a sacred sign.

The Swamiji is now in his sixty-third year. He sprang from the highest Brahmin caste and is a Vedantist. He has received all the degrees at the four monasteries of his order and has traveled about his native land imparting to all who asked him the knowledge of life. To all who seek to know he tells what he can, for his religion so commands, and whether the question be of the wisdom of the ages or pertains to the last moment of modern days, it matters not to the seer, to whom nothing which has to do with his fellowman is foreign.

SIR ARTHUR W. YOUNG DIES.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Sir Arthur William Young, the arctic explorer, who was navigating officer of the Fox in the successful expedition that found the records of the lost Franklin parties, in 1857-9, died here today in his eighty-sixth year.

He was born in 1830, and entered the mercantile marine at the age of sixteen. During the Crimean war, Sir Arthur commanded the Marlborough, an East Indiaman, and the troopship Adelaide. In 1859, after finding the records of the Franklin parties, he commanded a sledge party and traveled 1,400 miles in the arctic circle, discovering more than 380 miles of new coast line.

After becoming famous for his explorations, Sir Arthur went to China and assisted the late Admiral Sherard Osborn to equip the European-Chinese Navy, and commanded the Quan-tung, man of war during the Taeping rebellion of 1862-4. From this he turned to exploration again and commanded the Pandora, the first vessel to navigate the Peel Straits. In 1876, Sir Arthur returned to the Arctic, where he communicated with the depots of the Alert and Discovery in Smith Sound, and in 1882 commanded the Hope on the Eira relief expedition, and rescued the crew of that vessel, which was lost in Franz Joseph Sound.

Sir Arthur belonged to the Marlborough, Garrick, and Turf Clubs of London, and the Royal Yacht Squadron at Cowes. He was knighted in 1877, became a Companion of the Bath in 1881, and a Commander of the Royal Victorian Order in 1903.

H. R. ELDRIDGE DIES CROSSING THE ANDES

Herbert Rucker Eldridge, Vice President of the National City Bank, died suddenly on Sunday morning, from heart disease, at Potosi, in Bolivia, in his forty-sixth year. He was traveling in South America with bank associates in connection with establishing branches for the bank, and the high altitude in crossing the Andes brought on heart disease.

Mr. Eldridge was born in Decatur, Ill., and was a son of the late Edwin R. Eldridge and Mrs. Armina J. Eldridge. He was brought up in Illinois and educated in the public schools, removing to Chicago in 1886. After studying shorthand, Mr. Eldridge went to Texas and there qualified as a court reporter. After working some time at his profession he became associated with Tyler & Simpson, grocers, and occupied a responsible position in the firm when offered the cashiership of the Gainesville National Bank of Gainesville, Texas, in 1893.

From this his progress in banking was rapid, and he soon was appointed cashier of the Commercial National Bank of Houston, Texas, of which he later became Vice President. In 1908 Mr. Eldridge resigned and became Vice President of the First National Bank of Colorado Springs, Col., where he remained almost ten years. The First National Bank of Houston then elected him Vice President, and he remained with that bank until January, 1913, when he was elected a Vice President of the National City Bank of this city.

Admiral Rainier entered the Royal Navy in 1860 and rose through the various grades until he was made an Admiral in 1908. During 1876-80 he was on the Staff and Senior Lieutenant of H. M. S. Excellent; in 1880 and 1881 he was a member of the Committee on Machine Guns; in 1884 he was Secretary to the Committee on Torpedo Instruction and in 1885 was Commander of the Kingfisher and member of the Defense Committee at Mauritius.

Admiral Rainier's most noteworthy exploit was when Captain of the Rodney in 1897, he commanded the allied forces of the English, French, Russian, Italian, and Austrian Governments and rescued the 3,000 Turkish inhabitants at Kandanos, seventeen miles inland, from certain massacre by the Insurgents. In 1898 he received the Captain's Good Service Pension. Admiral Rainier was a member of the Primrose Club.

THANKSGIVING OPPORTUNITIES

*"In Faith and Hope the world may disagree,
But all mankind's concern is Charity."*

Thanksgiving is a day of thankfulness—thankfulness not only for the health and prosperity we have enjoyed during the year, but for the opportunities to help others that have been afforded us. Several such opportunities are presented by the work of the Brooklyn Bureau of Charities.

Opportunity No. 1

Eight Blind Girls—On the waiting list for entrance to the Bureau's Headquarters for the Blind, where industrial training is given to the sightless, are eight girls. Why? Because there is no money available for paying their daily carfare and guidance to Headquarters. All that stands in the way of these girls and the education they desire is $80 each (a total of $640). This amount will pay their way until the end of the school year, the last of June. Will not eight charitable people "adopt" these afflicted girls and provide the necessary amount?

Opportunity No. 2

Families in Need—The Brooklyn Bureau of Charities has under care 2,500 needy families—over 12,000 individuals. Hunger, sickness, desertion, insanity, unemployment, etc., are factors in their plight. Cash contributions are needed to see them through to self-support.

Opportunity No. 3

The Sick Poor—The double misfortune of poverty and sickness has found its way into many a Brooklyn home. The Bureau maintains a free nursing service for such cases and its trained workers are now nursing over 2,000 sick people in their homes. Contributions are solicited for this work.

LARGE AND SMALL GIFTS WELCOME.

The Bureau is supported entirely by VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS. All money contributed by the public goes for the service and relief of the needy. General administration expenses are met by endowment income and by special contributions.

WILL ASK CONGRESS FOR SHIPPING BOARD

FOREIGN TRADE AT STAKE

Urge That Power Be Given to President to Suspend Certain Provisions of Seamen's Act.

Members of the India House gathered yesterday afternoon in the library of their club to discuss the Seamen's act. The occasion was in celebration of the completion of the first year of service of the clubhouse. Practically every element in foreign trade was represented, including ship owners, exporters, forwarders of freight, merchants, manufacturers, and bankers. James A. Farrell, President of the club, presided.

Albert Strauss of J. & W. Seligman, bankers, said he hoped that if, in order to aid the re-establishment of an American merchant marine the necessity arose to use the word "subsidy" somebody would have courage enough to utter it.

"There is no escape from the horn of the dilemma which the Seamen's act presents," he said. "If the most burdensome provisions of this act apply only to American vessels, they will be handicapped in competition with foreign ships. If it applies equally to all vessels coming into our ports, then all of our trade is put under a handicap."

E. H. Outerbridge described the conditions of a quarter of a century ago, when a disreputable type of sea lawyer, working with a disreputable type of boarding house keeper, harassed ship owners and preyed upon sailors. Mr. Outerbridge predicted that the intricacies and inequalities of the Seamen's act would revive the corrupt sea lawyer operating under a pernicious power of attorney obtained from credulous sailors. He declared that the involuntary servitude which the authors of the Seamen's act talked about in order to gain sympathy would become a real invluontary servitude to a modern successor of the old-time sea lawyer.

P. A. S. Franklin, Vice President of the International Mercantile Marine, spoke briefly in favor of the creation of a Federal Shipping Commission, which, he felt, would command the confidence of the public in recommending to Congress a policy adequate to cope with the problem of putting the American merchant marine on a competitive basis with foreign shipping. He believed that as a beginning it would not be possible to operate American vessels in foreign commerce without financial aid from the Government. He said that at present capital could not be obtained for financing American shipping because bankers were afraid of Government competition to American shipping.

> (1) That authority be conferred on the President of the United States to suspend the operation of such of the provisions of the seamen's act as he shall consider detrimental to the public interests until the entire subject of the development of the American merchant marine can be dealt with on a basis of permanency; and
> (2) That Congress create a permanent commission or shipping board composed of men experienced in shipping and foreign trade, with authority to investigate all shipping problems and to submit to Congress recommendations for legislation covering the following subjects:
> b. The revision of the navigation laws and rules and regulations based thereon.
> c. The establishment of regulations concerning the structural strength, equipment, and load line of vessels.

The club will meet again to discuss the matter.

PINKERTONS GET VERDICT.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Nov. 22.—A verdict in favor of the Pinkerton Detective Agency against the National Pencil Factory for detective services rendered in the investigation of the Mary Phagan murder was returned today by a jury in the Superior Court. The verdict granted the full amount sued for—$1,286.09 principal and $170.52 interest, a total of $1,456.61.. Counsel for the pencil factory announced an appeal.

The defense was that the Pinkertons had not complied fully with their contract and that their reports of evidence unearthed were incomplete and inaccurate. They were employed by Leo M. Frank, as manager, to investigate the crime. It was brought out at the trial that the Pinkerton agents were not agreed that the evidence pointed to Frank's guilt.

THREE MOVIES OF THE WAR.

Realistic Views of Fighting in Cohan, Fulton, and Park Theatres.

Three New York theatres whose stages are usually given over to dramatic attractions, were invaded yesterday by motion pictures of the war. In the Cohan and Park Theatres in the afternoon films showing the armies of the Entente Allies and the Central Powers, respectively, were exhibited, and at night in the Fulton Theatre pictures of France at war were shown.

In each group were many views that bring home vividly a sense of the mighty forces that are contending in the titanic struggle and of the appalling wastage in human lives and material things. The pictures at the Cohan and Fulton Theatres are identical in many scenes. These are largely taken up with pictures of various branches of the French Army, of German prisoners captured in the general offensive on the Western front begun late in September, and of the havoc wrought by the three days' bombardment of the German trenches. There are excellent pictures of King George, Lord Kitchener, and General Joffre reviewing the armies of France and visiting the trenches.

One of the most interesting war pictures yet seen here is included in the film at the Cohan. It shows the capture of a snow-clad mountain stronghold in the Vosges by the French. The progress up the slope is pictured in succesive stages, the dark figures of the men silhouetted against the snow. As the troops rush forward many of their numbers fall, till the snow surface is dotted with the black specks of dead and wounded. The wholesale slaughter that has marked this war above all others, is portrayed in a terrific picture at the Fulton. In a shattered wood the ground is seen literally carpeted with corpses.

E. Alexander Powell, correspondent of The World, and Gouverneur Morris, correspondent of The American, secured the loan of the films at the Fulton and Cohan, respectively, from the French Government. Both men prefaced the exhibitions with talks. In the former playhouse Frederic R. Coudert also spoke.

The pictures at the Park present the opposite side of the conflict. They give countless views of the German and Austro-Hungarian Armies in the eastern campaigns. The most interesting scenes of the lot show the use of the giant mortars in the siege of Warsaw.

MISS CHRISTIE'S RECITAL.

Miss Winifred Christie, a pianist said to be of Scotch birth, entirely unknown to New York, made an unheralded appearance yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall, where she greatly pleased and interested an audience of rather small numbers, such as is likely to greet the coming of an unknown artist in this crowded season. She played the B flat minor prelude and fugue from the first book of the "Well Tempered Clavier," Brahms's F minor sonata that seems to be inoculated into the programs of most of this season's pianists, five pieces by the Frenchmen Florent, Schmitt, Raval, and Debussy, and César Franck's "Prelude Chorale and Fugue."

Miss Christie's musicianship was established by her playing of Bach's prelude and fugue; her effects in the prelude, especially in the way of rubato, were a little exaggerated in a way to affect its broad and tranquil flow; the fugue was delivered with beautiful clarity. A fine tone, a subtle discrimination in dynamics, delicacy of articulation, are notable in her playing. She rejoices in a fine-spun pianissimo that sometimes reduces the tone of the instrument to its lowest terms beyond what the occasion requires. The first and last movements of Brahms's sonata might well have received a bigger and broader treatment there was exquisite grace and poetry in the middle movements.

Miss Christie's characteristics produced ravishing results in the French pieces. That by Schmitt is unfamiliar, and is singularly poignant, through simple means. Her filmy, iridescent web of tonal coloring, her delicately graduated light and shadow, her volant and accurate technique brought effects now shimmering, now scintillating, in Ravel's "Jeux d'eau" and Debussy's "Poisson's d'Or," "Claire de Lune," and "Toccata" that were the very embodiment of the composer's ideas. Such playing of these pieces is rarely to be heard. Miss Christie is an artist with certain limitations at present, but one of singular and individual charm.

WOULD ENJOIN AN ACTRESS.

The Peerless Fights to Keep Florence Morrison in New Movie Play.

The Peerless Feature Producing Company applied yesterday to the Federal District Court for an injunction to restrain Miss Florence Morrison from performing for Charles B. Dillingham or any one else until she has completed her contract with it. It is now preparing a motion picture play, on which it has already expended $18,000, it asserts.

Miss Morrison's contract was for $100 a week for as long as the production of the motion picture took. But on Nov. 5, it is alleged, before she could be spared she accepted an engagement from Charles B. Dillingham.

WINTRY SEAS DELAY TWO INCOMING LINERS

Lapland Arrives Late, Also the St. Paul—Passengers Tell of Steering Gear Trouble.

Two Atlantic liners, the St. Paul and the Lapland, both from Liverpool, arrived yesterday, several hours late, after being buffeted by the first of the Winter storms. The passengers on the St. Paul suffered most from seasickness, as their vessel was by far the smaller of the two. They said the steamer had pitched and tumbled about from the time she left Liverpool on Nov. 13 until she passed the Statue of Liberty yesterday morning.

On Tuesday morning, it was said, the electric steering broke down through the pitching of the ship and the St. Paul was reduced to four knots for over an hour, while the engineers connected up the steering gear, and on Saturday morning, the passengers said, the steam steering gear went out of commission through the heavy strain, and the engineers again spent two hours getting the electric apparatus into shape, the ship meanwhile being steered by the wheel. Captain Lucas, who commands the St. Paul, laughed at the stories told by passengers. He said the weather had been merely what is usual at this season, and denied that the steering gear had gone wrong. Captain J. Bradshaw of the Lapland said the weather had been rough, but not unusually so for this time of the year.

PALACE'S PRIZE PROGRAM.

Calve and Beatrice Herford Head an Exceptional Bill.

Beatrice Herford and Emma Calvé are the bright particular stars of the new program at the Palace—by all odds the best bill presented there since the season began. Miss Herford winds up her first year in the two-a-day securely intrenched in the affections of vaudeville, and it is a pleasant thing to see her delightful art, once politely applauded by select audiences at special matinées, now rapturously recognized by such huge crowds as favor the varieties. Calvé has also been taken to the heart of vaudeville, and there was no end of enthusiasm yesterday afternoon when she sang the "Habanera" from "Carmen."

Ruth Roye, who is very clever, and has a way with her, is rapidly gaining ground as an entertainer, and one of these fine days some such producer of revues as C. B. Dillingham will write her name with a flourish on the program of a Broadway production. Frank McIntyre, the sizable comedian of "Traveling Salesman" fame, has a one-act farce made to measure by George V. Hobart, and Dorothy Shoemaker, light of a recent Brooklyn stock company, makes a good impression in one of those surprise playlets that began to be written at the rate of a dozen a day the week following the production of "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Any account of the new Palace program should also include some reference to the humorously acrobatic Al Rover; to Boyle and Brazil, dancers of the Doyle and Dixon variety, who discreetly make their bows and their curtain speeches before their entertainment begins; and to the movie version of the tragedy that occurred at Cambridge on Saturday afternoon last.

Mrs. Andrew Dougherty Entertains

Mrs. Andrew Dougherty of 70 West Fifty-fifth Street entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Plaza for Mrs. Hugh J. Chisolm. Her guests were Mrs. J. Allen Townsend, Mrs. Francis Burrall Hoffman, Mrs. Robert C. Black, Mrs. F. L. Layng, Mrs. Robert Olyphant, Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mrs. R. A. C. Smith, Mrs. William Nelson Cromwell, Mrs. Frank H. Platt, Mrs. Robert F. Adams, Mrs. Edwin T. Holmes, Mrs. Willis S. Paine, and the Misses E. K. Keresey and K. V. Barnum.

A Luncheon for Two Debutantes.

Mrs. Charles Elliott Warren, who with her family is at 512 Fifth Avenue for the Winter, gave a luncheon yesterday at the Ritz-Carlton for two of the season's buds, the Misses Isabel Yeomans and Jeannette Blake. The guests included Mrs. Warren's daughters, the Misses Susanne and Margaret Warren, and the Misses Florence Gilbert, Constance Wickersham, Gertrude Murray, Helen Porter, Muriel Wiggins, Dorothea Camp, Isabel M. Warren, Julia Zabriskie, Alice Gibb, Mary Hartshorne, Ethel Simmons, Kate W. Griffin, Elizabeth Jennings, and Lilian A. Palmer.

$15,750,000 GOLD ARRIVES.

Liners Bring Specie to Pay for British War Munitions.

The Atlantic liners continue to bring over considerable quantities of specie in their strong rooms consigned to various New York banking houses to pay for war munitions ordered by the British Government.

Ormond-Robertson Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Helen Louise Robertson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Robertson of Princeton, N. J., to Archie Huston Ormond, a son of Dr. Alexander T. Ormond, formerly of the Princeton Faculty and now President of Grove City College, will take place tomorrow at the home of the bride's parents in Princeton.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Women's Medical Association of New York City has adopted resolutions, which have been forwarded to the Board of Education, protesting against the proposed reduction in the force of special teachers of physical training in the public schools, and hoping that means of economy will be found that will not affect the health of the children.

District Supt. Joseph G. Taylor will speak on the Gary plan at a meeting in the Evening Community Centre, P. S. 171, this evening.

The Board of Education tomorrow will consider the recommendation of the Board of Superintendents that the two schools in P. S. 2 building, Manhattan, be consolidated.

The action of the Board of Superintendents in withdrawing the report adopted on Oct. 14 relative to Friday evening activities in eight evening high and trade schools has been approved.

The resignations of Charles J. Lane and Harold J. McGowan, clerks in the Bureau of Supplies, have been accepted.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Activity in stocks and the forward swing of prices have been halting of late, but there has been no halting in the growth of trade which has underlain the rise in prices on the Stock Exchange. Bank clearings and railroad earnings have been reflecting the greatly increased volume of consumption, which presupposes production and profits in production, and our foreign trade figures have been showing the extraordinary increase in our trade with other countries.

The Department of Commerce issued yesterday its report for the foreign trade of the United States during October. It set a new high record in exports and in the excess of exports over imports. The latter was no less than $186,000,000. It brought the excess of exports over imports for the ten months of the calendar year up to $1,413,000,000 compared with only $114,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1914. The contrast between these two figures throws not a little light on what has happened in American business since last January, when war prosperity, so far as this country is concerned, began to succeed war depression. But prosperity, which began with foreign demands for our goods—the demand for our food products was the first to assert itself—has extended far beyond that, and home orders are now contributing more to the prosperity of our manufacturers than foreign orders. Together they account for the remarkable growth which the indicia of trade have been showing.

The market's waiting on war news more satisfactory to it than the news which has lately been received is becoming a more conscious attitude. It may be that the market at this time would be waiting even if the war news were more cheering, but it is a fact that in important quarters in the financial community existing sentiment toward the stock market is closely linked with the adverse character of most of the military news from Europe. But again, while this stands in the way of the stock market it does not stand in the way of continued progress industrially and commercially. The organization of a $50,000,000 company for the development of trade with other countries, preliminary announcement regarding which was made yesterday, is suggestive of the wider fields to which our bankers are looking. One by one we are entering upon enterprises such as those which did so much to build up the prestige of London as the financial centre of the world. In that position London is at least temporarily eclipsed owing to the handicaps imposed by the war, but we still have much to do to assure ourselves of the permanent possession of the dominance in the financial world which the war has given us.

Trading in stocks yesterday was the smallest since the day after Labor Day. Then the dealings were affected by the prolongation of that holiday and the approach of a holiday this week may have helped yesterday to accentuate the decline in the volume of dealings which had been under way for a number of days. The public, which had been very active in the market, has been disposed of late after having lightened its position to rest on the commitments which it has, rather than to extend them further. The dullness on the Exchange, in which this results, is dullness only relatively, for during a long period to which it is not difficult to carry the memory back, dealings of 400,000 shares—the total yesterday was a little in excess of that—would have been considered a very good day's business indeed.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

The Cambria Steel Puzzle.

Directors of the Cambria Steel Company will meet in Philadelphia tomorrow, and changes in the board are looked for. It is not known whether any of the present members will retire, but several additions are looked for. The position of the Cambria Company is still shrouded in mystery, as far as its immediate future is concerned. Several times in the last ten days persons interested in the sale of the Pennsylvania Railroad's shares to the Replogle group have been quoted in a way to indicate a merger with other concerns. Other quotations from other men have appeared to show that no merger was being considered. It is evident that the parties in control intend to have their plans pretty well formed before they take the public into their confidence. The impression to be got from some Philadelphia dispatches of late has been that the Replogle and Donner interests are opposed to each other; other dispatches indicate that they are working in harmony.

A Market to Test the Temper.

A stock market like yesterday's causes a deal of exasperation among bulls and bears alike. An indifferent opening was followed by real strength and activity in the second hour, but thereafter prices turned irregular and trading became duller than in any session since Sept. 7. Occasionally in the afternoon such stocks as Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible, and United States Steel common would take on an appearance of reawakened activity for a few minutes, but before the bull on those stocks could get up any enthusiasm off prices would go. On the slant downward the bears could not get any action worth while because business immediately slackened.

Baltimore & Ohio.

Baltimore & Ohio gross earnings for October crossed the $10,000,000 mark. This is the first time this goal was attained in the history of the company. The exact gross earnings were $10,004,481, an increase of $2,048,737 over October, 1914. Twelve months ago business looked so bad that a cut in the dividend was foreshadowed, and a 1 per cent. cut actually came to pass. Now the road has not only overcome the depression but has made a new high mark. The net income for October was $3,160,542, an increase of $1,202,512. For the four months of the new fiscal year the Baltimore & Ohio has increased its gross earnings $4,056,770 and its net earnings $3,194,137. The heavy shipments of coal to the seaboard have added considerably to the earnings, and it is understood that November is keeping pace with October. The large increase in net earnings for October was not due to a cut in operating expenses. The expenses, in fact, increased by more than $846,000.

Some railroad men said yesterday that a general car shortage would be felt first in New York City by the bakeries. Flour shipments would be seriously delayed, it was said, just as the shipments of steel products are now being delayed.

The Demand for Directors.

After the work of the Pujo Committee some of the leading bankers took to heart its strictures against interlocking Directorates by resigning from the board they cared the least about. It seemed then that the time had passed when one man would serve thirty different companies. Conditions had become so bad that bank Presidents rushed from one room to another in order to attend Directors' meetings, and the more active men had no time for their own business between 10 A. M. and 4 P. M. Lately these same men who lightened their cares by withdrawal from many Directorates have been going on the boards of new companies as fast as organized. In some cases they have taken their new positions with an idea of resigning as soon as the organization work is over, but they have found it easier to get on than off. Their despairing secretaries have been finding it harder to avoid conflicting dates for meetings than it was in the old days.

Fees That Count.

It is part of a Director's duty to appear indifferent to the little brown envelopes that are passed out by the Secretary at the end of a meeting. A hardened board member will drop it into a side pocket as carelessly as he would a box of matches. Then, at the end of a busy day, he will amuse himself by tearing open the envelopes and piling the contents in a neat, golden pile. When the work is completed a Secretary is summoned by the buzzer and told to cart the stuff away, to be credited to the owner's account or exchanged for bills. No Director will admit that the fee he receives is an adequate inducement to attend meetings, but he is a rare Director who would not miss something if the company Secretary should forget to hand out the envelopes at the end of a meeting. On a Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday, the days on which one man's meetings of boards and Executive Committees are mostly held, he will unburden himself of $200 in gold when he gets back to his desk to begin his day's work.

BUYS $1,000,000 U. S. BONDS

The largest single transaction in Government bonds, involving $1,000,000 registered 2s of 1930, that ever occurred on the Stock Exchange was put through yesterday by J. Hegeman Foster of the firm of Foster & Lounsbery. The sale, in a single block, was at 99¼, and was unusual in that the brokerage house had both the buying and the selling order to fill. A customer, presumably a bank, had $1,000,000 of the bonds to sell, and another customer desired to buy that amount, so the deal was made on the Exchange for the purpose of having the price and amount recorded in the business on the board.

While Governments had not changed hands in so large an amount in one transaction before, several sales of other securities in $1,000,000 blocks are on record. On Jan. 30, 1911, $1,000,000 New York City 4¼s sold at 101⅛, and another lot on the same day went at 101. On June 3, 1911, $1,000,000 Atchison convertible 4s were sold at 105.

In the outside market for Governments, however, single transactions much larger than $1,000,000 have occurred. One of the large banks has frequently in recent years bought as much as $2,000,000 Government 2s on a single order and once filled an order for $4,000,000 bonds.

LONDON MARKET CHEERFUL.

Rubber Shares Still Active and Quotations Advance Further.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—It was announced today on the Stock Exchange that the minimum price restriction which was placed on gilt edgers, home rails and some foreign bonds at the outbreak of the war would be abolished tomorrow. This will allow holders to obtain the needed funds they have been unable to get owing to the minimum restriction, although losses were severe in some cases.

The stock market was cheerful, with rubber shares being the most active on a further rise. While oil shares were in good demand, the rest of the list was irregular.

American securities were quiet, but steady, America buying a few gold bonds. Exchange rates were firmer, transfers being quoted at 4.70.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 64 francs 50 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 86½ centimes.

COTTON OPENS UP; YIELDS TO PRESSURE

NET LOSS OF 5 TO 9 POINTS

Traders Believe Heavy Shipments from Southern Points to New York Will Increase.

Cotton moved within a range of 14 to 17 points yesterday, thus showing small speculative interest in the market despite the fact that one of the most important ginning reports of the season was issued. The Census figures place the amount of cotton ginned prior to Nov. 14 at 8,777,000 bales, a trifle below popular expectations. The market opened about 5 points higher, but quickly yielded to the pressure of local and Southern offerings. The action was similar to that which has characterized the issuance of all recent reports—the moderately bullish figures in each instance have been nullified by selling chiefly from local bearish operators. The close was steady at a net loss of 5 to 9 points.

The Census figures did not indicate a large crop, although they are by no means confirmatory of the smaller estimates which were in circulation six weeks to two months ago. Close students of the ginning statistics believe that they point to a production of about 11,000,000 to 11,250,000 bales, exclusive of linters. The deficit under last year is most pronounced in Texas and Oklahoma, particularly the latter State, which has ginned only 331,000 bales against 870,000 up to the same date last season. Texas shows 2,614,000 compared with 3,511,000 last year.

Some attention is being attracted by the heavy shipments of cotton by rail from Southern points to New York. It is believed that these shipments will increase in the near future, owing to the freight congestion at Southern ports and the inability of steamers to handle more cotton. It is understood that a good deal of cotton is coming to New York by coastwise steamers for shipment to Russia.

The cotton editor of The Memphis Commercial Appeal says:

"A large bulk of the American supply has piled up at the big interior markets or at the ports, and for this reason causes greater pressure on values than it would were it distributed out among the growers and the small markets of the belt. Some explanation of this accumulation at ports and interior markets, however, is had from the holding movement prevalent in the South and the better facilities furnished in the larger markets for storing than the smaller points afford."

Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were unchanged. Norfolk and Augusta 6 points decline. The local market for spot cotton was quiet, unchanged. Middling, 11.75c. Futures closed steady.

NEW RECORD FOR EXPORTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—New high records in the foreign trade of the United States continue to pile up the greatest favorable trade balance the country has ever known. The movement of merchandise and gold shown in figures made public today by the Department of Commerce discloses how decidedly the United States has been converted from a debtor to a creditor nation.

During the twelve months ended with October the foreign trade exceeded $5,000,000,000. Imports were $1,691,748,013 and exports $3,318,634,636, as compared with imports of $1,880,414,501 and exports of $2,140,847,829 during the same twelve months previous.

Exports of October established a new high record, rising to $334,638,578, which was $33,961,756 more than the former record, made in September. October imports were $148,529,620. The record trade balance, made during the month, was $186,108,958. The previous high balance, made in February, was $174,600,000.

During the twelve months ended with October, $326,528,779 in gold came to the United States to pay the debts of other nations.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

There was a degree of irregularity about the market on the Consolidated Exchange all day, with a good deal of backing and filling in the movement of prices. Such news as came to hand appeared to be generally favorable, but it failed to have a material effect upon quotations. New Haven's special weakness attracted attention in the late afternoon dealings.

BANK OF MONTREAL GROWS DURING WAR

Assets Increase $43,500,000 in Past Year, and the Deposits Also Show Large Gain.

The report of the Bank of Montreal for the year ended Oct. 30 shows that total assets established a new high record when the fiscal period ended. Assets amounted to $302,980,554, a gain of $43,500,000 over the preceding year, of which cash, call and short loans and balances due from other banks totaled $170,007,668, equivalent to 64.27 per cent. of the institution's liabilities to the public.

Deposits displayed a substantial gain, the total of those not bearing interest being $75,745,729, compared with $42,689,031, while the interest-bearing deposits were $160,277,083, against $154,533,643 the year before. Current loans amounted to $99,078,506, a decline of $9,845,000 from the record of 1914.

The year brought smaller earnings than 1914. The profits were $2,108,631, against $2,496,451 the preceding year. This was equivalent to 13.18 per cent. on the paid-up capital stock. Of this $1,920,000 was paid out in dividends and $127,347 was devoted to the war tax on banknote circulation.

"Ever since the outbreak of the war," said a statement accompanying the report yesterday, "it has been known that the Bank of Montreal, as the premier institution of the country, was adhering to a policy of keeping especially strong, but it is questionable whether a year ago even the leading officials could have hoped that in another twelve months a position of such unusual strength would be shown. Such a showing is opportune at the moment, as it should be of material help in assisting the Dominion Government to make a great success of its forthcoming first public loan, as such a statement cannot but instill great confidence in the Canadian financial outlook."

NEW BANKING FIELDS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The importance of banking facilities in South America as an adjunct to the development of our commerce with the Latin-American republics led the Department of Commerce to authorize an inquiry by William H. Lough of New York. An extended report by him based on six months of investigation was issued today in book form by the department under the title "Banking Opportunities in South America."

British banks, according to Mr. Lough's report, have taken the lead in financing the development of the chief South American countries. Five banks with an aggregate capital and surplus of $60,000,000 and total deposits and credits in accounts current of over a quarter of a billion dollars, have the bulk of the business. The largest and most important British institution has paid dividends of 20 per cent. anually for many years. This institution is the London and River Plate Bank, which was established in 1862, and has now a paid-up capital of $9,000,000, with about thirty branches, including subsidiary banks in Brazil, Chile, and Peru. The other British banks, while paying smaller dividends, have all established themselves firmly.

German interests combined, and there are four banks. These have developed largely as a part of the German plan of assisting commercial development, although Mr. Lough says, so far as South America is concerned, there is no evidence that the German Government has lent its active assistance to the upbuilding of these institutions. They have rather been the product of German business organization, by which each of several groups of industries centres around its own particular bank. In furthering the interests of these industries the banks have found it desirable to establish themselves in South America.

The only branch of an American institution on the ground, that of the Natoinal City Bank of New York, has not been established long enough, Mr. Lough says, to permit any extended review of its activities. Mr. Lough's report indicates that there is room for many other branches of American banks in South America, but it is evident that these must be established and managed along right lines if they expect to become successful. The best present opening seems to be on the west coast of Chile and Peru.

It is suggested that American bankers and other financial men might find it worth while to unite to establish in South America either an independent American bank or a branch bank of institutions in this country. The report discusses every phase of the problem of establishing such American institutions.

TRUST COMPANIES' BIG GAINS

Resources of Those in U. S. Increase 61 Per Cent. in Eight Years.

The United States Mortgage Trust Company has issued its thirteenth annual edition of "Trust Companies of the United States." On June 30, 1908, the total resources of trust companies were reported as $3,917,442,000, while the figures for June 30 of this year are $6,328,454,000, showing a gain of more than 61 per cent. Trust company resources are now nearly 54 per cent. of the resources of national banks, which totaled $11,975,000,000 on June 30.

New York State leads with 33 per cent. of the total resources of all companies, while New York City, with its total resources of $1,848,000,000, holds 88 per cent. of the New York State trust company resources, or 29 per cent. of the total for the entire country.

AMERICAN BONDS TO RETURN

The $19,400,000 Pennsylvania Railroad sterling consolidated mortgage 4 per cent. bonds which English bankers are now buying in the London market eventually will find their way to this country. It is understood that prominent New York bankers are behind the movement.

It has been suggested that the Pennsylvania Railroad is buying up the bonds with a view of issuing dollar bonds in this country in exchange. Such a plan would prove profitable at this time because of the low sterling exchange rates. The Pennsylvania Railroad may take this course ultimately, but it could not be considered unless a great part of the bonds were bought up. It is not at all certain how many of the sterling bonds can be purchased, for trading is in the open market, and many English investors may not desire to release the bonds.

Marine Stock Deposits Called For.

The Protective Committee for the common stock of the International Mercantile Marine, of which John H. Platten is Chairman, has called for a deposit of the stock with the United States Mortgage and Trust Company. Developments in the company's affairs since the receivership, according to the committee, make it necessary for the stockholders to protect their interests. The Protective Committee, it is undrstood, will aid in the drawing up of a new reorganization plan for the International Marine Company.

TO SUE ON RAILROAD BONDS.

Trustees Charge That Iron Mountain Has Defaulted on Interest.

Judge Hough gave leave yesterday in the Federal District Court to the Union Trust Company to sue the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Company, which is the defendant in a creditor's suit brought by the Commonwealth Steel Company. The Union Trust Company and Benjamin F. Edwards are the Trustees of a mortgage to secure an issue of first and refunding forty-year gold bonds, due July 1, 1952. Of these bonds there are outstanding $31,331,500.

In the complaint the trust company alleges default of the payment of the interest and states the original suit was brought against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern in the Eastern Division of Missouri by the Commonwealth Steel Company. As a result of that suit the railroad is now in the hands of a receiver.

Cincinnati Southern's Report.

The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway, lessee of the Cincinnati Southern, reports for the year ended June 30 last, gross earnings of $9,422,251, a decrease of $1,539,848; operating expenses of $6,807,447, a decrease of $1,003,662, and total available income of $1,850,654, a decrease of $648,688. The amount expended on improvements, additions, and betterments out of income was but $799,941, as compared with $1,324,563 a year ago, leaving the surplus $465,712, as against $589,779 a year ago.

IDLE SUBWAYS COSTLY.

Realty Men Want Interest on Unconnected Links Investigated.

The Advisory Council of Real Estate Interests has written a letter to Senator Thompson, Chairman of the legislative committee investigating the Public Service Commission, in which it says:

"Large interest charges will accrue upon the investment in the new subway within the next few years and may be a financial loss to the city, by reason of the completion of certain sections of the new system, in advance of connecting links, so that such completed sections will lie idle for many months before it is possible to operate them. It is estimated that the loss to the city for interest and sinking fund, at 5 per cent., on finished sections of the subways, while they lie idle awaiting the completion of vital connecting links, will amount to $8,022,132.04.

"If there has been any unnecessary delay or financial loss, as referred to above, then both taxpayers and the public in general are desirous of knowing the facts, so that responsibility for them may be fixed and a repetition of such delay or financial loss may be avoided in the future.

"The following gentlemen might, therefore, be called upon for information in this respect: Controller Prendergast, President George McAneny, Colonel T. W. Williams, President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company; E. M. Bassett, J. B. Davies of the engineering firm of Jacobs & Davies, and Milo R. Maltbie.

KEEPS ALL RESERVE CITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Action on the protests of banking interests regarding the present arrangement of the Federal Reserve districts has been indefinitely postponed by the Federal Reserve Board. The matter has been pending for more than a year. At a meeting of the board today there were spirited interchanges over the manner in which Reserve Bank cities were chosen.

The appeals and protests have multiplied, and behind each was pressure from Senators and Representatives for action that would satisfy constituents. With the close of the first fiscal year of the new banking system it was regarded as necessary to take action to clear up the situation. The matter was threshed out at the meeting of the board today and not without some sharp differences of opinion as to the action of the Organization Committee.

This committee was made up of Secretary McAdoo, Mr. Houston, the Secretary of Agriculture, and Mr. Williams, the Controller of the Currency. At today's meeting Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Williams, as ex-officio members of the Reserve Board, defended the action of the committee.

The sharpest controversy arose over the selection of Richmond as the Reserve City of the Fifth District, rather than Baltimore, which is regarded as the great banking and commercial centre of the upper South. It was charged that if Mr. Williams had not been a citizen of Richmond it would never have been thought of as the banking capital of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia.

Mr. Williams had the support today of Secretary McAdoo, and after a thorough expression of views the board agreed to make no changes at this time. In order to stop agitation of the whole subject rearrangement of reserve districts, all pending appeals were placed in the same category and all were postponed.

In the statement given out by the board, to which each member gave his approval, it was announced that further investigation must be had before any action could be taken. The action of the board today, however, will be as nearly permanent as the course of events will allow it to be. The statement given out by the Federal Reserve Board follows:

"A committee appointed by the Federal Reserve Board to consider appeals from the decision of the Reserve Bank Organization Committee regarding the determination of Federal Reserve cities and districts today reported to the Federal Reserve Board that the following appeals are now pending:

"First—The appeal of Baltimore that it be selected in preference to Richmond as the Federal Reserve city of the Fifth District.

"Second—The appeal of Pittsburgh that it be selected in preference to Cleveland as the Federal Reserve city of the Fourth District.

"Third—The appeal of a group of banks in certain counties of Wisconsin that they be taken out of the Minneapolis District and added to the Chicago District.

"Fourth—The appeal of certain banks in the western half of Connecticut that they be taken out of the Boston District and added to the New York District.

"Fifth—The appeal of certain banks of Louisiana that they be included in the Atlanta District and operate through the New Orleans Branch, in preference to being included in the Dallas District.

"The committee asked for instructions as to whether these five cases be dealt with in a comprehensive way by considering the broader question of readjustments of districts, or whether it should handle each question by itself.

"There was also presented to the board an opinion of the Attorney General of the United States dealing with some phases of the legal right of the board in regard to action upon such appeals. After a general discussion of the whole situation it was unanimously agreed that further investigation of the powers of the board with reference to the whole question was required before any action could be taken, and the report of the committee was laid on the table pending the making of further investigation of the subject."

RECEIVERS FOR A., T. & N.

New York Financiers Plan Extensions in Reorganization.

The Alabama, Tennessee & Northern Railway, which extends from Reform, in northern Alabama, 230 miles to Mobile, where it has extensive terminals, was placed in receivership yesterday, when Judge Toulmin of the United States District Court at Mobile appointed John T. Cochrane of Mobile and M. W. Thompson of New York as receivers. Application for their appointment was filed by the Guaranty Trust Company, at the instance of a bondholders' committee represented by White & Case.

Mr. Cochrane is President of the company, and Mr. Thompson President of the Railways Development Corporation, a holding company recently organized to represent interests of a group of New York banks and trust companies in several Southern railroads, and whose cooperation is expected in the prospective reorganization of the Alabama, Tennessee & Northern finances. It is proposed to extend the road north to the intersection of the Birmingham Division of the St. Louis & San Francisco, there connecting with the Illinois Central, forming a new through route between Chicago and St. Louis to Mobile.

Burlap Demand Is Fair.

While the demand for heavy burlaps and odd widths is pretty good just now, it is offset to some extent by the lack of call for lightweights in the staple widths. Prices are firmer than they have been, and all indications point to a bull market for some time to come. Contributing to this condition are the limited tonnage available at Calcutta, the subnormal shipments of goods, and the uncertainty surrounding shipments through the Suez Canal. These prices were quoted here yesterday on forty-inch merchandise: 7½-ounce, 5.50c; 8-ounce, 5.75c; 10-ounce, 8.10c; 10½-ounce, 8.15@8.20c.

Fine Cottons Continue Active.

In spite of the good business that has been done on practically all kinds of fine gray and finished cottons in the last few months, there is no diminution of the call for them apparent in the local market. Not only have the jobbers been taking goods well in the finished state, but the cutting-up trades, particularly the waist manufacturers, have been trading actively. Prices are firm, with an upward tendency, on both the unfinished and finished merchandise, but in the case of the former goods the question of finishing is retarding business much more than the price situation. An encouraging feature of the business now being done is the demand that is being made for the better grades of goods.

A Question of Durability.

It seems to be the common opinion among retailers handling the less important items of attire that it is bad business to sell an article that will give any considerable length of wear. The idea behind this opinion is that sales will diminish in proportion to the durability of the article. Account is not taken of the fact that though a man or woman may buy something that will give long service it does not necessarily mean that further purchases will be put off until the article is discarded. Variety in dress is needed, and the customer may become tired of one thing long before it wears out. The value given, however, sticks in the customer's mind and the retailer benefits by it.

Retailers are asking rush deliveries on men's neckwear for the holiday season. Outside of being one of very satisfactory business as regards volume, the demand has another praiseworthy feature, inasmuch as the better class of goods is being sought. Retail customers seem disposed to pay more for their neckwear. Spring business is coming in very nicely. A leading neckwear house, which is featuring tubular goods that are reversible, has achieved excellent results on this article. Orders turned in from one city in the South give 240 dozens of this style of neckwear to twenty-nine dozens of the made-up scarfs. A novelty that has been well regarded by the retailer for Spring is the shepherd check tie in a variety of color combinations.

Early Buying to be Heavy.

The coat and suit trade, following the example set them in the men's wear line, will probably be active buyers before the formal opening of the dress goods for Fall. They must do this to escape in some measure the big advances which will be instituted. In the men's wear end of the woolen market it is expected that there will be a general increase of 10 per cent. on heavyweight goods. If the business taken from the clothing trade is of large proportions, and there seems to be none who doubts this, the effect on the dress goods will become at once apparent. A strong opening in men's wear will mean an even higher range of prices in the women's wear division. The uncertainty over prices will cause, it is said, a late opening. Business placed on dress goods lines during the early part of January is expected to be heavy. Gabardines are regarded as the most likely looking fabric for the next season, and whipcords are also expected to show strength.

Shoddy Very Scarce.

The woolen trade is finding a constantly advancing market in shoddy with no indication of prices coming to a standstill for some time to come. The increases are not entirely significant of the situation in the raw material market. There has been a revision in qualities, and the grades that were sold last year under certain names have deteriorated. The scarcity is most keenly felt in the new goods end. On account of the poor seasons in the cutting up trades before the present period of prosperity, the supplies of this nature have become very limited. A woolen mill in the South, in referring to conditions in the raw material market, estimates that it takes twenty-five pounds of wool stock to clothe a European soldier with garments that last less than thirty days, at the end of which they are burned for sanitary reasons. With 20,000,000 men in the field, this would mean the total destruction of 500,000,000 pounds of stock a month, with no return in rags as from the ordinary trade.

Gray Goods Prices Steady.

Quite a bit of business of one kind or another was put through in the local gray goods market in a quiet way yesterday, and while prices showed little actual change, the tone of the market was stronger. Business for delivery this side of Jan. 1 was reported on 39-inch 68-72s, 38½-inch 64-60s, 38½-inch 60-48s and other constructions at the prices listed below. While there was not a great deal of contract trading, from all accounts, because of the unwillingness of the mills to sell very far ahead at recent prices, some business was reported on 38½-inch 64-56s for shipment up to March 1. Of the sheeting business done, notable were the sales of four-yard, 48-squares at 5¼ cents. Staple printcloth prices at the close were as follows:

39-inch,	68-72s	5⅛c	38½-inch,	60-52s	4¼c
39-inch,	56-44s	4c	38½-inch,	60-48s	4⅛c
38½-inch,	64-64s	4⅝c	27-inch,	64-60s	3⅛c

Velvet Ribbons Again in Favor.

There are indications now that the velvet ribbons so popular for a time will return to increased favor. Manufacturers and those who handle these goods believe that the demand will assume very large proportions. The widths desired are Nos. 9, 12, and 16. Blacks and colors have advanced half a cent a ligne. In fancies, checks, plaids, and stripes are well regarded for Spring. Satin and taffeta striped goods are selling in fair sized quantities, and the Western jobbers are taking kindly to changeable taffetas. For the millinery trade the colors decided upon seem to be the following, as taken from the standard color card: Spring green, bluebird, tea rose, and sunset, comprising what are known as pastel shades. Coral seems to be well talked of and deserving of special notice.

Knitted Specialties Good.

The anticipated vogue for skating this Winter is causing the local trade to give considerable attention to knitted specialties suitable for this sport. One house is offering a natty brushed wool combination set in angora effect, comprising scarf and "tam." It is offered in several combinations of color, white being coupled up with old rose, Copenhagen, gray, green, and read. Fifteen dollars a dozen is the wholesale price for the set, while the "tams," by themselves, can be had at $7 a dozen. Solid-color "tams" of brushed worsted are priced at $8.50 a dozen, while a brushed wool toque, trimmed with a large self button on each side, can be had at $4.50 a dozen in solid colors. At $8.50 a dozen can be bought knitted wool scarfs in brush effect, the colors embracing a wide range coupled with white-striped borders. White scarfs with colored-stripe borders are also offered.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The wheat market was active and feverish. Early in the day prices were distinctly weak, declining 1¼ to 1½c from the final of Saturday, with a net loss of 3 to 4¼c from the high point of Friday. Late in the session, however, there was a complete reversal of action, and prices quickly regained the early loss and at the close were ⅜ to ⅝c net higher. The visible supply in the United States increased 6,054,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 5,124,000 last week, and a decrease of 1,911,000 last year. In the local cash market No. 1 durum was quoted at $1.11½ free on board New York; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.08½, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.07¾, cost, insurance, and freight, Buffalo.

CORN.

Corn prices were dominated largely by the action of wheat, and after showing an early decline of ⅝c there was a quick rally, and the close was ¼c net higher to ⅛c lower. The visible supply increased 329,000 bushels, compared with a decrease of 287,000 a year ago. Weather conditions were generally favorable. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at 76c prompt shipment.

OATS.

The oats market declined early with wheat and corn, but a good export demand developed, and at the close values were firm at net unchanged to ⅛c advance. The visible supply increased 1,252,000, compared with an increase of 201,000 last year. The local cash market was steady; No. 3 white quoted at 42¼@42¾c; No. 4 white 41¼@41¾c; ordinary to fancy clipped, 41¼@45¼c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products was more active, and prices were higher. Receipts of hogs were fairly liberal, but stock yards were credited with taking the buying side, and this started a general covering movement throughout the list. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 47,000; estimated for Tuesday, 37,000; Kansas City received 4,500, and Omaha 8,000.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil was firm, closing with net gains of 13@16 points. Offerings were conspicuously small, and sentiment was influenced by the continued strength in the crude position. Crude oil was higher, offers being here at 51@52c, compared with Saturday's price of 50c. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

Reports that the British Government will check shipments of coffee and other produce to Scandinavia unless it is guaranteed that it will not be exported to Germany had a bearish influence on the coffee market yesterday, and at the close of the day values were 10 to 11 points net lower. The volume of business was not large, sales amounting to only 33,250 bags, and out of this amount 21,550 were in the form of exchanges from December to the later positions. The local cash market was inactive and unchanged, with Rio 7s quoted at 7⅝@7¾c.

SUGAR.

There was a quiet but steady opening in sugar futures today, with first prices 5 points lower to 2 points higher. After the call there were reports of bad weather in Cuba, delaying the new crop and rumors of considerable business in granulated having been done for France account. This caused short covering in a rather empty market and buying by trade and commission houses sent prices 2 to 7 points net higher at midday. The market closed firm, net unchanged to an advance of 9 points, with total sales 4,550 tons. Range of prices:

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 4,664 packages. Continued shortage of fine and fancy fresh creamery, and prices show further advance of about ½c. Fifty tubs creamery extras sold on 'Change at 32½c. Some of the fancier lots brought 33@33½c on the Street. Fine firsts have moved up a little, and much of the business today was in grades from 28@31c. The lower qualities are slow. Rather more doing in storage creamery, but prices unchanged. Renovated dull. Ladles very slow and weak. Packing stock also in buyers' favor. EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 4,011 cases. Arrivals continue very light, and the supply of new-laid quality is as short as ever. Any lots of fresh-gathered showing a large proportion of such are promptly salable at firm prices. Mixed and irregular qualities, when showing a majority of shrunken, weak-bodied country holdings are urgently offered and moving slowly at very irregular values. Storage eggs are firmer, foreign advices are more favorable, export orders are increasing, and there has been some speculative disposition which is putting a firmer foundation under the market. The sales reported show a slight improvement in price. Near-by eggs in light supply, but for the qualities generally offering trade is quiet and values extremely irregular; fancy new-laid stock still very scarce. Fresh gathered, extra fine, per dozen, 43@44c; extra firsts, 40@42c; firsts, 35@39c; seconds, 28@34c; thirds and poorer, 23@27c; dirties, No. 1, 22@23c; No. 2 and poorer, 19@21½c; checks, good to choice, dry, 21c; culls and inferior, 16@20½c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, 24@24½c; firsts, 23@23½c; seconds, 21½@22½c; thirds or poorer, 19@21c; dirties, 18@20½c; State, Pennsylvania, and near by, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 60@63c; ordinary to good, 40@58c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 38@60c; Western, gathered whites, 38@45c; State, Pennsylvania, and near by, hennery browns, 38@46c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 36@44c; near by, refrigerator whites, 25@28c.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Desiccated Potatoes, Shades, and Bulbs Are Passed On.

Desiccated potatoes imported from a country taking a similar product from the United States were held yesterday by the Board of General Appraisers to be properly dutiable at 10 per cent. This was the claim made by F. Behrend, Innis, Speiden & Co., and Stein, Hirsch & Co., the importers of the commodity. The Collector was reversed in taking duty at 25 per cent. ad valorem under the provision for "cut or sliced vegetables."

Morimura Bros. lost in a contention regarding the rate on stained grass candle shades imported from Japan. It was claimed that duty should have been taken at 35 per cent. ad valorem under the old tariff as manufactures of unstained wood, straw, or similar composition, whereas the Collector held that as the shades were stained or colored they were dutiable at 40 per cent. His return was affirmed.

Importers of bulbs of various kinds failed to prove to the satisfaction of the board that the goods were mature mother flowering bulbs imported exclusively for propagating purposes. The Collector was affirmed in assessing the merchandise at the appropriate rates. The protestants included Maltus & Ware, A. S. Burns, Jr., William Elliott Sons, Loechner & Co., Corporation of Charles F. Meyer, the F. R. Pierson Company, Charles Schwake & Co., Stumpp & Walter, and H. M. Ward & Co.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The annual meeting of the Pottery, Glass and Brass Salesmen's Association will be held on Friday of this week in the rooms of the Crockery Board of Trade, 126 Fifth Avenue, at noon. The object of the meeting will be to nominate officers for 1916 and three Directors to serve three years from Jan. 1, 1916.

Beginning with the issue of Dec. 4 The Textile Manufacturers' Journal of this city and The Textile World Record of Boston will be consolidated under the title of The Textile World Journal, which will be published weekly. The new journal will be issued by the Bragdon, Lord & Nagle Company, Inc., and V. E. Carroll will be managing editor.

Jules Levy and Harry Shulman, who for five years were associated with M. Brich & Co. as Southern representatives, have severed that connection. They have joined the Majestic Costume Company as members of the firm, and are to act as general salesmen for them. They will continue to sell for R. Siegel & Son, which firm they have represented in the South for some time.

William H. Robertson, Consul General at Buenos Aires, will spend today at the branch office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Room 409 Custom House. Manufacturers and exporters interested in the Argentine market may consult the Consul General, who will be glad to give information regarding trade opportunities in his district. Consul General Thomas H. Sammons, stationed at Shanghai, will be in New York Dec. 8, and will be one of the speakers at the international trade conference to be held on that date under the auspices of the National Association of Manufacturers.

FIXING CURTAIN DUTIES.

Those of Nottingham Lace Hereafter to Pay 60 Per Cent.

Customs officials have been notified by the Treasury Department that a lower duty than 60 per cent. ad valorem should be taken on finished lace window curtains made on the Nottingham lace machine and composed of cotton or other vegetable fibre. It was brought to the attention of the department by the Correct Valuation Report Bureau, composed of customs experts, that a variance existed at the different ports relative to the classification of these curtains

It appeared, for instance, that the appraiser at Cleveland returned the curtains at 60 per cent. ad valorem as "scalloped articles" under Paragraph 358, while Appraiser Sague of this port taxed the articles under the specific provision for Nottingham goods in Paragraph 265, at 35, 40, or 45 per cent. ad valorem, according to the number of points or spaces between the warp threads to the inch. The appraiser here reported that he found as the result of an investigation that out of a sample collection of over 300 different patterns of Nottingham lace curtains in the stocks of an importing firm of this city only one curtain was finished with a straight edge, all the others being scalloped. Inquiry made of another firm disclosed that all of the Nottingham lace curtains in its stocks were finished with a scalloped edge.

Assistant Secretary Peters said in his order that, as the result of the investigation proved that practically all of the Nottingham goods in question are finished with a scalloped edge, it would seem that they more properly fell under the specific provision for such goods, since the curtain not so finished was the exception. A recent decision of the Board of General Appraisers is cited, dealing with the construction to be placed on the embroidery provisions of the law. The theory advanced in that decision, the department holds, applies in principle to the curtains. Officials are directed hereafter to return the goods at the lower rates.

Dress Goods Quiet.

This is more or less of the between-seasons period with the dress goods houses. The question that remains to be settled for the Spring season is that of color assortment. For the most part there is little uncertainty regarding what will be good in the color line. Black, Copenhagen, navy, and green will, no doubt, be the standbys of the season, but buyers are not so well decided regarding the tan shades that will be popular. Hay and cornstalk are the two most notable offerings of a foremost house, which has also brought out a much talked of color that rejoices in the name of rookie. It is a brownish tan. Navy and green goods have been advanced 2½ cents a yard because of the scarcity and increased cost of these dyeing materials.

TO IDENTIFY GEMS.

Rules Made for Such as Are Imported to be Repaired.

Rules to govern the treatment by customs officials of unset diamonds and other precious stones imported for repairs have been worked out by the Treasury Department and copies were yesterday furnished the authorities here. There has been a good deal of trouble in identifying gems of this kind upon exportation with the result that a practical plan for handling precious stone entries has been sought for some time.

It is now specified, in the case of unset diamonds and other precious stones sent to have blurs polished therefrom, or to have defects removed by recutting or repolishing, or similar work in the nature of repairs which does not destroy their identity, that such gems are entitled to free entry under bond in accordance with subsection 4 of Paragraph J of the present law. In view, however, of the difficulty of properly identifying the stones on exportation, Collectors must be satisfied of the bona fides of each importation before permitting an entry under bond. In cases where the officers are not satisfied as to the intention or responsibility of the consignee, they are to refer the matter to special agents of the department for investigation.

The new rules require that the importer in making entry state, if practicable, the nature and extent of the repairs, while the Appraiser is ordered to make a careful examination of the stones and make a detailed description containing such items as the weight, size, color, and any peculiarity of the gems, together with such other information as will tend to identify the goods. Prior to exportation the exporter will have to submit the stones to the Appraiser for examination and, if found to be the identical ones imported, they should be shipped under supervision of the customs men. The exportation, however, must be made at the port at which the stones were entered.

If the exportation is made by mail, the packages must also be inspected and dispatched under the supervision of Treasury officials. Mailing receipts are to be delivered for filing at the Custom House. Evidence of landing abroad will not be required in connection with exportations through the mails.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD.

West Twenty-third Street Factory Building in a $300,000 Trade—Church Buys Site for Ten-Story Parish House—40,000 Sq. Ft. of Old Stern Store Leased at Aggregate Rental of $200,000.

Several good deals in different parts of the city yesterday opened the realty market of the week in a favorably active manner. One of the larger transactions involved the sale of the old four-story factory at 536 to 546 West Twenty-third Street, between Tenth and Eleventh Avenues, covering a plot fronting 150 feet by 103. The property has been owned by the Lyall estate for many years, and has been purchased by A. Berry. The factory was formerly used by a printing concern, and it will be extensively altered to meet the requirements of the new business interests coming to the Chelsea district.

In part payment Mr. Berry gave the selling estate the two four-story tenements at 306 and 308 West Thirty-fifth Street, on plot 38 by 74, adjoining the southwest corner of Eighth Avenue, and four new flats in the lower Brooklyn section, being at 4,006 to 4,020 Fifteenth Avenue, having a total frontage of 150 feet by 100. They are four-story buildings.

The Duross Company in conjunction with John F. Drake acted as brokers in the transaction. The deal represented an aggregate value of about $300,000.

For the purpose of erecting a parish house for the use of its institutional activities, the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church has purchased the four-story residence at 923 Madison Avenue from Dr. Henry W. and Alfred A. Berg. The plot is 20 by 80, on the east side, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth Streets, the church occupying the large Seventy-third Street corner plot. It was held at $75,000.

The comtemplated building will also cover the site of the present parish and Sunday school house, formerly the Billings stable, and which was bought a few years ago. This adjoins the residence just acquired, and the two parcels will give a frontage of 47.2 for the new building. Plans are being prepared for an eight to ten-story structure. The brokers in the recent sale were Douglas L. Elliman & Co. and Leon S. Altmayer.

Trade in Dorilton Deal.

The buyer of the Dorilton apartment house, northeast corner of Broadway and Seventy-first Street, the sale of which was announced on Sunday, was George Nookes, a restaurateur. The brokers, the F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company, announced the completion of the deal yesterday, which involved a part payment feature by the owner of two six-story apartment structures on the southerly block front of 127th Street, between Claremont Avenue and Riverside Drive, fronting 150.2 by 91 on Claremont Avenue and 116 on the Drive. The Dorilton Corporation took them at a valuation of about $700,000. The Dorilton figured at $1,200,000, making the entire deal about $1,900,000 in the various properties.

$200,000 Lease for Old Stern Store.

M. & L. Hess, Inc., have leased for Louis Stern, Benjamin Stern, and the estate of Isaac Stern the easterly half of the store and basement, comprising about 40,000 square feet, at 32 to 46 West Twenty-third Street, running through the block to 21 to 35 West Twenty-second Street, formerly occupied by Stern Brothers Department Store and more recently as the Cosmopolitan Garden.

The lease is for a term of years, at an aggregate rental of $200,000. The lessees are Lax & Burgheimer, Inc., distributors of knit underwear and hosiery.

The building is now undergoing extensive alterations and will be ready for occupancy on or about Jan. 1. This is the fourth men's wear concern that has selected space in the Stern Building, which assures the permanency of the neighborhood for this class of trade, those having previously selected space being Levy & Marcus, Berliner, Strauss & Meyer, men's neckwear, and Elias Bros., men's shirts.

East Side Holdings Increased.

The J. C. G. Hupfel Brewing Company has purchased from John H. Barning 214 East Thirty-eighth Street, a five-story tenement, and a four-story house in the rear, on a lot 25 by 108 feet, located 204 feet east of Third Avenue. The buyer owns 216 to 224, adjoining. Henry Hof negotiated the sale.

Bronx Sale.

An investor has purchased from Albert Erbert the five-story flat, occupying a lot 20.6 by 100 by irregular, on the north side of 179th Street, 67 feet east of Belmont Avenue.

Long Island.

J. B. Wohlfarth has sold to an investor for Emma Steele four lots, 100 by 100 feet, at the corner of Cypress Avenue and Twenty-fourth Street, Flushing.

20 REASONS WHY M'CALL SHOULD GO

FAVORS TO CORPORATIONS

Is Also Held Responsible for the $10,000,000 Clause in the Dual Subway Contracts.

NOW IN GOVERNOR'S HANDS

A Copy Will Be Sent to Commissioner McCall at Once—Polk Before Committee Tomorrow.

The Thompson Legislative Committee sent to Governor Whitman yesterday the bill of particulars asked for by Chairman Edward E. McCall of the Public Service Commission as an addition to the charges that had already been filed against him, requesting his removal from office. Chairman McCall had complained that the original charges alleging misconduct and neglect of duty were so indefinite as to be unfair.

The committee's amplified charges demand the removal of Mr. McCall on twenty counts. They cover all the points brought out at the investigation regarding his ownership of stock in the Kings County Electric Light and Power Company, and they state that, upon several occasions, Mr. McCall used his power as Chairman in behalf of corporations with which the city was dealing. They begin by stating that Mr. McCall accepted his position in violation of law and they refer to his testimony that he transferred the lighting company stock to his wife as "a clumsy effort to evade the statute."

The committee received yesterday a telegram from Frank L. Polk, Counselor for the State Department at Washington, asking permission to appear on Wednesday and explain his relations with the Edison-Amsterdam case when he was Corporation Counsel. Ex-Public Service Commissioner Milo R. Maltbie has testified that he consented to the Edison Company purchasing the outstanding 122 shares of the Amsterdam Electric Light, Heat and Power stock because of the advice of Corporation Counsel Polk that such action would not mean a merger of the two companies. In his telegram Mr. Polk said he did not advise Mr. Maltbie or any one else to "permit this merger," and that he did not withdraw the formal objections of the city to it. Senator Thompson, the Chairman, told Mr. Polk to appear tomorrow.

Transfer "Mere Subterfuge."

The specified charges against Chairman McCall, which the committee said it expected to prove at the hearing before Governor Whitman on Nov. 30, are as follows:

First—That Chairman McCall's acceptance of his appointment was in violation of law.

Second—That he was at the time the owner of stock in a corporation subject to the supervision of the commission.

Third—That thereafter he attempted to transfer such stock to his wife.

Fourth—That such attempt was a mere subterfuge and a clumsy effort to evade the statute.

Fifth—That he has participated in the consideration of matters pending before the commission affecting the value of such stock, whether owned by him or by his wife.

Sixth—In various matters pending before the commission from time to time in which one or another of these companies was a party, Chairman McCall has improperly participated in the consideration and determination of questions affecting the value of the stock of the Kings County Electric Light and Power Company and has employed his influence for that purpose.

Seventh—That he has neglected and failed to attend scheduled meetings and hearings on important matters pending before the commission.

Accepted Legal Retainers.

Eighth—That he has accepted in at least one instance a retainer from and rendered legal services to a corporation seeking to evade in the courts the payment of taxes claimed by the State to be owing by such corporation to the State. The chief owner of the stock of such corporation is also commonly reputed to be a controlling factor in the management of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, one of the corporations subject to the supervision of the commission of which he is Chairman.

Ninth—That in another case he has accepted a retainer in an action now pending in the Supreme Court, in which action the engineers in the employ of the Public Service Commission will be necessary as material witnesses.

Tenth—That he has favored the public service corporations and that his official actions have been consistently prejudicial to the interests of the people of the city and State.

Eleventh—That he has appropriated to his own use an automobile belonging to the City of New York; that he has removed the Public Service Commission plate therefrom; has neglected and refused to make and return a record of the uses to which it has been put, and has monopolized the services of a chauffeur whose salary has been paid by the city, and that the expense of the operation of such automobile for the convenience of himself and his family has been charged to, and paid by, the City of New York, all in violation of the rules of the Public Service Commission.

Interfered with Hearings.

Twelfth—That he has used his power as Chairman to interfere with hearings pending before other Commissioners in order to prevent the conclusion of such hearings, and in the case of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Brooklyn he permitted an adjournment of a hearing pending before Commissioner Maltbie to a date subsequent to the expiration of Commissioner Maltbie's term of office.

Thirteenth—Thereafter, and in the same rate case, before Commissioner Hayward, he exercised his power to permit the introduction by the said Edison Electric Illuminating Company of improper evidence which Commissioner Hayward, the hearing Commissioner, was unwilling to admit.

Fourteenth—That in the matter of the Third Avenue Railway Company and the Forty-second Street, Manhattanville & St. Nicholas Avenue Railway Company, Chairman McCall has not only neglected to enforce the commission's orders, but has used his influence to prevent the commencement of legal proceedings for the enforcement of such orders, and for the collection of the penalties which the law imposes for the violation of such orders, in violation of the mandatory provisions of the law.

Fifteenth—That as to a competing company, the Manhattan and Queens Traction Company, he issued an order the effect of which, in the event of a failure to comply therewith within the time specified—forty-eight hours—would have operated to cancel and annul the franchise of such competing company, thereby destroying competition beneficial to the city and its inhabitants.

Caused Losses to City.

Sixteenth—In the matter of the certificate issued to the Manhattan Railway Company, dated March 19, 1913, he failed and neglected to reserve to the Public Service Commission and surrendered the power to supervise the award of the contracts for the construction of the additional tracks of the Second, Third, and Ninth Avenue elevated lines, and that as a result of such failure the lessee of the Manhattan Railway Company has entered into extravagant and improvident contracts under which its stockholders and the people of the City of New York have suffered and will suffer large losses.

Seventeenth—That in the matter of the approval of the contract for the construction of the connecting lines, under a certificate issued to the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, he authorized and approved a contract for such construction at an extravagant and exorbitant price and without competition, to the disadvantage of the City of New York and its inhabitants.

Eighteenth—That in the execution of the dual contracts and certificates he permitted the inclusion of a provision under which the New York Municipal Railway Corporation will be permitted unwarrantedly to deduct from the earnings of that company before the division of the net earnings between the company and the city can be accomplished a sum aggregating more than $10,000,000.

Lack of Sympathy With Law.

Nineteenth—That in the negotiation and execution of the so-called dual contracts and certificates he surrendered and failed to exercise his powers and duties as a Public Service Commissioner of the State of New York.

Twentieth—That by his administration of the office which he holds, by his failure properly to supervise the expenditures of the Public Service Commission, by the extravagance of expenditures which he has permitted, and by his failures and neglects as aforesaid, he has demonstrated his entire lack of sympathy with the purposes of the Public Service Commissions law.

After the completed charges had been read into the record, Chairman Thompson criticised Chairman McCall for his alleged abuse of discretionary power in using the automobile of the Public Service Commission placed at his disposal.

Public Service Commissioner William Hayward was the only witness yesterday. He was permitted to read into the record the report of the stormy meeting of the Public Service Commission last Friday, when, during a discussion of the Third Avenue Railroad Company matter, Chairman McCall said that, if he were on the bench and the matter came before him in similar form he would take the commission by "the scruff of the neck and throw it into the street."

Bias Toward Corporation.

Commissioner Hayward resented a report of Clifford W. Wilder, electrical engineer, on the Third Avenue matter, which was not at all favorable to the traction corporation. Chairman McCall voted against this report, although it was shown that on a previous report favoring the company, McCall voted in the affirmative. This led Chairman Thompson to remark:

"Apparently Chairman McCall liked a report of the electrical engineer when it favored the company, but not when it didn't."

Ashley T. Cole of counsel to the Kings County Lighting Company appeared before the committee and said that William M. Flook of that company, who made a contract with the Standard Oil Company for the purchase of oil at a figure which the committee considered exhorbitant, had gone to Japan and would not return before February. He said that Giles W. Mead, one of the signers of the contract, was in Chicago, but would be ready to appear before the committee this week. The committee will meet again today.

Governor Gets New Charges.

ALBANY, Nov. 22.—The specific changes against Edward E. McCall, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, First District, filed by the Thompson Legislative Investigating Committee, were received by Governor Whitman tonight. The Executive declined to discuss the allegations, but said that a copy would be sent Commissioner McCall immediately.

WOMEN AS SHIP'S STEWARDS

Expectation of St. Paul's Chief Steward—He Hates the Prospect.

William Reen, chief steward of the American liner St. Paul, which arrived yesterday from Europe, said he expected that twenty-five or thirty of his young unmarried stewards would be drafted for the army when the ship returned to Liverpool and that their places would be filled by women, as he believed conscription was about to be decided on.

"Before this voyage all the stewards who are British subjects," said Mr. Reen, "went to the office and registered, and they will be classified like all other able-bodied men sailing out of Liverpool. The young unmarried men will go first and the married ones will not be taken, I understand, except as a last reserve.

"Women can serve as waitresses in the dining saloons in the first and second cabins, but they cannot do the heavy work, such as moving baggage and holystoning decks. The Government may possibly take 25 per cent. of the stewards, but I hope they do not do it, because there will be heaps of trouble if we have a crowd of women on board. I shall have to get some strong, stern woman who has been housekeeper at a Yorkshire boarding school to waltz them around, because I could not argue with twenty-five or thirty young women outside my cabin every morning."

Mr. Reen said the women would no doubt do all right as waitresses when they got their sea legs, and would look neat in blue serge coat and skirt uniforms, just as they had done very well in the hotels and restaurants in Liverpool in place of the men. He said that it was possible, if the stewards were drafted, he might get some of the Swedish and Norwegian waitresses from the Scandinavian passenger steamers which had been laid up through the war.

One hundred and eleven young men of military age, mostly from Ireland, the officers said, had tried to book in the second cabin and steerage of the St. Paul, but they were not permitted to sail.

RIOTING AT LONDON, ONT.

Special to The New York Times.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 22.—Bad blood between members of the Thirty-third Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Forces, and the local police culminated tonight in rioting. For more than four hours squads of police fought hundreds of soldiers armed with bricks and cobblestones. The police fired many shots from their revolvers, but depended mainly on their clubs. So far as can be learned no one was shot, but scores of soldiers and police were taken to Victoria Hospital suffering with cracked skulls; five policemen were knocked unconscious.

The Thirty-third men are due to leave for the front shortly. The trouble started when a traffic officer, stationed in the heart of the city, was knocked on his face by a party of soldiers. Sergeant McDonald, who came to his subordinate's rescue, was struck on the back of the head with a brick and laid out.

The soldiers began to tear up the pavement for ammunition. Pickets to the number of 120 were dispatched from the camp, but being unarmed were unable to quell the rioting. Citizens of London wired Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, acquainting him with the fact that rioting among soldiers had gotten beyond the control of their staff officers.

PROF. VOLPI RELEASED.

Art Dealer and Woman Secretary Allowed to Land from Ellis Island.

Professor Elia Volpi, the Florentine art dealer and his secretary, Mrs. Lisetta Morosino, were released from Ellis Island yesterday afternoon by an order from the Acting Commissioner General of Immigration at Washington. They arrived here last Wednesday from Italy on the Italian liner Duca degli Abruzzi and were sent to Ellis Island by the immigration authorities and ordered deported last Friday by a special Board of Inquiry.

During their stay on the island Immigration Commissioner Frederic C. Howe has been inundated with letters from prominent Americans who knew Professor Volpi in Florence for years and vouched for his character. It is understood that his appeal to the Secretary of Labor, sent to Washington on Friday, was backed by the Italian Ambassador.

The professor said yesterday that he was astounded to find that he had to go to Ellis Island and that his secretary was only 24 years old. The messages cabled to the immigration authorities, he believed, were sent by an employe that he had discharged from his service before leaving Italy.

"I knew the late Mr. Morgan very well," Professor Volpi asserted, "and at the time of his death I had gathered about $5,000,000 worth of art objects for him to select from in Florence. These were left on my hands when the deal fell through. I was art poor and as there was no money to be got in Italy I decided to come to New York and brought with me two Titian paintings valued at $500,000 and other works of art."

McAdoo Chauffeur Fined.

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 22.—Eddie Hayden, chauffeur for Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, today paid a fine of $25 to Justice Gosnell at Savage, Md., for speeding. Mrs. McAdoo, daughter of President Wilson, was in the car when the alleged offense was committed, last week.

SHOW TRAIN IN A WRECK.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 22.—Six persons are known to have been killed, twelve others are missing, and more than thirty injured, as a result of a head-on collision six miles west of here late tonight, between Central of Georgia Passenger Train 2 and a special train of twenty-eight cars, carrying the Con. T. Kennedy Carnival Company.

The bodies of some of the missing are thought to be under overturned cars of the show train. Twelve of the carnival company's cars were destroyed by fire. Two cars containing trained animals were destroyed, killing many of the animals.

The collision occurred on a straight stretch of track, the passenger train being en route from Birmingham to Macon and the show special from Atlanta to Phoenix City, Ala. A misunderstanding of orders is said to have been the cause.

The known dead and injured were persons traveling with the carnival company. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Kempf of Kansas City, a showman known only as "Whitey," and three unidentified showmen whose bodies were badly burned.

The engines of both trains were demolished by the impact. The passenger train carried three steel coaches, all of which escaped serious damage. The cars of the carnival train, however, piled upon the engines and immediately caught fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Kempf and their young daughter, Hazel, were in one of the cars near the front of the train. When the car caught fire the woman tossed her daughter out of a window, the child escaping with cuts and bruises.

COOPER UNION WARNS.

Trustees Say Meetings Are Becoming Increasingly Disorderly.

Owing to recent disorders at mass meetings in the main auditorium of Cooper Union, R. Fulton Cutting, President of Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art, issued the following notice yesterday:

"The meetings in the main hall of Cooper Union have of late become increasingly disorderly. The audience has interpreted free speech to mean the right to prevent the appointed speaker from exercising his function. While the Trustees will continue to grant the privilege of the orderly presentation from its platform of any views neither anarchistic nor immoral, they must not permit the liberty they extend to degenerate into license.

"They, therefore, will hold the organization that uses its hall responsible for the maintenance of order at the meeting, and in the event of its inability to prevent disorder it will be denied hereafter the privilege of meeting in the auditorium."

Predict Scarcity of Woolens.

One of the most prominent woolen jobbing houses in this country, engaged extensively in the importing business as well, predicts in its circular of instruction to salesman that the greatest scarcity of goods in the history of the industry will be a certainty before many months have passed. Another house that operates mills in this country as well as in England stated recently through its representative that "there will be the biggest scarcity of goods here since Columbus discovered America." Both these concerns have exceptional opportunities of judging the situation in a broad aspect... that ex... abroad an...
